THE MAGAZINE OF THE MARIST BROTHERS COLLEGE, INANDA, JOHANNESBURG

QUEEN OF COMFORT, yet when I me bethink
That I have wronged bothe, him and thee,
And that my soul is worthy for to sink,
Alas, I, caitiff, whither may I flee?
Who shall un-to thy son my mene be?
Who, but thy-self, that art of pity well:
Thou hast more ruth on our adversity
Than in this world might any tongue tell.

EDITORIAL

ANY SCHOOL MAGAZINE has a certain amount of appeal for the majority of its readers. This is because that majority consists of pupils, parents and staff, and because members of these groups see, ablaze in print on the magazine's pages, their own names and exploits or, in the case of the parents, the names and exploits of their offspring.

Since each name can only appear on a limited number of pages, and since each edition can only honour a limited number of photographs, no one appears to read a school magazine from cover to cover with the exception, perhaps, of the editor. This, we cannot hope to change, but we have made the attempt.

The College still presents to the visitor an air of tranquility and peace, except, perhaps, for undercurrents of excitement among boys who are nearing the school-leaving age and who eagerly await the day when they may discard their uniforms. This state of normality, of feeling undisturbed by the numerous extra-curricular activities, of determination to carry on, is vitally necessary in our educational institutions, upon whom falls the responsibility of educating the young generation.

The many successes of the college, both in studies and on the field of sport, have been sufficiently reported elsewhere in this publication, and need no further comment. We trust this magazine has served its purpose, by word and illustration, of being a complete record of St David's achievements, everyday life and ideals.

The editor wishes to express his gratitude to those parents and boys who, by their literary and photographic contributions, have made possible the 1970 edition of "THE ST DAVID'S COLLEGE REVIEW".

PETE ANDREAS NCWANE

On 23rd March this year, Reverend Brother Jordan, Provincial of the Marist Brothers in South Africa, presented Mr. Ncwane with a Diploma of Affiliation to the Institute of the Marist Brothers. "Pete" had then been associated with the Brothers in Johannesburg for over fifty years: during this time his faith, his devotion to duty and his joviality had inspired and impressed fellow servants, the boys and the Brothers.

Pete recalls with great relish many an incident of long ago. His boyhood memories include the Anglo-Boer War, and his sharpening of assegais during the Zulu insurrection of 1906. Soon afterwards he was working for a Mr. Anderson, a lawyer of 241 West Street, Pietermaritzburg. In 1911 he took employment in the Royal Hotel, Durban, and later (1917), he served at a boarding house in Van der Merwe Street, Hillbrow.

His association with the Marist Brothers began in February, 1920 when he was employed as a waiter in Johannesburg's first boys' school in Koch Street. When the Brothers opened a new school in Observatory in 1926, Pete went with them for some four or five years, returning afterwards for a second spell at Koch Street.

In 1942, the boarders from the city centre were transferred to St. David's bringing their cook with them. Pete has been filling empty tummies since then, and the boarders are still hungry! In October 1969, a concelebrated Mass was held in the Cathedral of Christ the King at which the three Johannesburg schools gave thanks for 80 years' work by the Brothers in the city. During the celebration, Pete was privileged to receive Holy Communion from the hands of his Lordship, Bishop Hugh Boyle.

An exemplary Catholic, he can be seen daily praying the rosary, or reciting the Angelus at the traditional hours, morning, noon and evening. He receives the sacraments of penance and the eucharist weekly and even oftener. In the photograph accompanying this article he can be seen wearing the medal of the Society of the Sacred Heart. The Diploma rests on the adjacent table, the text reading as follows:

INSTITUTE OF THE MARIST BROTHERS OF THE SCHOOLS

Wishing to express grateful appreciation of his many years of devoted service to the Marist Brothers in South Africa, the General Council, in its session at Rome on 5th December 1969, decided to admit as an affiliated Member of the Congregation of the Marist Brothers.

Mr. Pete Andreas Ncwane

To testify to this effect, we have bestowed this Diploma of affiliation, which confers the privilege of participating during life, and even after death, in the prayers, merits and sufferings of the Marist Brothers, as well as in all the good works performed in our Congregation consecrated to the Christian Education of Youth.

Given at Rome, the fifth day of December, 1969.

REV. BROTHER ANTHONY

REV. BROTHER AQUINAS BRADY

At the beginning of this year the Brothers at Inanda welcomed Brother Aquinas as the new Director of the Community.

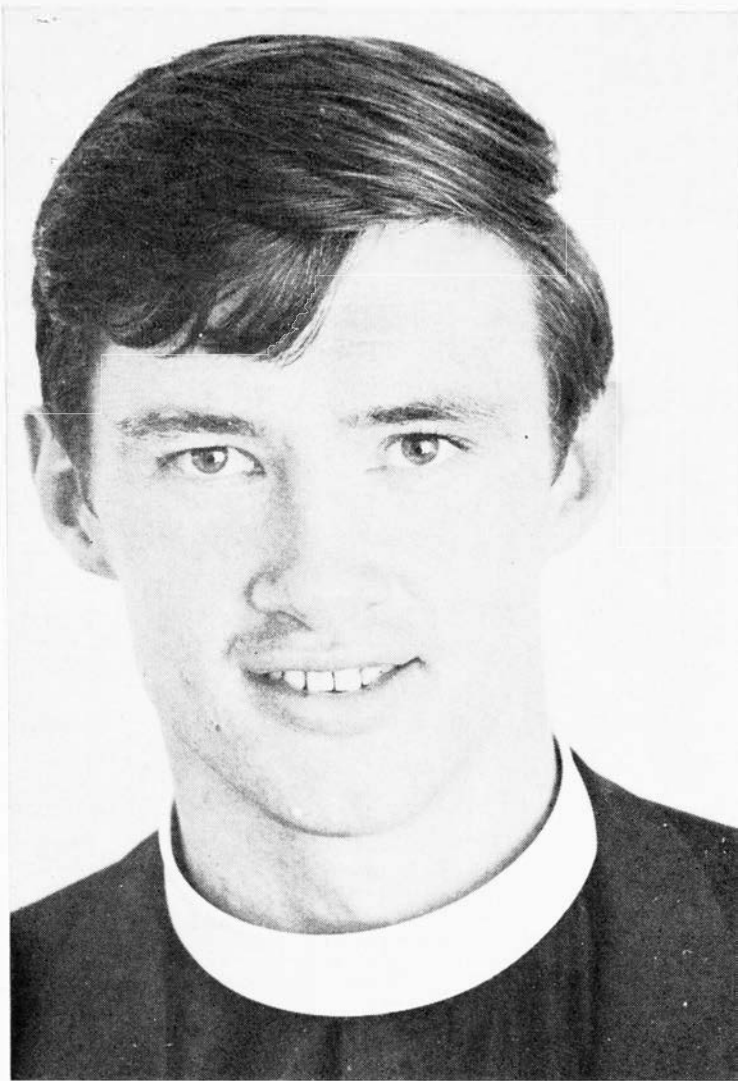

After twenty-nine years at St. Aloysius Preparatory School in Cape Town, seven as Director, and eleven as Headmaster; and six years as Director and Headmaster of Koch Street; and three years as Director of Observatory, one would expect that Brother Aquinas had worked well enough, and hard enough to have earned blissful retirement. Far from it. Only sixty-nine years young, Brother Aquinas has such a zest for life, that Brother Provincial felt that he was fit and well enough to undertake another important responsible post. Brother Aquinas . . . Ad Multos Annos.

FATHER ANTHONY BAILEY, O.M.I.

Our school chaplain was born thirty years ago, and bred in the "deep south" of Johannesburg. After completing his schooling at Forest High, he went to the novitiate of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. His studies for the priesthood were done at St. Joseph's Oblate Scholasticate, Cedara, Natal.

After his ordination by Bishop Hugh Boyle on 10th July, 1966, Father Bailey spent a short time working in the Edenvale parish before being appointed to Rosebank. During the four years that have passed since then, he has always shown considerable interest in the activities of the boys at this school. A particular word of thanks is due to him for accommodating times of Masses to suit classes and the spiritual needs of the boarders. Father Bailey is well known among the young people of the district due to the influence of the Rosebank Youth Club which he started some years ago. The Coffee Bar situated inside the Church grounds has proved to be very popular.

REV. FR. EDWARD GOODYEAR

A face that has become familiar at St David's during the past year is that of Father Edward Goodyear. He instructs the Anglican boys at the school weekly on Thursdays, and in addition, takes considerable interest in college activities. During the rugby season his assistance as a coach and referee was much appreciated.

THE 1970 COUNCIL commenced duty on the first day of the Fourth Term in 1969.

Councillors:

President: D. Mazaham Vice President: L. Saad

Secretary: C. Seed Treasurer: T. Marsay

Matric Council Members: K. Ralphy and C. Benson

Std. 9 Council Members: P. Hamilton and
M. Richardson

The new Council began on a 'high' note. It was arranged that Mr. Oosthuizen and Mr. Matthews, members of a private group intent on curing drug addicts, should address the Group. Their talks proved extremely interesting and beneficial, giving the boys a clear insight into the complex life and problems of drug addicts. Messrs. Matthews and Oosthuizen continued their series of talks throughout the Fourth Term of 1969. Excellent films, including 'Flipside' and 'Monkey on my Shoulder', were included in their programme.

So keen were the boys on the continuation of the drugs series that the course was extended into the second-last week of the First Term in 1970.

It was indeed pleasing for the President and Vice-President to learn, at the gathering for all the Presidents and their Vices at Victory Park, that the Inanda Group's activities far overshadowed those of any other Johannesburg Group. A credit indeed.

A very active Second Term followed. Our Christian Life Group combined with the Rosebank Youth Club in organising a programme of folk evenings at the Parish Hall. Distinguished personalities included the Rev. Archbishop Denis Hurley from Natal and the well-known broadcaster Mr. Paddy O'Byrne and Mr. Keith Blundell. Then there was Fr. Osborne of Boys Town. This proved to be a very well attended and extremely successful undertaking.

Also in the Second Term we arranged a 'political series' for the C.L.G. members and any interested senior boys. The speakers who addressed us were Mr. Blythe Thompson of the National Alliance Party; Mr. Braam Erasmus of the Progressive Party and Councillor Dave Dalling of the United Party.

The advent of the Third Term brought about a 'part-amalgamation' with the University of the Witwatersrand C.L.G. Group and the Victory Park Adult Group. Members from these two C.L.G.'s attended our meetings and did much to foster the spirit and interest amongst the members. Our discussion dealt mainly with Christian influence, world problems, etc. With a few weeks of the Third Term still remaining a 'career series' was arranged. Speakers were Advocate Ninow and Mr. Van Rensburg, Vice-Chairman of the Transvaal Institute of Chartered Accountants and Auditors.

We extend our sincere thanks to Rev. Father Bailey O.M.I., the Moderator of the Group, for all he has done for us during the year.

JUNIOR CHRISTIAN LIFE GROUP

Under the leadership of Terry van Heerden and Costa John, the group spent an active year. Early in the first term, Father Goller took the boys for a training day held at the home of the treasurer, A. Simaan. For this most fruitful experience, we would like to record our thanks to Brother Anthony who allowed us a day off from class, and to Mr. and Mrs. Simaan for their gracious hospitality. A cake sale and a raffle during the "marble season" were reasonably successful, netting about R25 in all. Father Wolf celebrated a Holy Mass to mark the end of the quarter's activities.

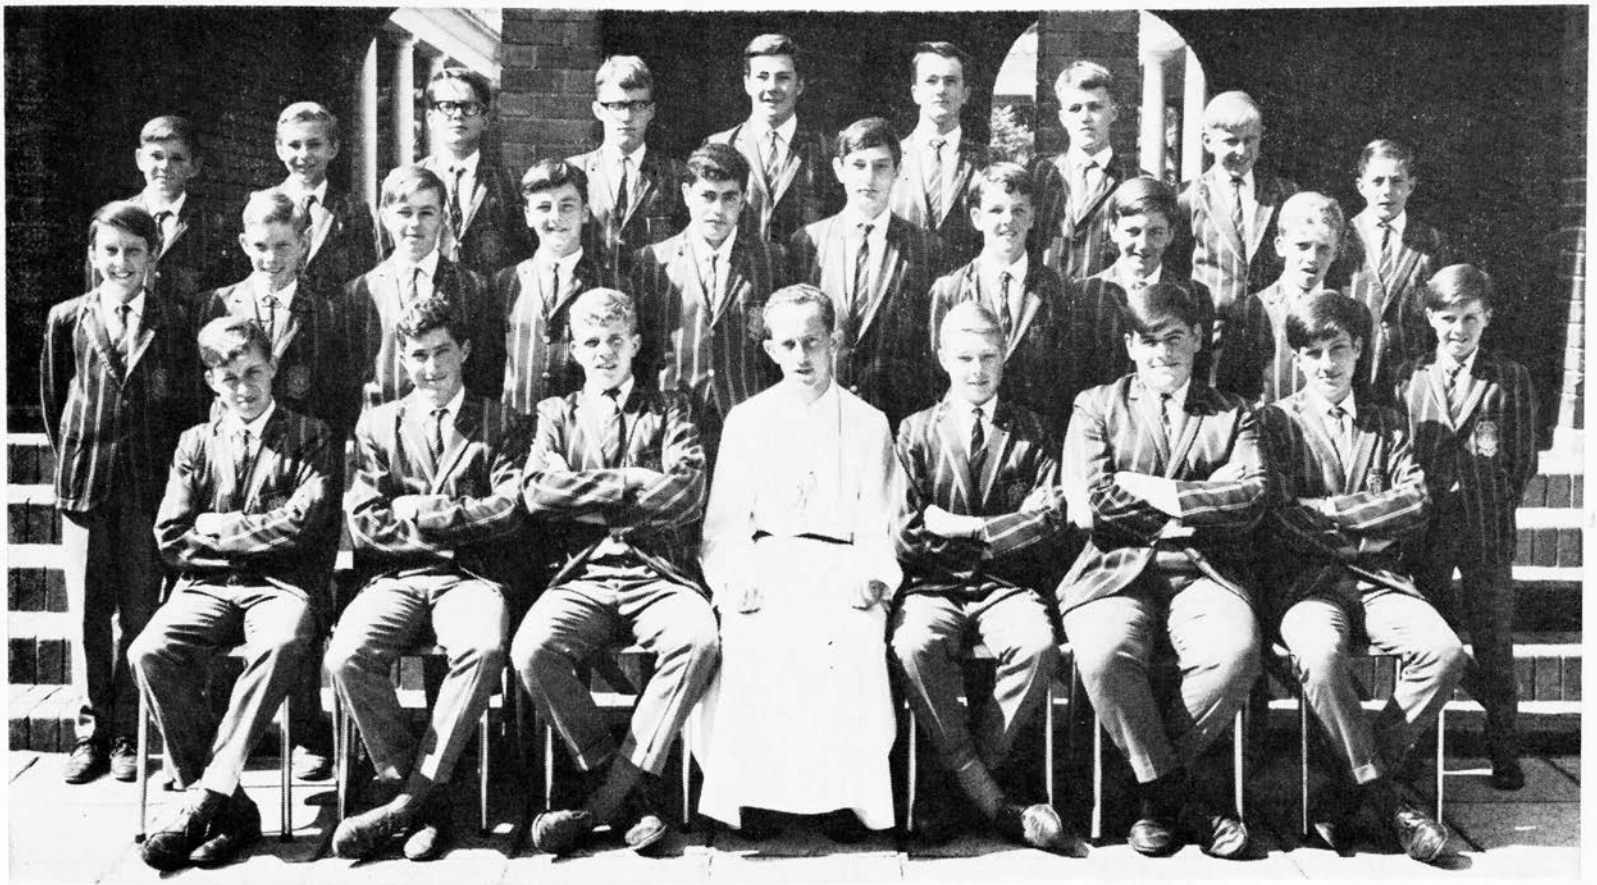

Interest during the second term centred round "Operation Soweto". All members made personal contributions in kind for St. Mathew's R.C. Mission School at Moroka. Just prior to Champagnat Day, the collection was opened to all the senior boys. Results were most gratifying. At the Holy Mass celebrated in Rosebank Church (June 6th) members took up symbolic portions of the gifts at the Offertory procession. In the afternoon the school bus was packed with gifts and boys from two groups — the St. Joseph's Guild (accompanied by Mrs. Knezovich) and the Junior C.L.G. — before setting out for St. Matthew's. The children, the African teachers and the sisters were delighted to have us. As for the singing of the little pupils, we had nothing but the highest praise. Father Colman kept us guessing about the error on the two commemorative stones in the porch of his great Church, but no one was sharp enough to earn the promised prize — no homework on Monday. A crucifix was donated to the school by the Junior C.L.G., and the St. Joseph's Guild presented the sisters with a cheque.

The arrival of books for the National Schools Water Year Competition in August meant that our group could work successfully to help the needy. The distribution and collection of books took a considerable amount of work. But the effort was not in vain, for over R300 was distributed amongst various charities — St. Theresa's Guild for the Blind, the national C.L.G. movement, the Hope Home for Cripples and the African Feeding Scheme. During the third term, we were challenged to a soccer match by our counterparts at Marist Observatory. The match was won resoundingly, 7-0 (by our visitors).

Meetings were held regularly at 5 p.m. on Thursdays. Apart from the work at hand, discussions were conducted and three films were viewed on different occasions. The time is awkward for many day boys: next year it is hoped that a more suitable arrangement can be made. Other committee members were: C. Stanley (treasurer), M. John, D. Seed, J. Jacob and M. Lamouse.

Our thanks to Father J. Goller and Noel Geber for encouragement and assistance throughout the year.

Br. Paul writes to the Junior C.L.G.

Dear Members of the Junior C.L.G.

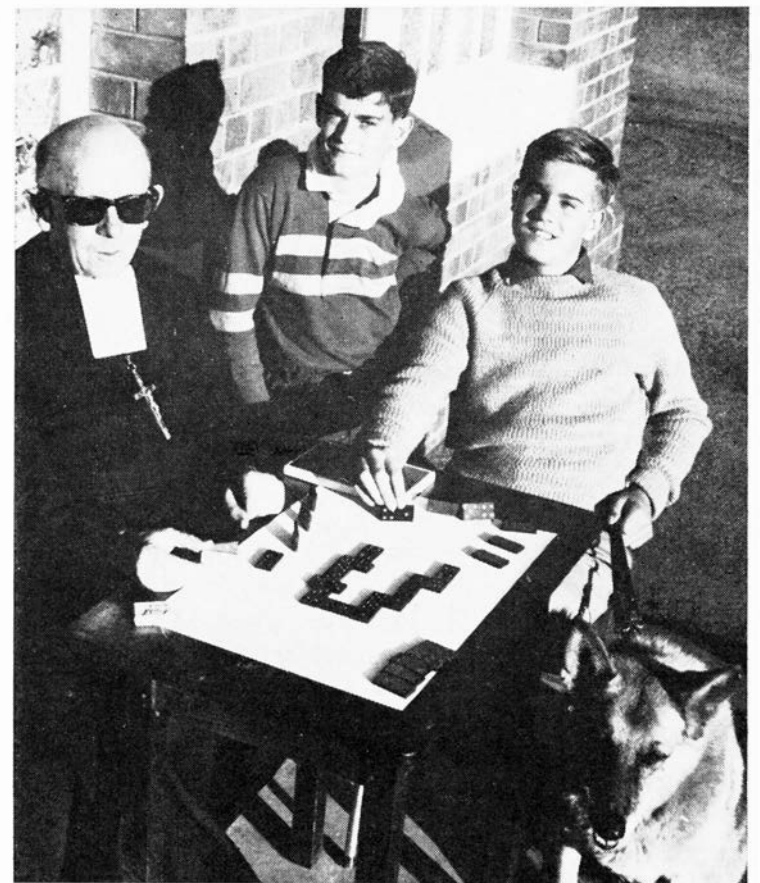

Thanks a million for your letter of 22nd inst. containing your most generous donation of R100 towards our funds. I have sent on the cheque for banking to our treasurer who will be happy to receive it for he was getting rather anxious about our dwindling current balance. Now, with the addition of your donation the financial position will be brighter. At our next meeting when I tell my executive about the continued help we are receiving from St. David's, the esteem they already have for you will increase the more. God bless you all.

I am sure you would like to know what we are going to do with the money, or what good it is going to accomplish. It is not ear-marked for any particular purpose, but ultimately it will find its way into one or other of our projects. For example it may help to supplement the meagre pension of our 25 old aged or unemployed Bantu, to whom we give a small allowance every month.

Or it may be used to send an old aged blind pensioner and his or her escort for a month's holiday at Hillcombe Holiday Resort for the blind in East London. Already we have sponsored five such cases.

Or it may help to pay the monthly wages of a blind catechist who is working in a poor mission in the north eastern Transvaal. The priest in charge says of him, "This man is most zealous and painstaking in his work. He truly has the Spirit of God." The Guild agreed at its last meeting to supplement the wages of this blind catechist. . .

We also have the project of helping the building fund for the interdenominational chapel for the blind Bantu workers at Ga-Rankuwa near Hamanskraal. Formerly at Ezenzileni the Bantu blind have their own chapel called the Chapel of the Transfiguration. It was used by all denominations for any service, and often for united services. Now Ezenzileni has closed and the blind Bantu are at Ga-Rankuwa. They lack a chapel, and a building fund to erect a new Chapel of the Transfiguration has been on the go for the last three years. The Guild has from year to year supported this project and will continue to do so.

We also sponsor a beano or party for the 133 blind Bantu children at Siloe near Pietersburg and the 10 blind children at Manzini, Swaziland on the Feast of Saint Theresa, October 3rd. A RED letter day for children who do not know colours. They know so little of the good things of life, so that when the little comes their way once a year, they are really happy. On that day they sing their heads off at High Mass specially celebrated for intentions of our members and benefactors. Now you are among our greatest benefactors.

We send our blind Bantu and Coloureds a weekly Catholic news letter called the Smiling Sunbeam. They read it from the first page till the last. They are now looking forward to our annual competition for cash prizes. We give a guessing competition so that all may take part. Last year the poorest girl at Siloe won first prize, R2. The first time in her life that she had touched money! We had 180 entries in all. This year the competition consists in guessing at what time exactly a watch which was set at twelve and fully wound will stop. Each competitor will be given twelve guesses. Mr. John Martin is going to wind the watch, set it and seal the box. All the answers come back in braille. Hour, minute and second for each answer. Mr. Martin is donating two braille watches to the entries correct or nearest. With watches as prizes besides cash, there ought to be many more entries than last year.

At our first Catholic braille festival in July this year at a special mass for the blind, the parishioners of Florida and Yeoville presented over 250 pound weight of wool. I stood in the sanctuary during the offertory receiving the wool. Theresa had promised a shower of roses, this was a veritable shower of wool! The wool went back to Florida to be knitted into pullovers, jerseys and blankets for the Bantu blind. On Compassion

Sunday in August our President went to Florida to receive the articles that had already been knitted. I was able then to send to Ga-Rankuwa over one hundred lovely pullovers, jerseys and blankets for distribution among the Bantu blind. And there are more articles to come. This is the first time that such a huge consignment of new articles has been donated. Usually it is cast-offs. Not meaning however that good cast-offs are not acceptable. Actually at the moment I am gathering second hand clothes for the Christmas party at Siloe. My room is already filling up with good stuff.

I have written at length to give you an idea of what we are doing in the Guild and to make you feel that this would not be possible without the help of our members and generous benefactors like you.

On one of these lovely clear sky evenings when you look up to see the satellites and the stars, look for Orion, the constellation of our crest and single out the T which Theresa as a child took to be her name written in heaven. And then feel happy and consoled that what you have done is also written in heaven. Our Lord said that even a glass of cold water given to a thirsty man would not go unrewarded. Our blind Bantu cannot see Orion or the other stars, but they do know that there are people like you who care for them, and they are thankful. Their prayers go up from Northern Transvaal, Transkei, Eastern Province, and Eastern Transvaal for our members and benefactors.

Finally I shall say Thank You in Sotho. KEA LEBOHA.

Ever yours gratefully,

Brother Paul Nolan, Chairman

The Marist Brothers in Nigeria

BEFORE THE WAR about seventy Brothers were teaching in primary and secondary schools, and at a teachers' training college, giving religious instruction and directing a printing house. About five of them were English, the remainder being Nigerians mostly from the Ibo tribe of the eastern part of the country. About five new recruits joined the communities annually.

The secession of Biafra with the subsequent blockades, and war brought the first difficulties. Virtually all supplies had to be flown in from the middle of 1967. As conditions became worse, the Brothers converted their schools into hospitals and orphanages. Their work was well known at the time, two of them being in charge of the offloading of food and medical supplies at the Uli airstrip, a task that kept them busy throughout the night for several months on end. As the different centres were captured, the federal troops often allowed the Brothers to continue their work for the destitute.

The war is over now, but there is no promised land for these people — only a terrible want and suffering. Particularly moving is the plight of those maimed by the fighting: their numbers run to thousands. The Brothers hope to do something for these people by starting a project called HOPEVILLE. Borrowing something of the kibbutz of Israel, this place will include a school for giving the maimed and amputees training in trades. On the basis of the training given to a group of 60 to 100 disabled men, a team will be formed that, bit by bit, will furnish all the needs of the town and provide goods for sale to other centres.

The ground for the farming sections has already been bought. By August this year, the Brothers had spent $120,000 on charitable works in Nigeria. But much more will be needed in order to give back hope to those who had forgotten what it is to hope. "Only the charity of Christ, which knows no bounds, can answer this problem", wrote Brother Quentin, Vicar General of the Marist Brothers in the world. In an urgent appeal, he pleaded that we do not wait to amass great sums but "to send what you can as quickly as you can".

Despite the awkward time — just at the beginning of the study term and immediately after the completion of the Water Year Competition which enabled us to help several local charities — Brother Quentin's appeal was made known to the classes. Many groups responded very generously indeed and several substantial cheques were forwarded for eventual assignment to the Brothers' work in Nigeria.

To those who have contributed to this cause or who will still do so, a sincere word of thanks on behalf of the Nigerian Brothers and their people.

Four St. David's Old Boys

by Terry Ray

LEFT TO RIGHT — Bros. G. Lindegger, M. Buckle, F. Santucci, T. Ray.

Many people come into contact with priests but perhaps they do not often meet young men studying for this way of life. There are several centres for this in the Republic, one of which is at Cedara (near Pietermaritzburg), where students for the congregation of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate study. Among the thirty-one students at this seminary, are four St. David's Old Boys. They are Francis Santucci (first year), Mike Buckle and Graham Lindegger (second year) and Terry Ray (fourth year).

In all there are seven years spent at Cedara, where one of the principal features is a community way of life. This means praying together and also relaxing, studying and playing sport (like soccer, rugby and tennis). The aim is to try and build up a true Oblate spirit so that as ordained ministers this may be a source of help in the task of proclaiming Christ's message.

As a result of Vatican II there has been considerable evolution in seminary training. Today there is much greater freedom than ever before, regulations are at a minimum and responsible freedom is the code. Thus there are many opportunities for keeping in touch with present day thought and attitudes. For instance, every year students attend congresses (like UCM and NCFS), seminars, winter schools and conferences. One very profitable result has been the valuable Ecumenical contact, especially with fellow students for the ministry.

During the holidays there are a great deal of activities as well. Besides a holiday at home, students work for a while. This ranges from parish or mission work in the hospitals or other institutions like homes for alcoholics. Another activity is the running of Vocation Workshops, aimed at helping young men in their Christian lives and also to discuss the priestly and religious life.

This apostolic work continues throughout the year. There are various Christian youth movements and catechism is taught to parishioners. An important venture has been the conducting of retreats to parish and school groups. This is done by teams of students. To help in this, considerable use is made of folk singing with guitar accompaniment.

The studies have been streamlined to be brought into line with universities. Most students do a B.A. degree. Theology subjects like Biblical Studies, Catechetics, Liturgy and many others are complemented by Social Sciences like Psychology, Philosophy and Social Work. Attention is also paid to Communications.

In this way it is hoped that future priests will be effectively trained so that their ministry among the People of God may be fruitful.

THE BROTHER EDWIN SCIENCE WING

The contract for this project, designed by Prof. John Fassler and awarded to Randcon (Pty.) Ltd., was signed on Saturday 14th November, 1970.

Construction work on site begins on the 5th January, 1971, and will last for ten or eleven months.

OPENING OF THE MCGREGOR OVAL

Sunday, 25th January, 1970

Weeks of preparation had produced a wicket and an outfield in first class condition for the opening match between the College First XI captained by John Williams and Don Wilson's Invitation XI. Visitors arrived to find the McGill-Love house surrounded by beautifully-kept flower gardens and lawns.

Several anxious hours, however, had passed during the morning when overcast skies ceased not to weep a gentle drizzle. Prospects were still bleak when Brother Anthony, headmaster, began to address those assembled: many huddled under umbrellas or took refuge in the crowded verandah of the pavilion.

In tracing the history of the oval, Brother Anthony recalled many an interesting anecdote, and expressed thanks for the generosity of the late Mrs. McGill-Love who lived up to her promise to give St. David's first option on the land when she put it on to the market. Tribute was also paid to the foresight of the school parents who in the early sixties ensured that the Marist Brothers could acquire the farm Syferfontein. A particular debt of gratitude was owed to Mr. W. ("Bill") McGregor whose splendid munificence had made possible the levelling of the new property and the creation of a superb oval perhaps unrivalled by any South African school. It was particularly pleasing to have him present at the function together with Mrs. McGregor and their two children, Lee and Sherrie-Lou.

A wish was heard that the Bishop's blessing would dispel the rain clouds. In fact hardly had his lordship, Bishop Hugh Boyle pronounced the words of benediction and unveiled the commemorative plaque than the sun reappeared from between the clouds. Bill McGregor had the distinction of bowling the first ball — promptly no-balled by the umpire and caught behind the wicket.

The afternoon turned out to be ideal for the occasion, the match being played in pleasant balmy conditions. Among the special guests present were Reverend Brother Jordan, Provincial, and Mr. Alec Tweeddale, the first Mayor of Sandton, accompanied by Mrs. Tweeddale. Proceedings concluded with a buffet supper given in the reception room elegantly designed by Sir Herbert Baker.

Science Club

We have enjoyed a particularly busy and interesting year. Office bearers were: President, K. Sprenger; Secretary, K. Ryan; Treasurer, P. Elliott; Film organiser, R. Guassardo; Standard nine representative, P. Hamilton.

Shortly following an early film meeting, the first organised visit — Killarney Film Studios — took place. At intervals throughout the year excursions were arranged . . . to the Museum of Man and Science, the S.A. Breweries, the O.K. Bazaars Control Laboratories, the Automatic Exchange and Microwave System of the Department of Posts and Telecommunications, and the Diamond Cutting Factory.

Film shows relied heavily on the fine services provided by the United States Information Service, the British Consulate, Shell and BP. An active hard core membership of about two dozen was maintained throughout the year.

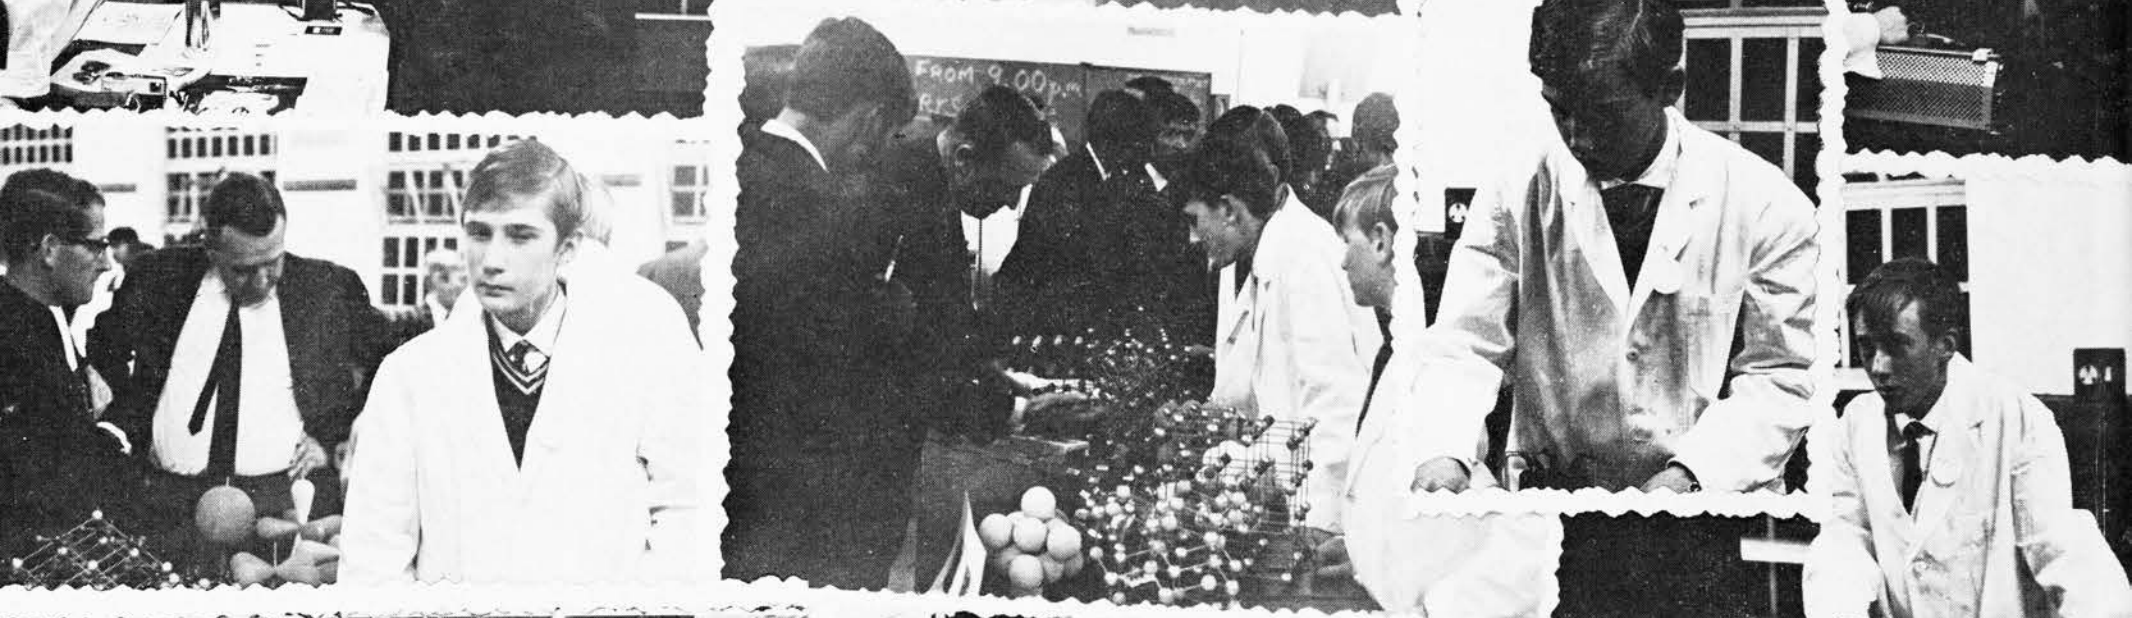

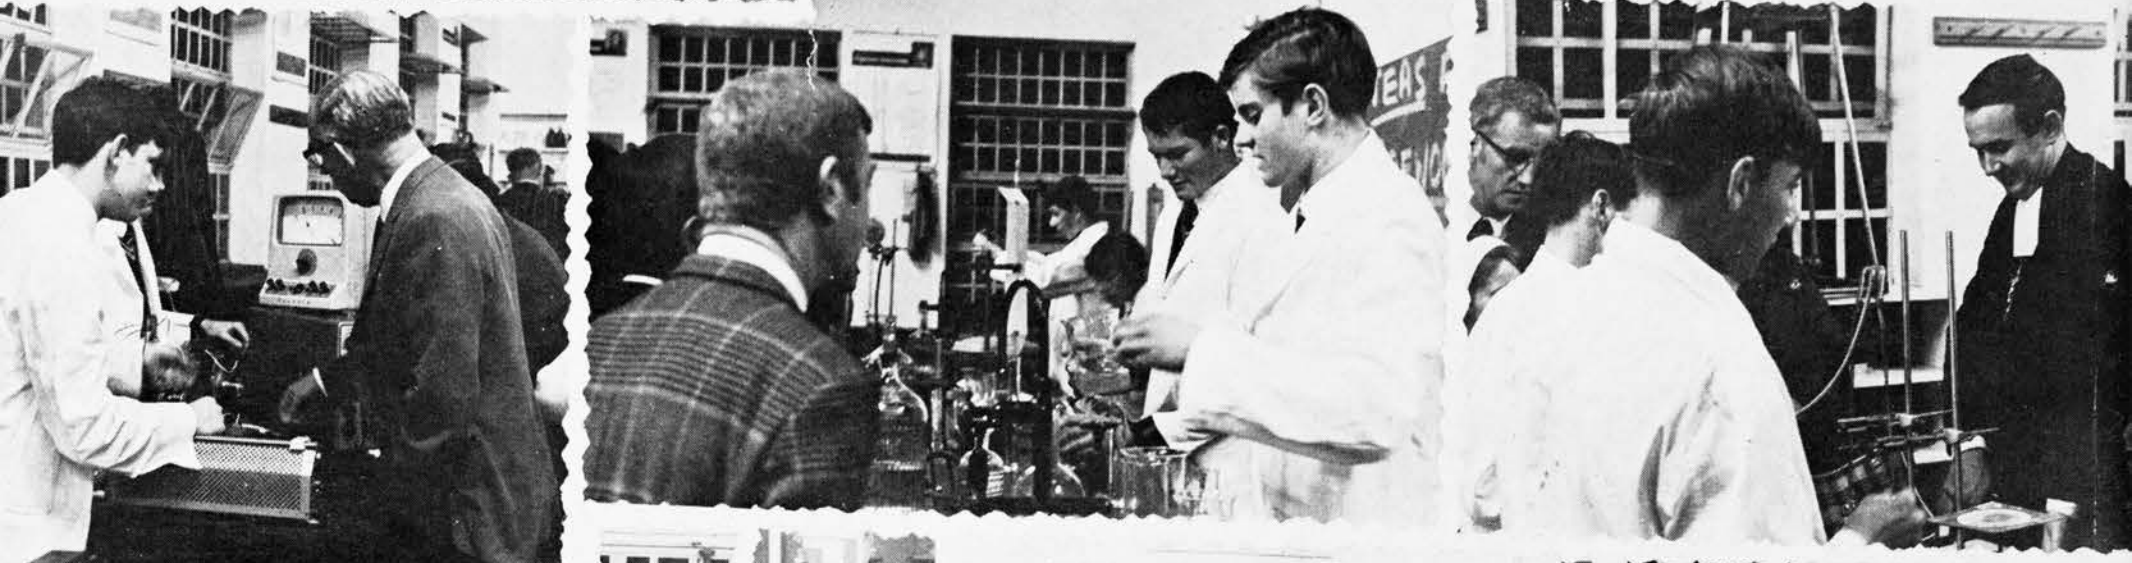

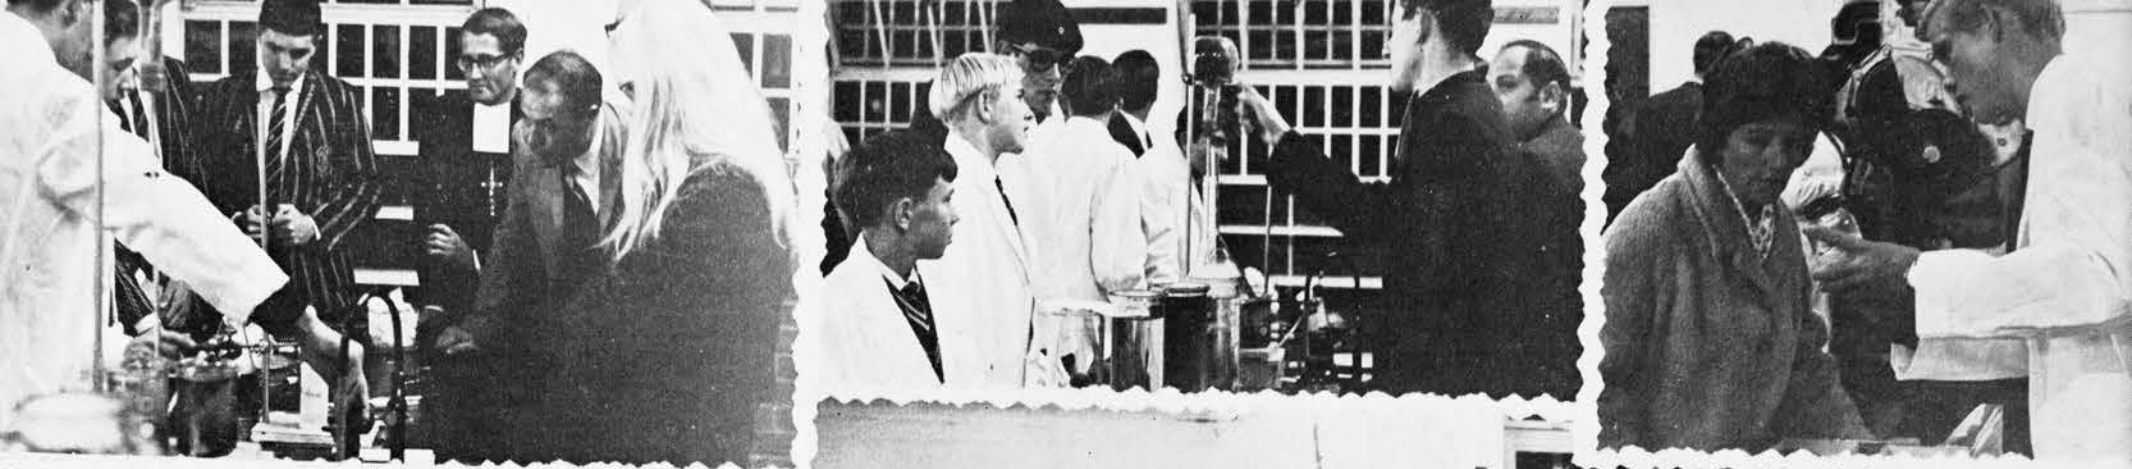

Highlight of the club's activities was the science exhibition held on the 12th August. This very successful function was well attended by parents and pupils, as well as teachers and pupils from other schools. Our thanks are recorded to those who helped, particularly Miss B. Culligan who encouraged the younger members to put on fine displays. This event is important for a number of reasons, one of them being that it gives parents and boys the opportunity of seeing any new scientific equipment being put to use. Our school can be proud of its equipment: when the Brother Edwin Science Wing becomes a reality, the overall effect should be outstanding.

I would like to thank my fellow committee members for their active support at all times, and give a particular word of gratitude to Brother Bosco for his continued interest in the club and its activities. On behalf of the outgoing committee I wish the new one every success for 1971.

WITWATERSRAND HIGH SCHOOL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

This association is run and controlled by High School Pupils only. At least fifteen schools on the Witwatersrand are represented by boys and girls varying in age from fourteen to seventeen. The association is run by a committee of five senior members. The 1970 committee was:

Charles Griss (President — Northview High School)
 Kenneth Sprenger (Treasurer — St. David's College)
 Anne Toner (Secretary — Parktown Convent)
 Susan Parker (Rosebank Convent)
 Neil Webb (Northview High School)

The aim of the association is to give High School Pupils an insight into different occupations and their functions. This is exceptionally useful as a guide to "What to do after School". The association meets once a month. At these meetings, leading men in their fields discuss their work and opportunities open to young people. As well as learning about various occupations, members absorb a great deal of scientific knowledge, as most of the occupations discussed, involve science.

The A.G.M. this year was held from the 29th June to the 2nd July. It took the form of a congress. Every morning lectures were given and films were shown — during the afternoons members visited such places as Killarney Film Studios, Agfa Colour Laboratories, Hartebeeshoek Tracking Station, S.A.P.P.I., Pilkington Glass Works, and many others. The congress closed on Friday night with a Social. The "Timepiece" supplied the music, and the University provided the Hall.

The association was complimented on its work by Doctor Bozzolli, vice-chancellor and principal of Wits.

university, when he opened the Congress officially. He said that it was good to see young people taking such an active interest in Science. Dr. Bozzolli said that if at any time the association needed help or guidance, it could ask him personally for help.

Kenneth Sprenger

The Office bearers for 1971 were elected at the Congress:

President: Christine Stevenson
Treasurer: Ian Kitae
Secretary: Vivienne Campbell

Business Game

IN 1970 ST. DAVIDS' again participated in the Annual 'Inter-High School Business Simulation Exercise', which was started in 1969 by the National Council of Chartered Accountants (S.A.) in co-operation with International Computers Limited. This time, however, 36 schools in the Republic participated compared to 27 in 1969 and this time we had greater success.

The Game is intended to give Senior boys an insight into the way in which a Board of Directors of a manufacturing and marketing company functions, aided by the use of a computer; in that it is a computer based management exercise. The game is played by three teams at a time; each entering its policies on to a decision form. These forms are then fed into the computer which simulates three months of business based on these decisions. A report is issued to each team giving the overall state of a market as a result of the interaction of their policies and also a statement detailing the position of their teams. After 4 such 'Periods' an annual report is issued publicly for each of the teams and another year's business is simulated. The winning school is the one which makes the most profit while remaining financially sound.

After a Briefing Session held on 22nd January at K.E.S. the 1970 exercise was ready to begin.

Board of Directors:

Managing Director: K. Sprenger
Company Secretary: L. Saad
Asst. Secretary: R. Milne
Financial Directors: F. Gibbons
 P. Elliott

Production Managers: P. Scott
 A. Chemaly
Marketing Manager: R. Collier
Sales Manager: M. Harris
Marketing and Sales
Asst. Manager: T. Vonk.

The master in charge is Mr. Blyth.

Our report of the previous period arrived on either a Monday or a Tuesday. We would then have two meetings — one on Tuesday might decide on our line of action and to do the necessary calculations. The second Meeting would be held on the Thursday to finalise matters and to fill in the decisions forms (which had to be in by the Monday at 5 p.m.)

The semi-finals of the Business Game was held in Pretoria on the 23rd of May, 1970. St. David's was the only school from Johannesburg 'the Business Capital of South Africa' left in the game. Our opponents were both from Pretoria — Clapham High and Seuns Hoër.

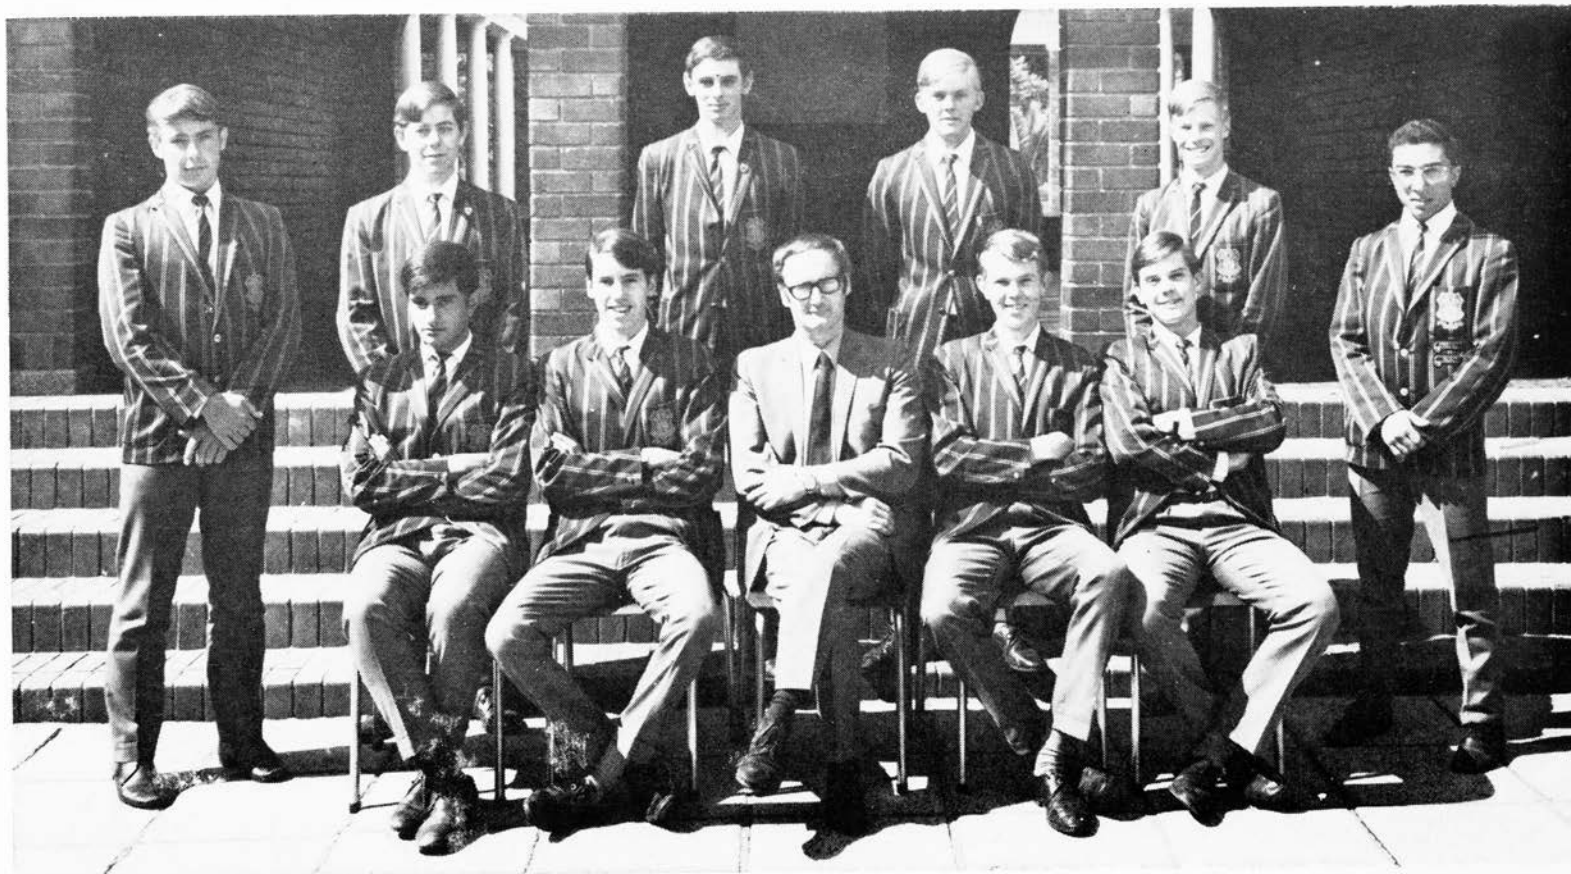

After having our photographs taken, we were given a short briefing and then we were on our own.

Each Company or School had its own Boardroom, where it had to make its decisions without any assistance whatsoever from a master or anyone else. The computer was in the same building and thus no time was lost in obtaining results. The first period was an hour long. After a break of half an hour we were given our results and the second commenced. After the third period, which was also $\frac{1}{2}$ hour long we had a lunch break. Whilst we were then given the opportunity of speaking to the boys from the other schools everyone was very careful not to give away any vital information.

"Chairmen" of the "board of directors" of the schools competing in the Transvaal semi-finals of the schools' business game, together with the organisers, examine a printout from the Series 1900 computer at Pretoria City Council on Saturday. McEvilly, chairman of the public relations committee of The National Council of Chartered Accountants (S.A.); and Mr. B. Eisenberg of International Computers South Africa, the administrator of the game.

After lunch we started the fourth and final period, which lasted over an hour. Then everyone assembled and waited for the results.

St. David's won by R250,000, our profit having been R2,500,000. We were through to the South African Finals as representatives of the Transvaal and portion of the O.F.S. Section. This was held in the Schlesinger Centre in Johannesburg on the 20th June. The Contestants were: Cape Town High
Michaelhouse
St. David's, Inanda

Whilst the above Schools represented the Cape, Natal and Transvaal respectively, they were each representative of a portion of the Free State which never had an entry.

In the third period we incurred a penalty of R70,000, for over-marketing and under-producing. Normally this amount would be considered trivial in a game dealing in millions of rands, but in this case it proved to be decisive.

After the game everyone assembled in the YMCA building where the Mayor of Johannesburg, the Chairman of the South African National Council of Chartered Accountants and the Chairman of I.C.L. were present. Each participant was presented with an ICL tie and then the results were announced.

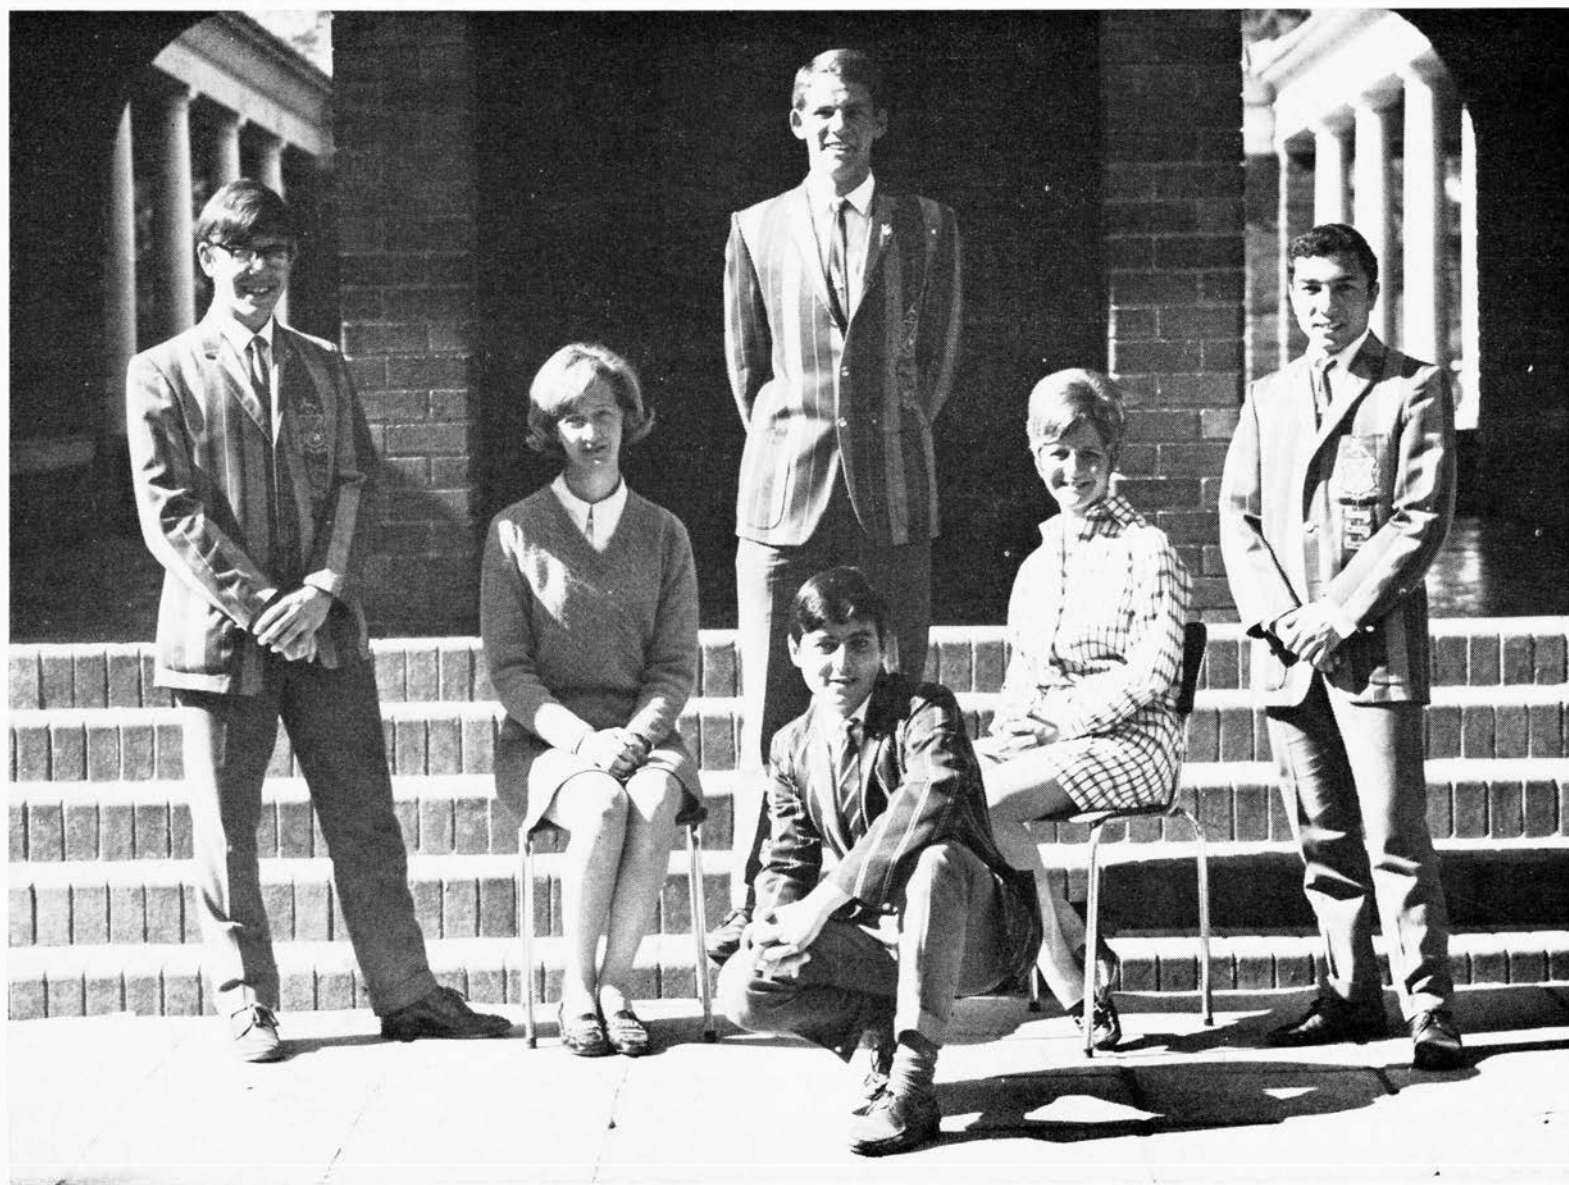

Michaelhouse	—	R1,370,000 profit
St. David's	—	R1,330,000 profit
Cape Town	—	R1,150,000 profit

... and so Michaelhouse won the shield. Our congratulations to the St. David's team who really did a wonderful job. Well done boys.

Public speaking

The season opened with an enjoyable debate against Krugersdorp Convent. Our team, consisting of K. Sprenger, G. Simpson and D. Mazaham, proposed the motion: "Johannesburg is a fine city". The motion was carried by St. David's — a good start to the season.

In our next debate, this time against St. John Bosco College, P. Sarbutt, G. Simpson and D. Mazaham proposed the very controversial topic: "Hippies are Heroes". Again the battle of wits was won by St. David's.

School Debating Team

FRONT: D. Mazaham.

The team, represented by K. Sprenger, G. Simpson and D. Mazaham, suffered its first reversal when they opposed Victory Park Convent's motion that "Demonstration is a Potent political weapon". Well done, Girls.

We held a practice debate against Rosebank convent, in preparation for the official debate against Belgravia Convent. The topic on both occasions was: "South Africa needs its own king". Our democratic team, L. Saad, P. Sarbutt and G. Simpson carried the day.

The quarter-finals of the Kolbe contest were upon us. The seasoned campaigners K. Sprenger, G. Simpson and G. Mazaham attempted to convince K.E.S. that "The Head, and NOT the Heart, is the better guide to Human Behaviour". The opposition were more persuasive than we were, and thus the decision went their way.

Throughout the season the Floor speakers provided excellent support, and played a major role in the successes of their team. Special mention must be made of N. Butcher, C. Seed, B. van Bruggen, C. John, T. Maher and W. Castle, for their valuable contributions.

Our thanks are extended to Miss Hartman and Mrs. Buchan, for their assistance and guidance, without which the team would not have been half as successful.

The results of the Best Speakers Contest were:

- [1.] L. Saad [Std. 10 (a)]
- [2.] P. Sarbutt [Std. 10 (a)]
- [3.] K. Sprenger [Std. 10]

Debating scrolls were awarded to D. Mazaham, L. Saad, K. Sprenger and P. Sarbutt. Congratulations to these boys.

A Better Egg

LEON SAAD, Winner of Senior Best Speakers

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, Fellow Students;

A rooster, while wandering around the neighbourhood, found an ostrich egg. He rolled it home, summoned all the hens, and addressed them as follows: "Ladies, I don't want to scold or reprimand you, neither do I want to be unreasonable, but while you have been so content with yourselves did you know that somewhere else in this neighbourhood eggs like this are being laid?"

There is a message conveyed in this story, a message that it would be well to heed in these present times where the destiny of mankind is controlled by a few while the majority sit back in complacency. But, before I proceed any further Mr. Chairman, allow me to apologise to the adults in this gathering if my comments appear unduly harsh or precocious, for this is not my intention. Is there not a proverb which states 'Bitter words are good medicine, while sweet words carry infection?'

Ladies and Gentlemen I recall that during April our Prime Minister sent a letter to two million South Africans which ended with these words — 'on April 22nd you will be the highest judge, then you must pronounce judgement solely in the interests of South Africa, this beautiful country which God in his mercy has given us' — and what was the result? No different from anywhere else in the world. A triumph for complacency. A complacency highlighted by the fact that almost a quarter of the electorate did not even bother to vote. A complacency that has blunted the adult conscience into one of self-interest, one of prejudice, fear of change, love of power, and so on 'ad nauseam'.

World politics, as practised by adults, has indeed disappointed me as a youth. I believed that it was a citizen's duty to vote. I believed that politics demanded a true Christian spirit, a spirit of sacrifice and courage. But what did I find? I found that if you fool people to get their money that's fraud, but if you fool people to get their votes that's politics.

Adults, do you realize what a mess you have made of this world by your complacency? Take a look at the poverty, the fighting, the hate, the prejudice... Do you realize that we continuously face the threat of nuclear war? Do you realize that the world's population will have doubled in thirty years time and that these people have to be fed? Do you realize that you have the political power to alter this? Perhaps you do... and perhaps you don't care. After all, you will have lived your full lives by then. But we, the youth, are the ones who will have to face the music. All we want is the right to sort out our own future.

Mr. Chairman, I can almost read the look on the faces of many of you in the audience. What is he advocating? I stand for something new, something long overdue, something that will not tolerate the decadence of complacency. I stand for the assertion of youth, yes youth. Youth that is not scared to accept change. Youth that is aware of its limitations and honest enough to face up to them. Youth that has not yet been corrupted by worldliness nor blinded by prejudice and hatred.

You see, we are young, energetic and idealistic, and already there are signs that people are looking to the youth for leadership; the dramatic success of youthful candidates at the polls; the insatiable demand for young business executives and scientific men. Did not John Kennedy himself say "The torch has passed to a new generation". Come, fellow youth, let us remember that today's world is too small for anything but brotherhood, too dangerous for anything but the truth and, if we are to secure our future in this world, we must stand together.

Youth of the world UNITE and together let us hatch the egg of a better world.

The Hidden Persuaders

by N. Butcher

Friends, Romans, Countrymen, Ladies and Gentlemen, lend me your ears. I am not here, as Antony said, to praise Caesar, nor, though, to bury him. I am here to give you an insight into the rather disturbing, though very real, era of modern life, that of the hidden persuader.

What were your impressions of 'Friends, Romans, Countrymen'? "Oh no! Not another of those dreary speeches." It is an address familiar to all, though used with a slight twist. It is something different so you all should be listening.

What do you know about the psychology of the brain, of your subconscious thoughts and impressions?

Large scale efforts are made today to channel our unthinking habits and purchasing decisions by the use of sights gained from psychology and social sciences. These efforts take place below the level of awareness. The appeals which move us are, therefore, in a sense, hidden.

The use of psycho-analysis has become the basis of a multi-million rand industry. Coca-Cola spend, in the United States alone, twelve million dollars on advertising and its research, a year.

Fund raisers are turning to the depth to wring more money from us. Think of a few speeches made in this hall. "Remember," they say, "It's your school." This depth approach is also showing nationally, where the voter is being treated more and more like one of Pavlov's reconditioned dogs. A slogan such as "Getroud af dieselfde pad" is a good example of symbol manipulation. The trend towards the depth approach was hastened by the fact that markets received much difficulty in selling those standard wares. They repeatedly suffered losses in campaigns that by all means of logic should have succeeded. Bargain stores began changing articles at 14c each to two for 29c and increasing their sales with these so-called bargains. The marketers started looking for the reasons why those seemingly nonsensical campaigns worked. They left it to social science and psychology to provide the answers.

What they really look for are the whys of our behaviour. Why women smoke Cameo cigarettes. Why men only use those sportsmen's deodorants. Why the kids only eat the peanut butter and Jungle Oats that keep Gary Player healthy, or is it the special cereal that snaps, crackles and pops in their plates?

The findings of the depth probes provide some startling explanations for some of our daily habits. It seems our subconscious minds can be quite unruly at times. Women, they find, will pay R3.00 for a bottle of beauty cream but no more for a cake of soap. The cream as the name suggests, promises beauty, while the soap, until Ursula Andress started using Lux, could only give cleanliness. The manufacturers sell hope, not cream. We no longer buy oranges, we buy vitality. We no longer buy apples, we save the doctor's bill.

Another good example of advertisement was given at a recent convention in London. One man told the story of a wistful young girl who had set out to buy some perfume. She survived all the passionate labels on the counter, then bashfully asked the attendant if she had something for beginners.

The modern population is one regarded as a bundle of daydreams, guilt complexes, misty hidden aversions and emotional blockages. We are image lovers given to impulsive and compulsive acts. Manipulators say of their manipulating that it has given them a power to do good or evil on a scale never before possible in so short a time. How can we know what to believe? Where is the morality in our so God-conscious government, treating the voters like customers? Is it just that we may be unwillingly influenced to do something that we might later regret? Where is the morality of exploiting our hidden weaknesses, sexual sensitivities and yearnings for commercial enterprise? Does the end justify the means?

Eventually, say by A.D. 2000, manipulation will have given way to something more advanced. But when you are manipulating where do you stop? Who is to fix the point at which manipulation becomes socially undesirable?

Ladies and Gentlemen, look before you leap. Ask yourself why, reason it out before you act.

Winner of the Junior Best Speakers.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

In my speech tonight I shall try to explain to you why music, art and poetry are to me the most moving, creative and educational arts in the world today.

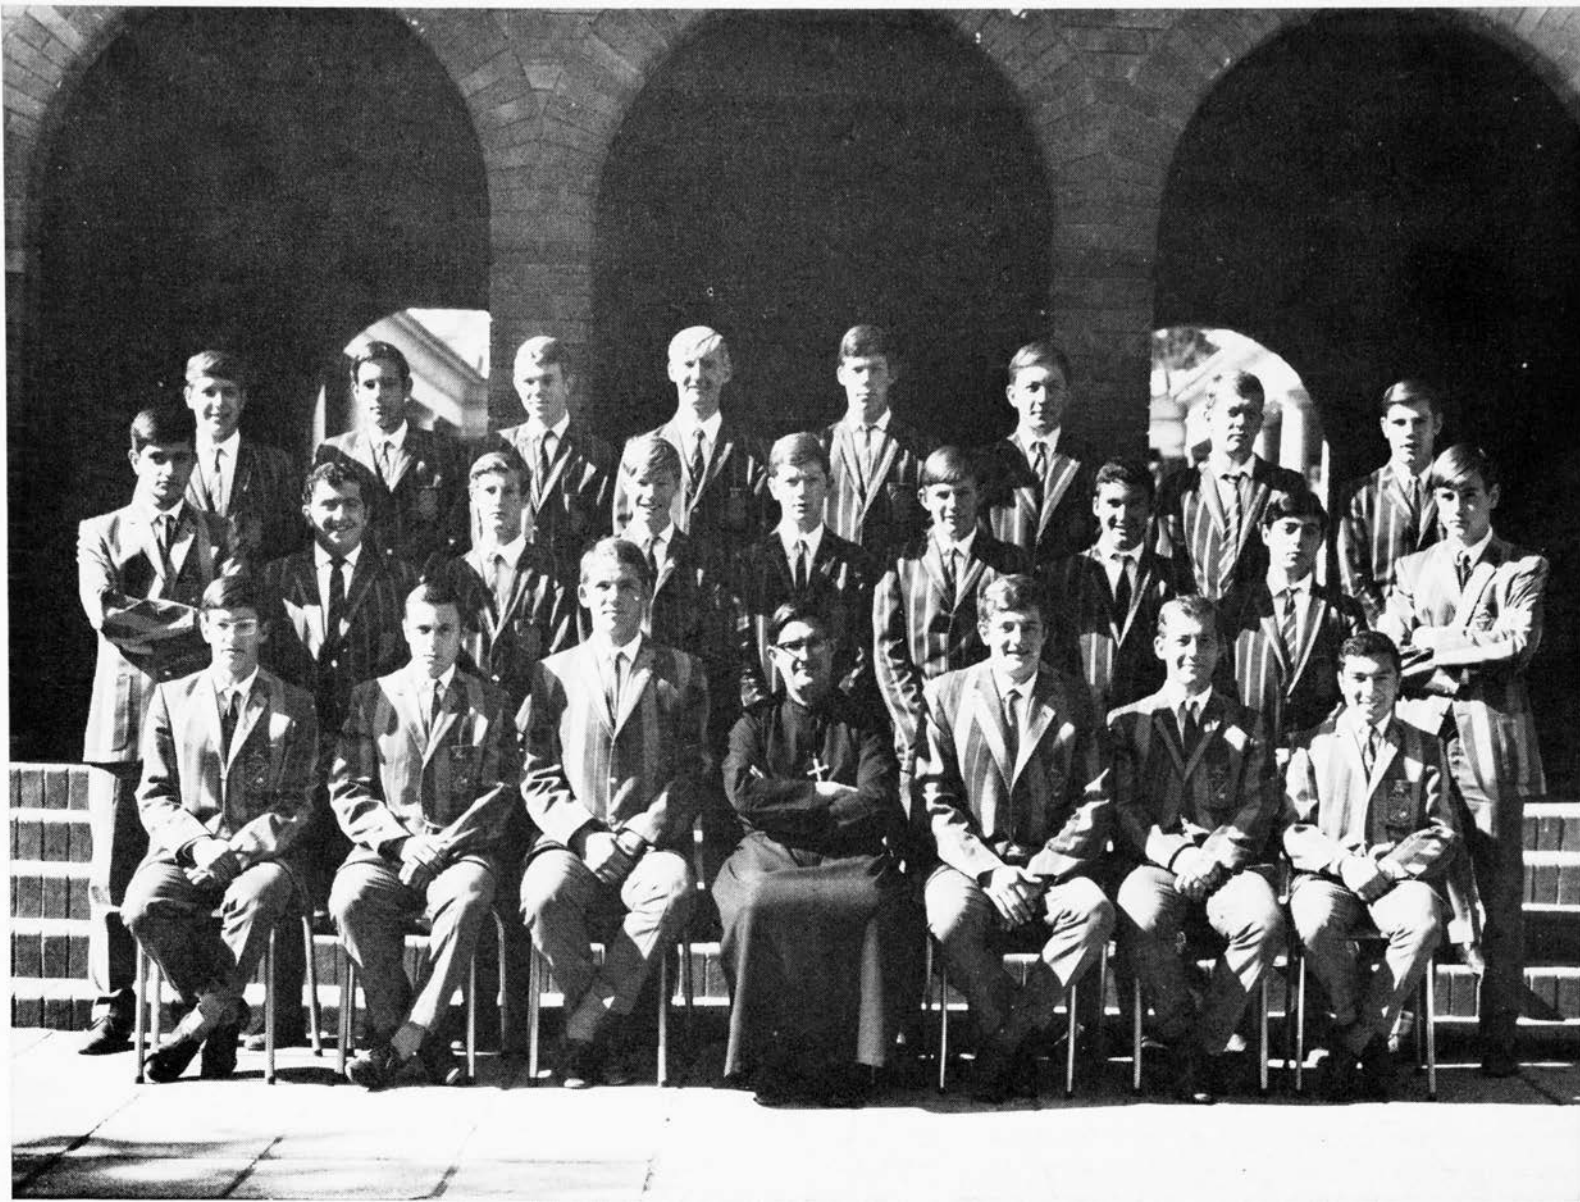

I shall first deal with music. Some people find it easier to reflect their moods through tunes, rather than words. Some of the greatest musicians have given us an impression of revolution, agony, sorrow or joy, merely through their choice of chords. As well as that, music can also have an effect on the listener. For example, classical music often soothes me, calms me down, makes my outlook on life more serious. On the other hand jazz music places me in a happy-go-lucky, carefree mood; nothing in the world seems to matter. I become unaware of the outside world. Pop music sets me in a world of excitement. My body, everything I do, whirls into an automatic rhythm, beat or vibration. This feeling can often easily be accompanied by dancing.

There are people in this world who have the gift of expressing their feelings more explicitly with a brush, some paint on canvas, rather than with a pencil on paper. A priceless gift. That is the gift of being able to get across what you mean by a simple variation in shade, tone or colour. The beauty of letting your imagination go wild on canvas Art is also very creative, for everything in an artist's own painting is his original thought or idea. I ask you, Ladies and Gentlemen, how often today does someone do or make something that is completely original? In trying to find out what the artist is expressing, it is actually a challenge to the mind that yields deep understanding and pleasure as we explore the artist's thinking.

As far as I am concerned, poetry is not merely a rhyming verse set to a particular rhythm. There is far more to poetry than just the surface meaning, if it has any at all. People are often confronted with a seemingly meaningless jumble of words. The happiness, sadness, or philosophies thought of, or experienced, during the poet's life, are revealed in the inner beauty of the poem. By inner beauty, I mean the true meaning that is found through close study of the poem.

I often marvel at the fact that the beauty of some of these musical pieces, poems or paintings, have, through the years up to this very day, been praised, appreciated and loved many years after their beginning.

The College gratefully acknowledges the splendid work done by Mrs. Daphne Sagar and her helpers in the book-selling Department. It also thanks them for the gift of the "Bomag" Roller, used for the Turf Wickets, and costing over R2,000.

A SELECTION OF POEMS BY K. SMALL

HAPPINESS

*If I possessed all the riches I desired,
Would I be happy?
Could I be satisfied with my life?
They say, "you have achieved your aim",
But have I?
Spending your life desperately gaining riches,
To show yourself above — to beat your fellow man,
When he is not watching, snatch and grab what you need,
You say to yourself — "look at that poor fool,
I'm a better man than he".*

*How wrong you are,
You have everything you want, but is happiness included?
Have you ever heard the last notes of a bird's song?
Have you ever walked alone in long green grass, thinking?
Or seen a flower, budding, blooming and dying? — so quickly.*

*Why! Oh! Why! Oh! Why!?
What meaning has this world?
What meaning have I?
Why do I slave away my days trying to become better,
And then ask myself what for?
When my last hour comes,
Money will have no value to me,
It cannot buy what is already gone,
To be rich is not to have many possessions,
But to have few wants.*

THE STORY OF LIFE

*Once I was afraid of death
But I have seen it — in a beautiful way,
And I realise,
It is not to be feared, but respected.*

*I search in my mind,
I lie alone, and think,
Examining my reasoning,
Questioning and answering.*

*My reflection looks upon me
What are you?
One person — life and death
You stand alone — express yourself.
I try to perceive the reason,
My mind looks for happiness into the unknown,
The purpose is understanding,
I look, peer, seek with all my soul.*

*I tell the people the meaning of this, or,
They laugh, you're mad
We don't listen, we love the good things of life
Ah! But what is life?*

*My pleasure is thinking,
The mind is cautious, it struggles,
But slowly the mist is clearing
And the beams of truth glare through.*

*I see life as but one short period,
To understand, to learn,
To achieve,
And then be judged.*

*I am only human,
It is hard to keep the rules I set,
But through my mistakes
I shall make and keep perfection.*

THE SECT

*The voice of authority stands high above
His voice undulating, passive
The angry boom of his followers become louder
Higher and higher
They rise above him
While he desperately tries to pacify.*

*Their angry souls send vivid messages
To all the universe
Telling of their victory and purpose
Few perceive their meaning
But one man is told, while wondering
His mind opens up and he sets forth.*

*He spreads their courage and purpose
But change is hard
And fear greater
As he moves he is struck down
But still the vivid messages come
And more people are shown the light.*

Introduction

Having run through an opium patch of daisies, the author wrote this poem. This poem is what occurred through this accidental trip on drugs. To understand this poem fully, the reader must condition his mind, for complete lack of understanding.

*It had rained last night,
With many spectacular splendid things,
And I, received a fright
For the things, though beautiful, had wings.*

*It was as though they knew me well
And fluttered before me, telling stories
Of the way the church bells would knell
Even when they had glories
Through the forest every night.*

*It made me sad to see them die
For but one creation they had seen
With the slightest sound, a sigh
They passed before me, as though never been.*

*It was my expectations, a tear had fell
And I kneeled on the ground
I prayed they would come again, but who can tell
Then in my mind did come, a sordid sound
Never to walk the forest at night.*

CONFUSED YOUTH

*Friendly peaceful shadows stand alone,
Oblivious to the inquisitive stares,
Minds flying high, and to the many insults they are prone,
They are free — momentarily — from their cares.*

*Colours, sounds and experiences become alive,
Wild imagination at its peak ignites,
The gyrating youth, to a higher plane of confusion, strives,
Until the blow of reality strikes.*

*Their needs now flow, with a vicious lash,
Food, drugs and a place to sleep,
The beach and sand, a place to crash,
And into their minds they again will peep.*

*High and happy in a ring they sit,
Guitars, drums and a flute send music streaming,
But, no, 'tis not the answer — It swallows, that "pit",
In this confusion can they ever find meaning?*

WHY

*Vibrations penetrate the inner soul of my mind
My life comes floating past me
Senseless
All of it confusing; no meaning*

*To understand the reason for my creation
Shall I ever know
To strive towards a goal
What!*

*God, happiness, understanding, love
I look deep into the indifferent dark
I'm looking for something
Shall I ever find it
Never to rest until I know.*

THE GREATNESS OF MAN

*Under the hard crust towards the centre core,
Measureless miles of deadly molten lava gushes,
Around us the cruel harsh judgement of the seasons remain,
Above us the creak and sway of lifeless material crushes,
Beneath us the fracturing and opening of our domain,
While we imagine our little lives to be secure.*

*During dreams we could be sent to heaven or hell,
We are so insignificant, helpless and insecure,
Like an ant, crushed by careless feet,
So are we in the vastness of our Universe pure,
None of us know when with death we shall meet,
Are our lives ready — the Creator to judge, for us to tell?*

E. Melman (Std. VIII).

LONELINESS

*In the midnight hour, I am free
I lie alone
Thinking of the time when I was prone
To the many cruel hard words, of the people around me
Although I feel so lonely and sad,
It is the lost love which makes me so mad
But now it is no use, I see.*

*The time has come
I belong no longer in this life
I look around, I see a knife
I cannot stand the pain, it makes me numb
I wish it was not like this, it is too late
I pray to God, I am finished, I no longer wait
My end is here; But not for some.*

DEATH OF THE FEARED

*Lightning bolted boldly, making its escape
Thunder shook the ground with a violent spasm
Borac brutally hammered the steel into shape
Lava flowed forth through the chasm
And the night grew cold.
In his hand the glowing sword was his guide
He knew he had evil to destroy and gain
Borac mounted his steed, with his sword by his side
For he'd slay the Dragon, with all but his weapon and his name
And the night shivered on.
Borac entered the cave, and steam poured forth
The Battle was short, his sword slashed deep
The Beast lay lifeless its blood ran north
Through the gullies and furrows, the blood did seep
And the night grew warm.*

LOVE

*Through the years love has been mild
My heart has been brave and free
But this was when I was a child
Now, I am older, tis not the same I see.*

*I feel a deeper meaning has come
Love is so much to me,
I know my life has just begun
And so at the altar, I rest my knee.*

TIME

*Time be not my curse,
Look upon me mercifully, but be kind,
Let not ripples and wrinkles cover my skin,
Let my frame remain upright and straight,
May my domain always be young, as the mind,
Man competes with thee, but never shall he win,
I plead with you. Hear me, let me be late,
May I open and give thee the contents of my purse?*

*Oh! but thy horrid eyes turn aside,
My pleas and sorrows go unnoticed by thy ear,
No man will thou a friend make,
Cursing, will I with the others go,
To dreaded old age, tis coming near,
Slowly dying, one day I will awake
To scream and implore thee with sorrowful heart, no, no,
Time takes me in his ever flowing tide.*

Sampie

Leon Saad Std. 10

Sampie is haastig. Sy maer bruin vingertjies klop ongeduldig op die toonbank. „Djy hoef dit nie op te rep nie, djy”. Die bottel word aan hom oorhandig. „Dankie djy”. Met kort, vinnige treetjies stap hy uit die winkel uit. Hy gaan so ’n rukkjie op die vuil sypaadjie staan en bespied die omgewing om hom. Daar oorkant die pad is ’n oop stuk grond tussen twee geboue, wat met lee blikke en vuilgoed besaai is.

Ongeduldig wag hy tot daar geen verkeer in die straat is nie, dan stap hy gou-gou oor die straat. Hy soek vir hom ’n gemaklike plek uit en gaan sit. Met sy rug teen die ongeverfde muur en sy koddige krom beentjies voor hom uitgestrek, haal hy sy „Kortah Jek” uit sy baadjie sak. Sy hand streel oor sy krullerige hare wat vas teen sy kopvel gepleister is. Sy bruin, waterige oë word vir ’n oomblik baie melancholies en sy plat neusie wriemel effens. Met so ’n verlate uitdrukking op sy gesig, trek hy die prop van die bottel uit en dan word die bottel vinnig teen sy gebarste lippe gedruk en die warm brandewyn skreeu in sy keel af . . .

„Somer, son en saffier“.

D. Allem — Std. 9

Lente en somer is my geliefkooste seisoene in die jaar. Die bome begin bod en nuwe blaartjies en grashalmpies verskyn en dit is asof die natuur ontwaak uit sy lang slaap. Almal is vrolik en bly. Die rede waarom ek van hierdie twee jaargetye hou is omdat daar orals ’n lewensvreugde te bespeur is. Dassies bak in die son, vinke kwetter in die bos, kinders baljaar in die water en baie mense kampeer gedurende die naweke in die veld. Die dae word langer en die son kom vroer op en die kommerlose somerdae strek eindeloos die toekoms in.

As natuurkind, wees dus gegroet die heerlike dae van „somer, son en saffier”!

’n Besoek aan Rosebank

Bernard Deeb — Std. 9

Rosebank is een van die woeligste voorstede van die Goudstad. Dit is in die sentrum van die Noordelike voorstede van Johannesburg en op Saterdag kom oud en jonk van heinde en ver om inkopies in hierdie moderne voorstad te doen.

Op Saterdag gaan die kinders nie skool toe nie en dis waarom Rosebank so woel met tienerjariges. Dis tyd vir ontspanning en plesier.

Rosebank is voorsien van alle moderne geriewe soos ’n bank, moderne uitrusters, drankwinkels, ’n bioskoop en selfs ’n biblioteek.

Saans wemel hierdie voorstad van verskillende tipes mense van uiteenlopende karakters — van arm bedelaars wat sit en bedel tot deftige dames met hulle spoggerige poedels.

Die nuutste modes word ook goed vertoon, jong meisies dra kleurvolle mini-rompies en ander die opspraakwekende maxis terwyl die seuns met hulle skouer-lengte hare en wye-pyp broeke orals te sien is.

Die paaie is altyd woelig en om hierdie rede is daar baie verkeersbeampies wat toesien dat die motoriste nie die verkeersreels oortree nie.

Saterdag is naweek tyd. Dis die tyd vir ontspanning en plesier. Dis ook tyd om inkopies te doen en kruide-niersware te bestel. Dit is waarom Rosebank die vergaderplek is vir oud en jonk en waar vriende mekaar kan ontmoet om oor ’n heerlike koppie tee te klets.

Ja, ’n besoek aan Rosebank is beslis altyd die moeite werd.

Latin — a Dead Language

by A. Gohdes Std. 8

I am sure that everyone will agree with me that Latin is difficult to learn and easy to forget. Another disadvantage of learning Latin is that hardly anybody in this world speaks this language (we can thank our lucky stars for that.)

The older generation thinks that there are more advantages than disadvantages. Firstly it is a basic foundation for learning a Romanic language such as Portuguese, Italian, Spanish, etc. Furthermore, it is a logical language and can be learnt systematically, not as English or German where there are more exceptions than rules in the grammar. Any learned man can tell you, "Son! Because Latin is logical and exercises the brainpower it is excellent for your studies of Mathematics and Science." I'm not so sure about that at the moment, but the future will show me.

Of one thing I am sure, students all over the world will understand and can join in singing this Latin verse:

Gaudeamus igitur sung twice
Iuvenes dum sumus
Post iucundam iuventutem
Post molestam senectutem
Nos habebit humus sung twice

REFERENCE: OXFORD SONG BOOK.

WATER

by M. Ross Std VI

FOR FIVE YEARS the land lay dry and arid scorched by one of the worst droughts in history. Then suddenly the rain came. Flooded rivers rushed in brown torrents into the empty dams — Loskop Dam, Hartebeestpoort Dam and the mighty Vaal Dam were overflowing. But the overflowing dams once more underlined a problem almost as great as the drought itself; the preserving and utilising of the surplus water before the next drought.

Part of the answer is more dams. One such one is the Oppermansdrift being built on the Vaal River, one hundred and thirty miles below the Vaal Dam. This equals the Orange River scheme, for it will supplement the supply in the Vaal Dam which feeds the most important industrial area in South Africa. It will do this by controlling a large volume of water from the catchment area below the Vaal Dam. The urgency of these projects is reflected in the pace of building operations. Workers and their machines are toiling around the clock to keep up.

The scarcity of water available for agricultural, industrial and urban purposes is aggravated by the high rate of evaporation, the vastness of the main catchment areas and the seasonal parching of the ground. It is estimated that for these reasons no more than eight per cent of the overall precipitation in the Republic reaches the rivers. Evaporation on the Witwatersrand is about sixty inches a year.

In South Africa, therefore, it is very necessary for us to conserve all the water we can. It will not only be necessary to increase means of storage of run-off water; at the same time greater efforts will have to be made in water control. Water economy in factories and homes, pollution control, improved methods of irrigation, the re-use of water for industrial purposes, these are but a few of the many ways of water control. The desalination of sea water is also becoming an important field.

The people themselves must be educated and learn to use water without undue waste. Stopping the dripping of taps and other ordinary household wastages can help towards the conservation of water. It is up to every South African to help conserve the life-blood of their country, WATER, for without it nothing can survive.

Smuts: An Enigma

by A. Ryder Std. IX

THE DAY WAS fine, but cloudy. Three figures stood on a cliff overlooking the Channel, their shadows falling over the brink of the cliffs and vanishing in the impenetrable depths below. Two of the men were in army uniform, the third in a great overcoat with a cigar stuck between his lips and a walking stick swinging in his hand. The middle figure was a fairly tall man with a white 'goatee' beard and a thin face giving one the impression of harshness.

This man was Jan Smuts and, in that war-time era, he was fighting, fighting in a war which would cost him his pretensions as a politician. Little did he know at that time, while he was striving on the side of the Allies for the resolvment of the treat of the warlike tide that was sweeping across Europe into a lasting and progressive unity that would absolve the world of this wantonless killing, that he would be rewarded in such a faithless manner. With him was Churchill, who shared his sentiments, and used his military prowess and knowledge to the furthering of the Western world's plan to halt the scythelike march of the German armies.

At that time he was known to all South Africans as "Slim Jannie", not from any point of trickery or underhandedness, but from admiration and adoration of one who had only the feelings of the world at heart. Now, it is a source of pride to South Africans everywhere that this small corner of the world has produced a man who was declared by leaders of world opinion to be a fit "mentor of nations". He tried to, and succeeded, in proving himself one of the intellectual giants of history — like an intellectual ocean whose waters of wisdom touched every shore of human thought.

The world showered honours upon him but this "son of the veld" and erstwhile guerilla leader, was most proud of the simple and the scientific honours bestowed upon him by various organisations. Smuts, as a young man, was a zealot for intellectual and economic freedom as well as social freedom. He hated, with an undying hatred, slavery, and once wrote "Neither divine nor human principles can tolerate slavery. The darkness of the Middle Ages was identically the same thing as slavery".

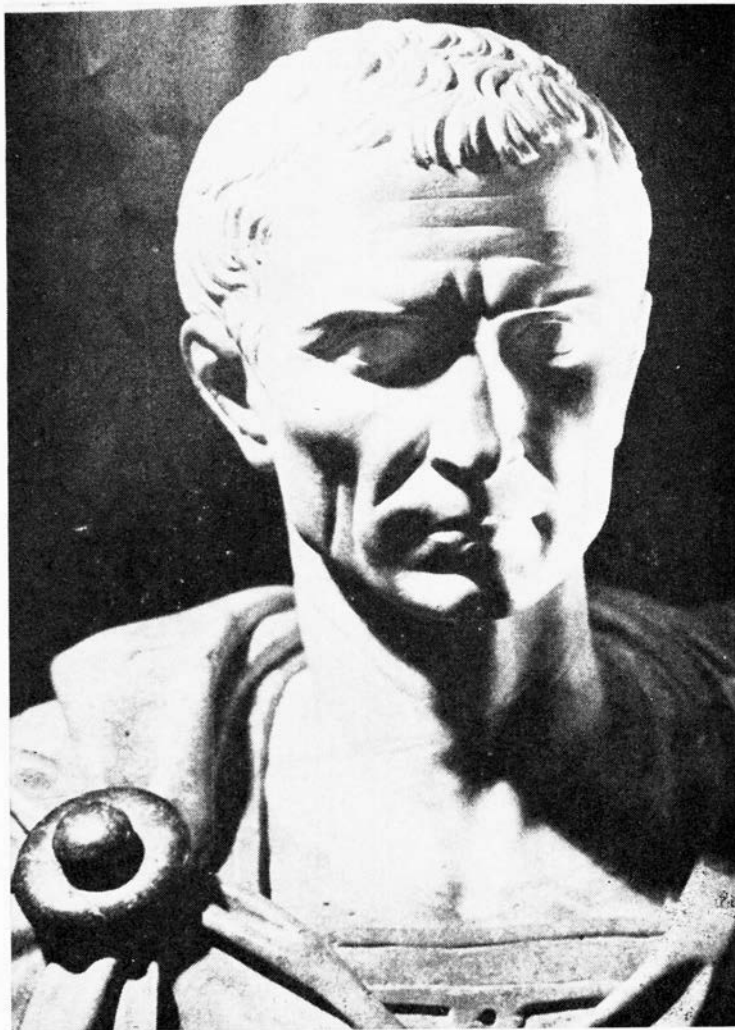

Smuts was at once not only a scholar and politician but a humanist and philosopher. His humanism found expression in his book "Holism and Evolution". Many thinkers regard Smuts as a thinker of classical stature on a par with all that the world has ever produced and far in advance of his time. A professor, T. J. Haarhoff sees Smuts the 'Odysseus' of our time — a great traveller and adventurer, yet with a deep love of home, the simple life and nature.

Thus we have the contrasts of Smuts the politician, the scholar, the scientist, the humanist and the philosopher. All of these many and varied facets make up the man now known, appreciated, and admired by one and all. Time and time again these facets clashed and it was always the politician who won, for he always allowed party gain to take prominence as distinct from his deepest principles. Smuts thought only for the good of the world and those who depended upon him. A man we can all admire and set our ideals on; a man blessed and nurtured by the Gods for the task for which the world was unequal.

BACKGROUND STUDIES IN LATIN

IN THE CURRENT ISSUE of the T.T.A. Magazine, in an article commenting on the drift away from Latin in the school, the writer mentions that some teachers are beginning to take the view that the real value of Latin lies less in the language than in the study of the culture, literature and history of those who spoke it. This viewpoint, translated into syllabuses, would mean the relegation of language work to a minor role. I cannot agree with that view. Important as I think background studies are, I feel they remain background studies. It is still the LANGUAGE that is of primary importance.

In support of this, I may say we are all familiar with the babel of conflicting opinion heard whenever we try to decide why we learn, or teach Latin, and why it is still studied in the schools of all the western countries. Unless they are all following, blinkered, on a traditional path that they have not the wit to step out of, there must be a common theory behind their general practice.

Julius Caesar.

One of the theories most commonly advanced, and much decried by some, is that "Latin helps your English". But the Germans are not learning it because it helps their English. They feel it assists their German, and the French that it strengthens their French, the Danes their Danish, etc., etc., etc. This seems quite remarkable until we observe the common factor: a general conviction that this particular study makes for a more effective understanding and use of language — any language — particularly one's own.

I feel that this argument is a valid one and that, in fact an enhanced ability to communicate thus result from the study of Latin, and that this ability to communicate in words is about the most valuable gift one's education can bestow, and, if we are to judge by the diatribes of university lecturers, the most startling single deficiency of even their final year students is precisely their inability to communicate in words. Somerset Maugham wrote: "I have made a very great deal of money because I have the gift — rare — of being able to say what I mean".

That this can be regarded as a rare gift is a sobering thought, and it is because the study of Latin can make it considerably less rare that the background studies should not be permitted to take precedence over language. That would be, ultimately, to kill Latin off completely.

However, it is being killed off in any case by the arid grammatical approach which subjects pupils for five years to such stupefying banalities as: "The tender girl will know my words." "You are blaming the friend of the good judge." "The bold lion is terrifying the tender sheep."

I am not making these up. They appear in one of the grammar books most widely used in the Transvaal, and it contains hundreds more of the same sort. It is unforgivable to use such material in the 1970's. A few of its sentences suggest, truly, a deranged mind, others make sense in wildly improbable contexts only, and most are completely divorced from any reality the student can recognise.

He discovers, incredulously, that his surely erroneous rendering of: "Portae densae fuerint" as "The gates will have been thick" is, in fact, correct, and he gets full marks. Two years later his unseen is returned to him with the hint that surely he must have known it was wrong since it did not make sense. His innocent rejoinder "But Latin doesn't often make sense", is solidly founded on previous observation but this does not help him now. His answer, however, gives us a glimpse of the roots from which the current revolt against Latin has sprung. It is only remarkable that the boredom induced by such material has not bred up its own revolution long before this. As a result, what we face now is more than objection to this type of academic fare — it aims to eliminate Latin from the curriculum.

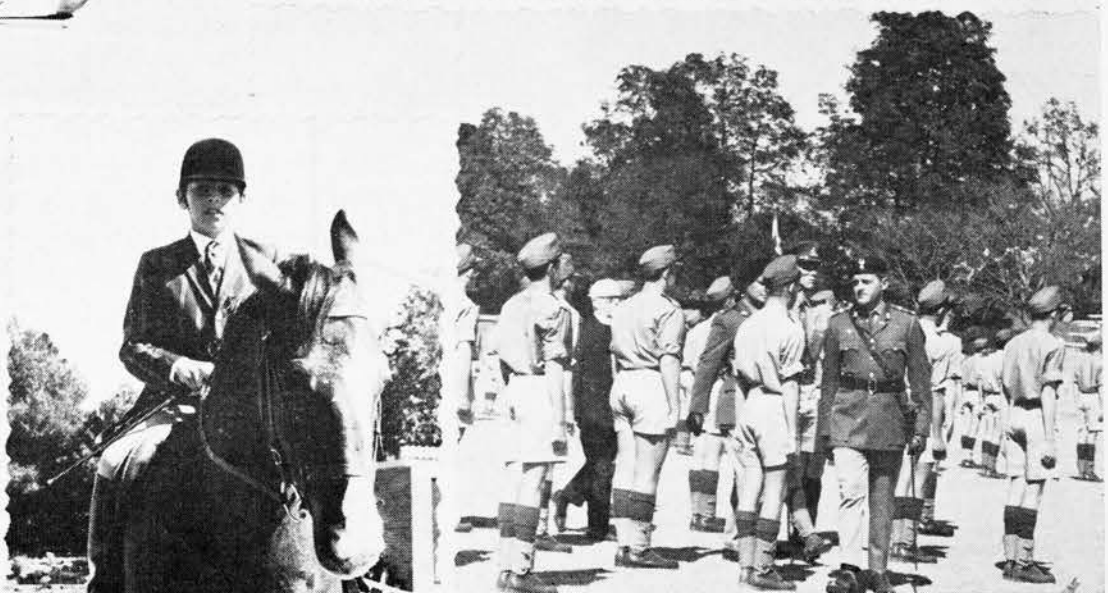

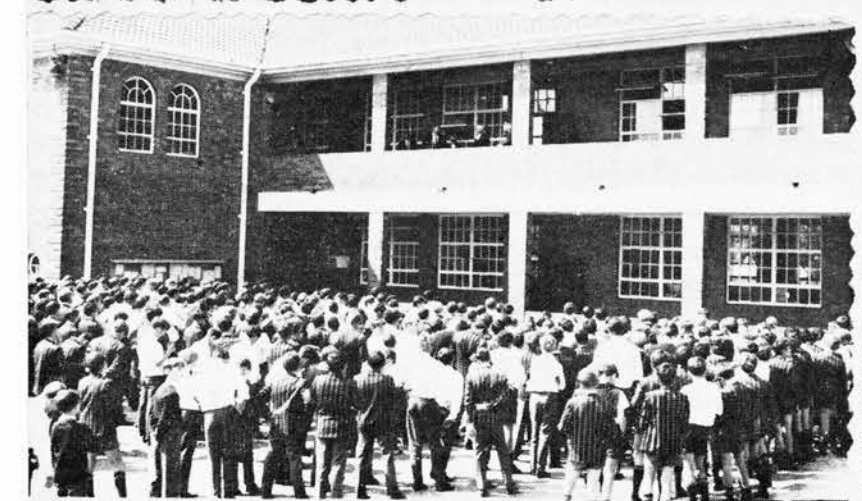

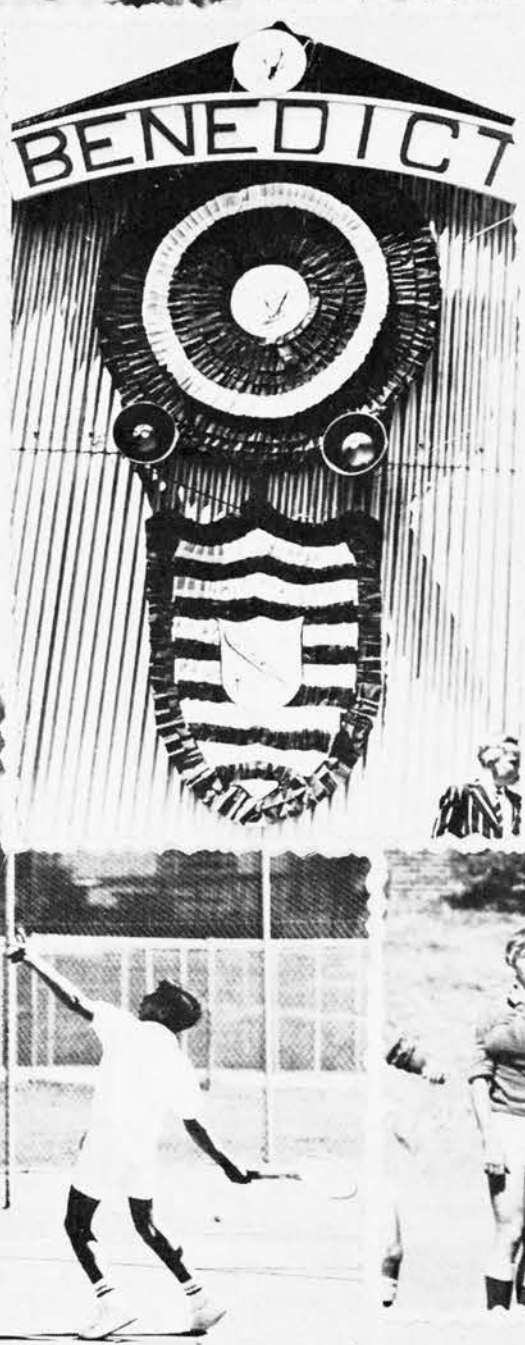

If we then hope to salvage our subject unscathed from the deluge of opposition, we need to conduct our own internal revolution and radically alter its aspect. I recall, at a young age, being given a definition of a skeleton as "the bony framework of the body needed to support the limbs". It called up a mental picture of ourselves, minus this support, folding over and sinking to ground level.

In a way, perhaps, what has been offered in the past is only the essential skeleton of Latin, and our present position cries out for the addition of the flesh to grace its now ill-favoured, if utilitarian countenance, and to breathe life into the apparently inert frame.

This life, so badly needed, can come from what we call the background work. It will be aided, of course, by sentences in grammar exercises that do make sense.

The field that lies open to us in background work is enormous. It is, simply, every aspect of Roman Life, History, Legend, Philosophy and Humour, Writing, Amusements: anything, in fact, that brings the Romans to vivid life and conveys the sense of dealing with real people — different from us in externals and surprisingly similar in other ways — is grist to our Latin mill.

St. David's vs St. Stithians: The U/14 "A" team inaugurated the season with a flattering victory over St. Stithians. Good fielding and the accurate bowling of G. Seymour who took five wickets for 20 runs, helped the team to dismiss St. Stithians for 55 runs. We suffered an early set back by losing one wicket before the score reached double figures. However G. Seymour and I. Jones batted along steadily and we passed the St. Stithians' score without further loss.

St. David's vs Parktown: Parktown declared at 101 for the loss of 9 wickets. G. Seymour took 3 wickets for 40 runs and was by far the best bowler. St. David's battled along to reach the total of 86 for 9 wickets. The main scorers were: M. de Pinna 20, R. Will 20 and I. Jones 18.

St. David's vs Athlone: Athlone won the toss and elected to bat. They declared their innings closed at 90 for 7 wickets. In reply, St. David's scored 71 for the loss of 5 wickets at the close of play.

St. David's vs Northcliff: This was our first fixture against Northcliff High. Due to our bad batting and Northcliff's steady bowling, we were all out for 66 runs. In spite of good bowling on our part, Northcliff reached our total for the loss of 8 wickets.

St. David's vs Observatory: Our key match is against Observatory and was played on the McGregor Oval. Our batsmen recorded very poor performances but for Gary Seymour who opened the batting and was the last man to lose his wicket, when the total was 97 and his personal tally 60 runs. Observatory were all out for 40 runs. D. Schatz took a magnificent catch behind the stumps and had three stumpings to his credit. I. Jones and G. Seymour took three wickets each and the rest were well distributed among the other bowlers.

St. David's vs CBC Pretoria: St. David's batsmen were on top of the bowling right from the start of the match. G. Seymour, 80 n.o., and I. Jones, 36 n.o. helped us to declare at 142 for the loss of 3 wickets. CBC were all out for 47. Here mention should be made of P. Bendall who took six wickets and conceded very few runs. CBC batted through the second innings and were 46 for 6 wickets at the close of play.

St. David's vs K.E.S.: K.E.S. declared their innings closed at 135 for 7 wickets giving us ample time to make the score. The light began to deteriorate very rapidly and the game had to be abandoned when our score was 46 for 5 wickets.

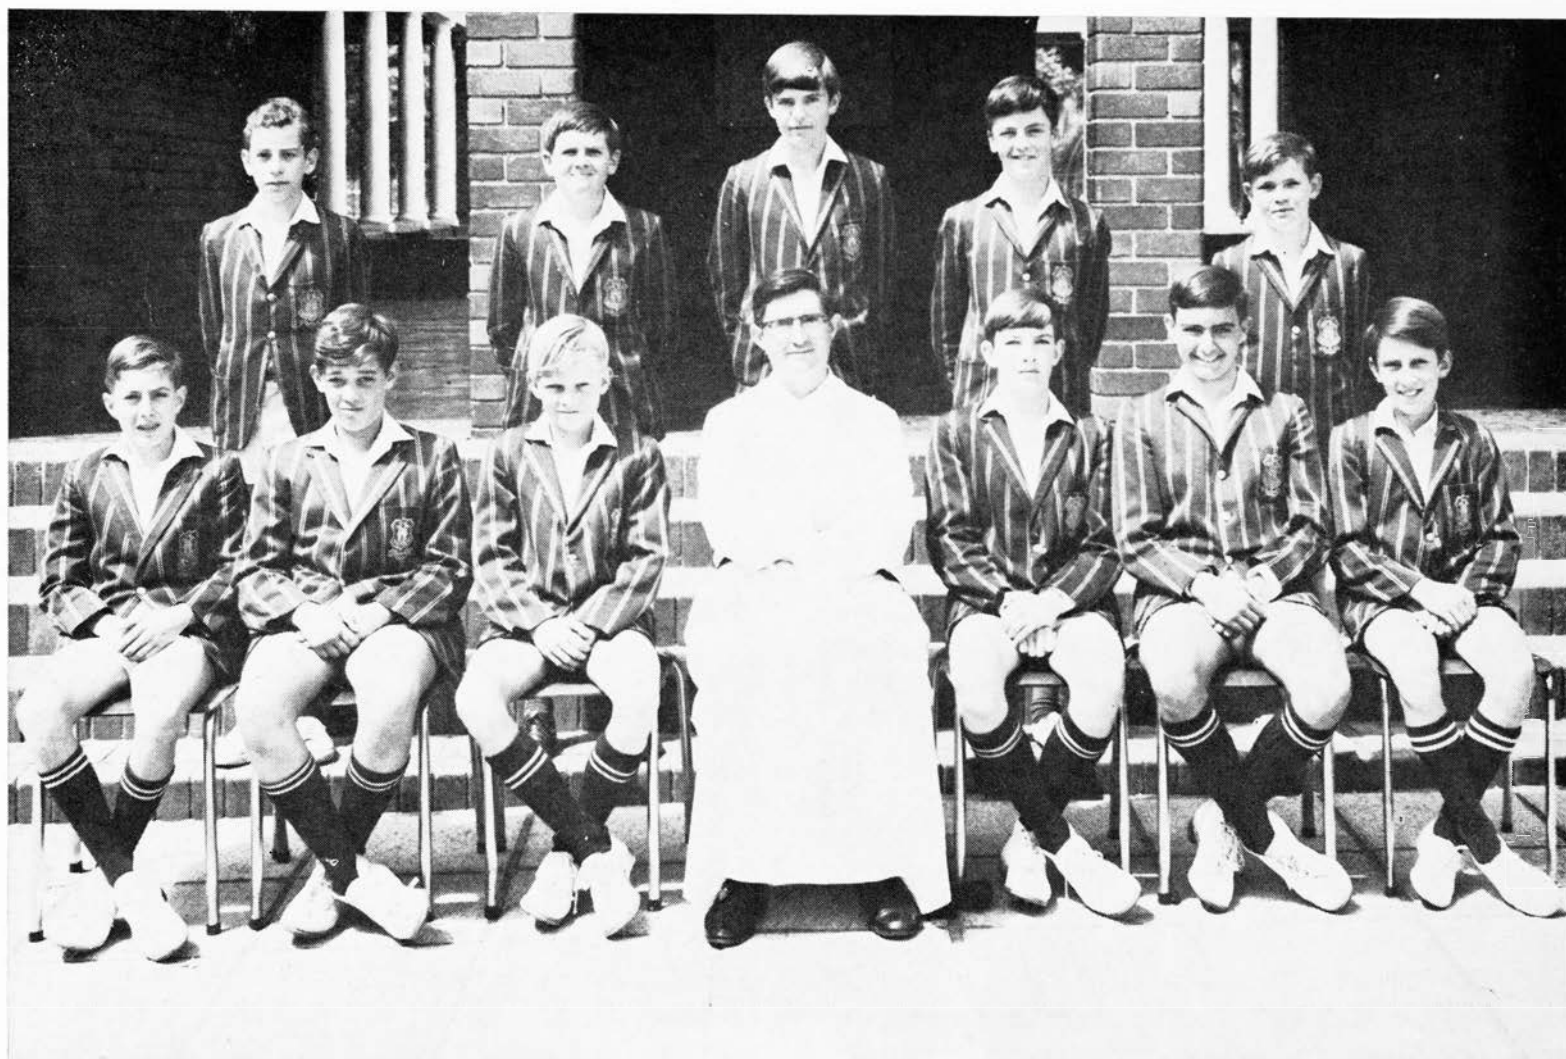

Under 13A Cricket

R. Adair (C) and V. O'Mahony batted most consistently during the first term, generally providing a sound start to each innings. R. Eb and J. Kourie made some useful scores, and A. Nicol behind the wicket played fairly competently. Eb and Kourie formed the opening attack, and the fast bowling of M. Sopas improved in accuracy after a few matches. The spin bowling of Adair was a constant threat to the opposition batsmen, and was supported by neat fielding on the whole.

Rugby

1st XV

AFTER A SERIES of hard practice matches during the pre-season period, viz: Fakkel Hoer, Linden Hoer and D. F. Malan, we started off the season somewhat better prepared than in previous years.

vs C.B.C. Pretoria — (Lost 0-5)

Our first match was against C.B.C. Pretoria. A major failure at hooking cost us the match. The team played well as a whole, but due to lack of possession in the tight and lineout, our backs never had a chance to show their worth.

vs St. Alban's — (Won 20-9)

During the first ten minutes of this game it looked as though St. Alban's were the better side. However, after a quick heel, a beautifully executed line movement and C. Dalton's electrifying run, St. David's gained the ascendancy, except for a poor ten-minute display in the second half, when our play was completely aimless and individualistic.

All the forwards improved, in particular K. Small and G. Hunter. L. Saad was good in the loose, and our new hooker, M. Harris, excelled. J. Stavrou did a great deal of hard work both in the tight and in the loose. J. Moni has a good first half, but was unimpressive in the second. S. Trupos played well until he sustained an injury in the first half.

vs Highlands North — (Won 11-3)

Our forwards, in general, were slow to the loose. The talent was there, but each individual was, at some stage of the game, taking it easy, with the result that the pack failed to give the impression of a co-ordinated machine.

J. Peel showed improvement and G. Hunter's play was well above average, due to his determination to be always on the ball. J. Williamson and C. Dalton gave a good display; the latter's first try was particularly exciting, since he had to break three or four tackles before his long streak to the try line. The second try could be attributed to J. Williamson who cut in beautifully to give to J. Williams; he, in turn, gave it to Dalton to go over. The front row did its work but there was nothing sensational. Line-out work was, in general, poor, and it was only when J. Moni came to the number three position in the line-out that we had some success. E. Sopas played fairly well although he must learn to reverse pass. J. Sadowski and J. Williams did their work well and got the ball moving.

vs Springs High — (Lost 6-12)

Our first XV showed slight superiority. Countless scoring chances were thrown away both by backs and forwards with the result that we literally gave them victory. However, the crowd was thoroughly entertained by an excellent display of running rugby.

vs St. John's — (Lost 0-6)

After a good display by our second XV we were looking forward to a similar performance by our

Rugby: First XV

BACK ROW — (LEFT TO RIGHT): G. Hunter, K. Small, J. Harrewyn, P. Quarmby, S. Trupos, K. Fraser, G. Kockott, J. Sadowski.

1st XV. We were in for a disappointment. Right from the beginning our play lacked co-ordination, drive and direction. The forwards had a day off, and played as individuals, with the exception of L. Saad, G. Hunter and J. Harrewyn. The backs were thus starved of the ball. On the other hand, our opponents played consistently good rugby and fully deserved to win.

vs Parktown High — (Lost 9-14)

This match was a tonic after the poor showing of the previous week. The line-out work, scrumming, and loose play of the forwards earned them the referee's compliment that they were the best pack of forwards he had seen in schoolboy rugby this year. G. Hunter, P. Quarmby and J. Harrewyn played stormers in the loose with P. Sarbutt and P. Quarmby gaining possession frequently in the line-outs. G. Hunter initiated some clever moves linking scrum with line. K. Fraser had his best game to date. Leading most of the game, it was unfortunate for us that L. Saad flipped up a dolly of a pass when falling which was collected by Parktown's speedy wing. He scored under the posts. Among the backs, S. Trupos and J. Williams can be singled out for their good play. All in all, it was a very pleasant contest between two evenly-matched sides.

vs C.B.C. Boksburg — (Won 28-0)

After an uninspiring first half, a swift and startling rejuvenation set in. First, J. Williams scored with a magnificent burst of speed. Then, it was P. Sarbutt, S. Trupos and G. Nichas to go over. The whole team was in the game now, and play switched all over the field at a bewildering pace. This was a fine exhibition of rugby and every player deserved credit. I. Bensimon showed some improvement and S. Trupos played a blinder in the second half. K. Fraser and K. Small were excellent in the tight. G. Hunter had his usual good game and P. Quarmby began to show his real talent.

vs Roosevelt High — (Lost 11-5)

The first half of the match belonged to St. David's, the second half to Roosevelt High. Down three nil after five minutes, St. David's fought back fiercely for the next twenty-five minutes. J. Williamson was brought down short of the line and J. Williams dropped only to see his kick rebound from the post. M. Harris, P. Quarmby, K. Small and J. Harrewyn slammed into the opposition, with G. Hunter in the forefront as usual. By half time St. David's were up five three after an opportunist try by I. Bensimon who seldom put a foot wrong. However, at the last minute, we tried to take a very quick line-out which not only did not come off, but took the ball right to our try line. A minute later, Roosevelt scored a try. The line was not good as an attacking force during this game, but their defence was mighty. A sterling game was played by K. Small, M. Harris, J. Stavrou, P. Quarmby, J. Harrewyn, J. Williamson and J. Peel. This was probably the hardest match of the season.

vs St. Henry's — (Drew 11-11)

We played into a strong wind in the first half. The half-time score was eleven nil in St. Henry's favour. Their scores came from two give-away penalties in mid-field and a well-deserved try after a quick heel, five yards from our try line. Our play improved in the second half. J. Peel put over a penalty from the half way line and S. Trupos went through to score near the upright. J. Peel converted and brought the score to eight eleven. In the closing moments of the game, G. Kockott broke through their defence and scored an unconverted try.

vs St. Charles — (Won 9-6)

In the beginning St. Charles were up six nil after two penalties. J. Peel brought the score level with two penalties which equalised the scores at six all. In the second half we played against the wind and J. Williams goaled a difficult penalty from the half-way line. Both teams played well and the defence was very tight on both sides throughout the match.

vs Observatory — (Won 29-8)

This match opened at a very fast pace before a large crowd of parents, old boys and pupils. Within ten minutes Observatory were eight points up with a goal and a penalty. With Observatory pressing for the following ten minutes the situation looked bad for St. David's. Then suddenly, K. Small picked up the ball just outside our twenty-five, broke several tackles, and sent C. Dalton away on an electrifying sixty-five yard run. Chased by Brennon all the way, Chris Dalton dotted down under the posts. J. Peel converted. Three minutes later Observatory were penalised and J. Peel levelled the scores. The half-time score was eight points all.

In the second half there was a complete reversal of form. St. David's could not put a foot wrong, and with the forwards and backs combining beautifully, ran up twenty-one points in a devastating display of classy rugby. The one fatal mistake that Observatory made during this match was kicking onto our full-back, J. Peel. He was in top form, and turned every kicking error to our advantage. For the record, the team that represented St. David's on this occasion was:

K. Fraser	J. Stavrou (captain)
J. Harrewyn	G. Hunter
M. Harris	P. Quarmby
K. Small	I. Bensimon
L. Saad	S. Trupos
	J. Williams
	J. Williamson (vice-capt.)
	G. Kockott
	C. Dalton
	J. Peel

vs Jeppe High — (Lost 6-15)

Seven minutes away from glory and our first win against Jeppe with the score at six five, our favour . . . and then disaster! A scrum five yards from our line . . . a ball thrown into the scrum with the scrum wheeling through an angle of 45° . . . a hook against the head . . . a missed tackle by a centre . . . and that was that! Five points. This team did give of their best. They played hard, with only fourteen men in the second half and deserved better than the score showed. K. Fraser played well in the tight whilst G. Hunter tried very hard. P. Quarmby did excellent work in the line-out and in the loose and L. Saad did more than his share of good tackling. J. Harrewyn's power play deserves mention, as does J. Stavrou's leadership, J. Williamson's deadly tackling and J. Peel's display at full-back.

vs Athlone — (Won 9-8)

“My kingdom for the final whistle” and goodness, did it come at the right time! Those gruelling last ten minutes must have seemed to the most apathetic St. David’s supporter like an endless eternity. Our first XV held on to the taste of victory right to the bitter end. Should we have won by a bigger margin? The general concensus of opinion is “yes”. Three points down in the first ten minutes and yet we spent nine of them within calling distance of the Athlone try line. Fortunately, thanks to two well-judged penalty kicks by J. Peel and J. Williams, we were placed in a somewhat comfortable position at half time, the score being six three. In the second half we saw some good flashes of good, running rugby but, alas, not for long. S. Trupos’ drop-kick from the touch line near the twenty-five made the score nine three in our favour. Athlone began to play in top gear and six minutes from time, scored near the upright. Their storming relentless attack on our try-line was kept in check by good tactical kicking, fire and grit determination. K. Fraser played a hard game and K. Small gave a good performance in spite of a bad attack of flu. G. Hunter made some good breaks and was well up on the ball. J. Stavrou worked hard and was an inspiration to the team. J. Harrewyn, P. Quarmby and L. Saad excelled themselves.

vs K.E.S. — (Lost 6-20)

From the start of the match our 1st XV launched a relentless attack on the K.E.S. try-line. The K.E.S. cover-defence was excellent with the result that they kept in check several scoring opportunities that came our way. J. Williamson had a few good runs in the wing position and the forwards had a very good share of the ball. Had we taken all our chances, had we not given away so many penalties and conceded those two tries, the score would have looked more encouraging.

vs Selborne College — (Lost 3-14)

Congratulations to Selborne College on a very fine display of rugby. The Selborne played smooth, efficient rugby, and, as a touring team, once again taught us all a few of the finer points of the game. We would also like to thank Selborne for the very pleasant association which we had with them during their stay at the college. Good luck for next year.

Second XV

One thing the Second XV never lacked was the sweet taste of victory. The great success of the team can be attributed both to the keenness and spirit of the boys, and to the guidance of the coach, Mr. N. Simaan. The powerful scrum, spear-headed by the two props M. Joseph and D. Constantinides, the line-out specialists M. Ager and J. Schmidt, the loose forwards J. Moni, G. Nichas and A. Chemaly, and last but not least, the able hooking and loose-play of G. Dunsford-White proved an excellent combination. Linking the scrum with the hard-running backline was the nifty scrum-half E. Sopas. Initiating the line movements with superb anticipation and tact was the “Visagie” of the 2nd XV: N. Mavrodaris. The penetration of the two centres T. Droste and S. Komar provided the wings with ample scoring opportunities. The main scorer was W. Castle who, with his lightening speed, scored time and time again under the posts. Our full-back, R. Hunter, saved many a try by his positional play and fearless tackling.

We take this opportunity of thanking Mr. N. Simaan for his ceaseless and untiring efforts on our behalf.

Third XV

The Third XV enjoyed a fairly successful season. The inspired way in which the Captain, B. Deeb, encouraged his team is commendable. The team was characterised by an extremely powerful set of forwards that supported their backs well. It is regrettable that the back line remained unstable throughout the season as a result of the players being called up to reinforce the 2nd XV, and could therefore not get down to any constructive team work.

The team started the season well by winning the first three matches. From there, however, the results fluctuated considerably. D. Mazaham, G. Marneweck and C. Carr played exceptionally well in the loose and they did some fine tackling. T. Stanley, at full back, showed tremendous kicking ability and was instrumental in the team’s hard-won victory over Observatory when he put over a drop kick in the dying minutes of the match. This was undoubtedly the best game played as the team was reduced to 14 men for the major part of the game due to C. Carr’s injury. St. David’s won this very exciting game by nine points to six.

Other games in which the team excelled were against St. John’s, which game was won by 16 points to three and that against Boys’ Town where the final tally was six points to three in St. David’s favour. The last match, against K.E.S., also proved a very exciting game. After leading on three occasions, the final result was in favour of K.E.S. by 19 points to 12.

On the whole it was a very enjoyable season. It was unfortunate that the team lacked the gift of team work.

Fourth XV

The 4th XV, under the captaincy of M. Giudici, was a good example of a team determined to play rugby for the sake of the game and not merely to win. That is possibly the reason why the team had such a successful season. Right from the beginning of the season the boys displayed a tremendous team spirit. The finest game was undoubtedly the match against Observatory in which the team recorded the superb victory of 24-0.

A newcomer to the game, D. Kershisnick, was an asset to the team and had spectators enthralled by his calculated side steps. It was unfortunate that he suffered a knee injury towards the end of the season. With more practice, he should become a fine player. Others that played consistently well were A. Ghodes, a good line-out man, C. Wright, who played very well at full back, S. Dickson and J. Martin.

U/15 A

The season began well with two fine victories, each by a margin of over 30 points. The team was fortunate in having no serious injury setbacks during the first half of the season. So with a fully fit team and an unbeaten record, at that stage, the team left for Natal to play the U/15A Rugby teams of St. Charles, Pietermaritzburg, and St. Henrys, Durban. The Rugby Tour was a great success both on and off the rugby field. We would like to thank Brother Anthony for allowing the tour to take place and also the Brothers of St. Charles and St. Henry's for making our stay so enjoyable.

The second half of the season was marred by a serious injury to D. Deeb who was undoubtedly one of the stars of the team. Two matches were lost during this part of the season. We lost to Marist Observatory 8-5 and to K.E.S. 8-5. Despite these setbacks the team finished the season with the good record of having played 14 matches of which 11 were won, 2 lost and one drawn. Further the team scored 270 points while only 40 points were scored against them. L. Saad was the top try scorer with 19 tries to his credit. He scored in every match except one — a truly commendable effort. The top points scorer was A. Ramsay who scored 89 points, all by means of conversions and penalty kicks.

The following players represented the U/15 A Rugby Team regularly during the season: P. McGurk (full-back); M. John (wing); D. Deeb (wing); P. Haggiyannes (second centre); L. Saad (first centre); R. Cattich (fly-half); C. Eb (scrum-half); A. Ramsay (prop); M. Maroun (prop); L. Kourie (hooker); G. Leath (flank); C. Rezek (flank); L. Raymond (lock); R. Harding (lock); T. van Heerden (8th man) who once again proved himself a very capable and popular captain. Others who played a few matches for the A team are K. Geraghty (full-back); P. Harrison (lock); P. Hambleton (wing).

Finally a word of thanks to our coach, Brother Timothy, who helped us to attain our good record.

U/15 B

The U/15 B Rugby Team had a good season winning 9 of the 12 matches played and losing 3. The team was ably captained by N. Christoforos who played in a number of positions during the season. N. Sprenger was the top scorer with A. Simmons close behind him. C. Cudmore, as a result of practice developed into quite a useful goalkicker. Despite the fact that they lived in the shadow of the A team they acquitted themselves very well.

The following represented the B Team during the season: K. Geraghty (full-back); W. Colton (wing); C. Rowlinson (wing and centre); P. Hambleton (wing); N. Sprenger (second centre); A. Simmons (first centre); C. Cudmore (fly-half); W. Kockott (scrum-half); A. Koch (prop); R. Small (prop); L. Ralphs (prop); N. Christoforos (hooker); S. Lardner-Burke (flank); P. Flanagan (flank); P. Harrison (lock); M. de Caires (lock); C. Shepstone (8th man).

U/14 A

The Under 14 "A" Rugby side, under the captaincy of M. Saad, had a very successful and enjoyable season. The strength of the team lay in the pack of forwards, who, although often handicapped by lack of weight and strength were always first on the loose ball, thus providing the back line with ample scoring opportunities.

Although the flank forward position gave us many a headache at the start of the season, N. Reith proved to be the most successful and enterprising of all the forwards. The front rank combination of P. Ruzzene, M. Jacob and M. Rumpelt was excellent in the tight if somewhat slow in the loose. Outstanding players in the lineout work were R. Rundell, L. Seelig and G. Boyes-Varley, while R. Khan excelled as lock and pack leader. A. Simaan played many a fine game in the scrum-half position feeding his fly-half, D. Schatz, who, in turn, kept his backline moving by his judicious kicking and sharp passing. R. Will and M. Saad at first and second centres respectively, were strong both in defence and in attack and rewarded the efforts of the team with long and thrilling runs, spectacular tries, and well-placed kicks between the uprights. De Pinna's speed was a great asset to the team, and we frequently saw him tearing along the touchline to score in the corner. I. Jones showed great courage and determination and his safe hands and boot for touch often saw us out of trouble. The victories over Parktown and K.E.S. were the highlights of the season.

U/13 A

Under the captaincy of Vincent O'Mahony, a keen spirit was generated. Much was learnt during the course of the season, several players in particular showing great promise: R. Eb (scrum-half), J. Kourie (fly-half), E. Deeb (flank), M. Sopas (wing), R. Adair (hooker), A. van den Handel (flank), A. Marneweck. O'Mahony at centre was the outstanding player of the rugby team. Others who earned places regularly were: G. Small, W. Benson, E. Nichas, G. Legator, D. Young, D. Parry (a very hard worker), J. Hildyard, K. Nicol (improved considerably at full-back) and A. Robinson (a very capable hooker).

Highlights of the season were victories against Jeppe and Marist Observatory. During the long week-end, we were hosts to the visiting team from St. Henry's. They played very well indeed, deserving to beat us 9-3.

Hockey

Great enjoyment was had by all ninety boys playing the internal league matches. Refereeing was done by the captains and vice-captains of the eight teams. The stickwork of most of the players had improved noticeably by the end of the term. Captains of the eight unusually-named teams were: J. Risi, C. Benson, M. Joseph, S. Gortana, S. Dickson, E. Macaulay,

D. Hussey and A. Nicol.

Two great upsets of the season: bottom of the league wins knock-out competition, and staff beat school prefects 1-0. The latter match drew many admiring spectators. Another social match was held against Rosebank Convent team. The boys emerged winners by 3 goals to 0.

McCourt League Trophy Winners: The Zolls (Captain: C. Benson).

Jarvis Knock-Out Trophy Winners: The Meds (Captain: M. Joseph).

Swimming

October — November 1969

A RAINY but successful swimming term was had. There was rain throughout all four galas. We won three of the four galas. We beat Jeppe, Parktown and Athlone but were again beaten by K.E.S.

January — March 1970

A good season got off to a flying start with three galas within six days. Congratulations to the team on winning six out of seven galas during the term and on the high standard of swimming attained.

Sincere congratulations go to Jeff Harrison on being chosen to swim for the Transvaal Swimming Team at the South African National Championships. He was also chosen to swim for the Transvaal Schools' Swimming Team at the Annual Inter-Provincial Schools' Tournament.

Congratulations to M. Richardson and S. Lardner-Burke who represented the Transvaal Life Saving Team in Bloemfontein.

Finally congratulations to the Open Relay Team which brought home the Trophy for the Boys' Inter-High Relay at the Annual North-Easterns' Club Swimming Gala.

Gala vs Jeppe — 4/2/70

The first inter-school gala was against Jeppe. The team swam extremely well winning all but three events. J. Harrison smashed the Open 100 yds Butterfly School Record with a time of 58.5". A. Gohdes swam a fine race to win the Open 500 yds Freestyle, G. Small, C. Zweigenthal and P. McCullagh in the U/13 Age Group swam well to win their first races for the Senior Swimming Team.

Final Result: Jeppe 77 points
St. David's 145 points

Gala vs Pretoria Boys' High — 7/2/70

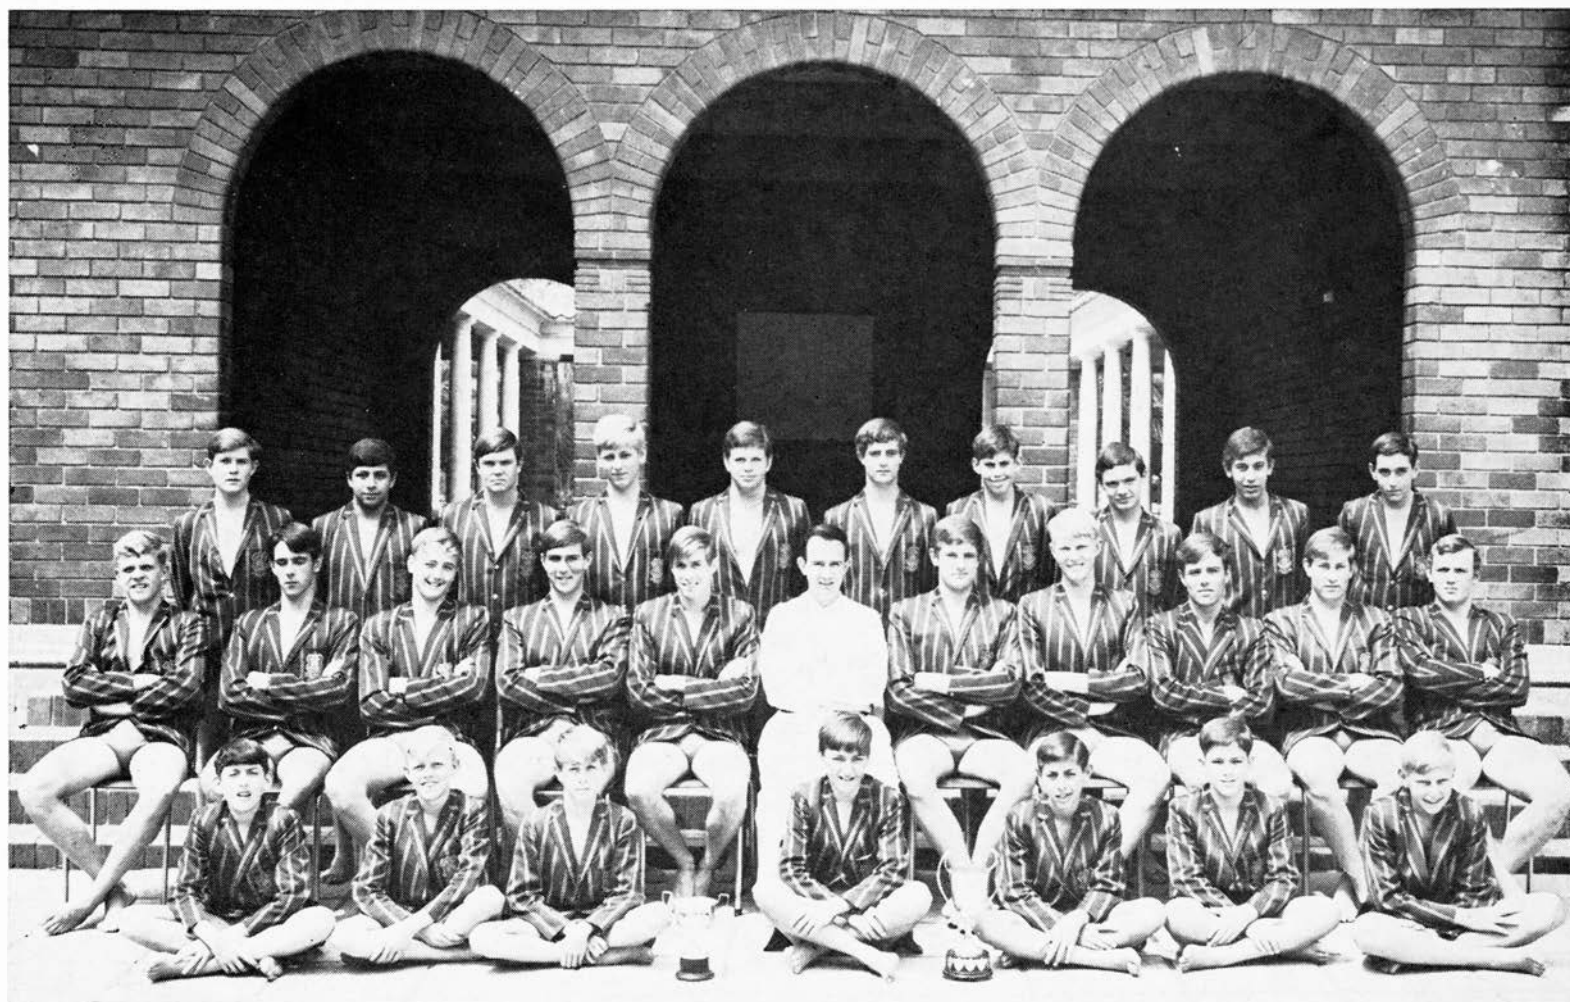

This was the first time that the two schools had met in an Inter-School Swimming Gala. J. Kourie in the U/13 Age group swam well to win both the Breaststroke and the Butterfly Events in his Age group. G. Marchant, G. Bush and G. Breslawsky also put up very good performances. As there were three competitors in each event for each school, a number of 'B' swimmers took part in the gala and put up very good performances.

Final Result: Pretoria Boys' High: 128 points
St. David's 203 points

Gala vs Parktown — 9/2/70

This was a very keenly contested gala with St David's gaining a narrow victory. Exciting races were swum by K. Ryan and N. Reith in the Open and U/14 events respectively. St David's won seven of the team relay races.

Final Result: Parktown 105 points
St David's 118 points

Gala vs K.E.S. — 23/2/70

Truly the most exciting gala of the season. Starting off with a pessimistic outlook, the team became more and more excited as St David's closed the points gap. Annual Swimming Gala vs Observatory — 8/3/70

This was an enjoyable gala with a very friendly spirit between the two schools. Cheered on by the entire Senior School, the Swimming Team scored a good victory over Observatory. Due to the fact that the gala was contested over the metric distances for the first time there were no new records established.

Final Result: Observatory 93½ points
St. David's 167½ points

Result of the Water Polo Match: Observatory 3 goals
St. David's 3 goals

Combined Gala: K.E.S. and Johannesburg Girl's High vs St. David's and Rosebank Convent

This was a very close and exciting gala. St. David's and Rosebank Convent trailed for most of the Gala. During the team events, however, St. David's and Rosebank Convent managed to pull up and eventually win by the narrow margin of one point. We would like to thank Rosebank Convent, in whose swimming pool the Gala took place, Johannesburg Girls' High and K.E.S. for a very enjoyable afternoon.

Final Result:

K.E.S. and Johannesburg Girls' High 156½ points
St. David's and Rosebank Convent 157½ points

TENNIS GOT OFF to a very shaky start this year with the First Team, comprising M. Raymond (Capt.), D. Mazaham (Vice), G. Seymour, N. Butcher, C. Mazaham and T. Finch, losing their first two matches.

Towards the end of the First Term the new tennis courts were completed and, after they were officially opened, an immediate interest in the game arose. In the first match played on the new courts we won 11-1 against Marists Observatory. As the season neared its end the team began to show signs of improvement and we ended up holding our position in the Second Division. Gary Seymour only lost one match during the second half of the season. Two newcomers to the team, D. Schatz and J. Kourie played well.

On Sunday, May 3rd, we held our Annual Tennis Championships. In the finals of the Open singles M. Raymond beat D. Mazaham and Raymond and Mazaham beat Butcher and Castle in the doubles. The Under 16 singles was won by C. Mazaham and the doubles by the O'Mahony brothers. A very interesting final took place between J. Kourie and G. Seymour in

Golf

Gary Seymour

At the beginning of each new school year a golf meeting is called and the school's golf enthusiasts join the Club. This year's membership was fairly large although the number of boys who actually played during the week was disappointing. The members were mainly boys from Stds 8,9 and 10 but there were two juniors, one from Std. 4 and the other from Std. 6.

Once again the Wanderers very kindly gave us the 'courtesy of the course' on Wednesday afternoons. L. Martens distinguished himself by shooting some very fine scores during the year and C. Eb played very consistently to his handicap. He was later cut from a 24 to an 18.

The result of the Knock-out Cup Championship and Fathers and Sons matches are, unfortunately, not available as some of them have still to be played or completed.

May next year bring an even greater membership to help promote this sport at St. David's.

Athletics Meeting vs Athlone — 12th August 1970

The team having been selected, we prepared for our first Meeting, which was against Athlone. Due to the windy conditions throughout the Meeting the times were not up to standard. M. Sopas, D. Deeb, V. O'Mahony, M. Saad, T. Maher and J. Williamson all did well to win two events. T. Marsay ran well in the 1500 Metres Open to establish a new School Record 4'15.0". M. Saad equalled the School Record of 12.2" in the 100 Metres U/14.

Result: Athlone 126 points
 St. David's 187 points

Annual Athletics Meeting vs Marist Observatory 22nd August 1970

The pre-contested events on Wednesday afternoon set the scene for a fine victory by St. David's. Of the 25 events contested St. David's won 19 events with a tie for first place in another event. The highlight of the afternoon was the new Inter-College Record established by T. Marsay in the Cross Country. His new time was 19'40.4". After the pre-contested events we had a lead of 40 points.

TIMOTHY MARSAY (Athletics Captain)

Congratulations to Timothy Marsay on being chosen to represent Southern Transvaal in two cross-country events. Running for Southern Transvaal against Western Transvaal, Eastern Transvaal and the O.F.S., Timothy took sixth place. Likewise, in a field of eighty-five in the South African Cross Country Championships at Welkom, he also finished sixth.

On Saturday afternoon, well supported by the Senior School, the Athletes ran well to increase this lead considerably. The outstanding performances of the afternoon were by C. Dalton who ran the 100 Metres Open in 10.9", a new School Record, and by J. Hildyard who equalled the School Record of 12.7" for the 100 Metres U/13. The Open Relay Team established a new School Record of 44.1" for the 4x100 Metres Relay Open.

Combined Marist vs K.E.S. — 2nd September 1970

For this Athletics Meeting the conditions were perfect, the competition keen and, as it proved, the most closely contested Meeting of the season. Combined Marist set up a good lead early on during the Meeting, but as the afternoon passed K.E.S. slowly closed the gap and eventually won by the small margin of 4 points. Congratulations to K.E.S.

There were some fine performances during the afternoon. The most outstanding was, however by M. Saad who broke his own record of 12.1" by 0.3". His new School Record is 11.8". The U/14 Relay Team also established a new School Record of 48.6" in the 4 x 100 Metres Relay U/14. Other good performances were by W. Castle, 51.6", in the 400 Metres Open, D. This year the Cadets have again been a success. In the Central zone competition we were highly commended on our standard of dress. This was a tribute to Mrs. M. Moni who devoted a tremendous amount of time and energy to ensure that our turn-out was always spick and span.

Hoarse voices and strained tempers were prevalent prior to the school Inter-platoon competition; the S.O's and N.C.O's slaved during breaks and after school to put the finishing touches to their platoons.

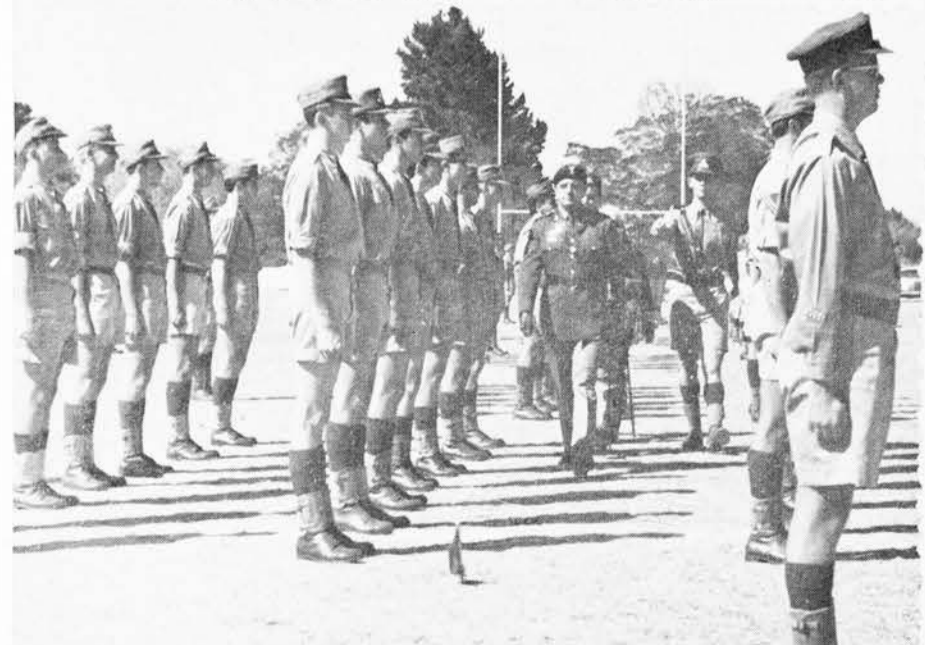

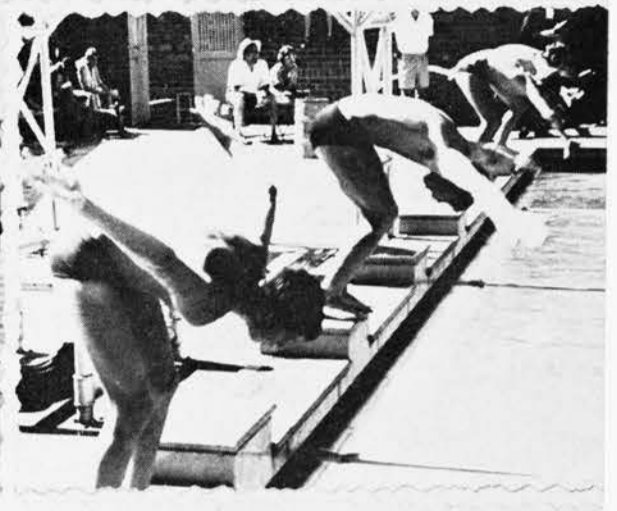

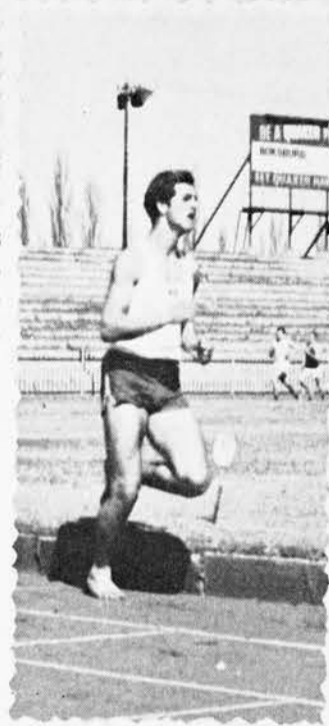

On the morning of Saturday, 29th August, the Inter-platoon competition took place. We were disappointed at the poor interest on the part of the parents. However, this did not prevent the cadets from setting a high standard of marching and drill.

Congratulations to A. Chemaly who was awarded the Best Student Officer's Trophy. The award for the Best Platoon on parade went to S.O. M. Raymond's Squad, which consisted mainly of boys from Standard 7; a creditable performance, since this was their first year of cadet training. Well done, B4 Platoon!

Following the Inter-platoon competition, and after a tea interval, the Battalion assembled on the parade ground for the passing out parade. Commandant Fletcher of Witwatersrand Command inspected the troops, accompanied by his aid de camp, Captain Schultz, the O.C. Wits. Cadets.

Our vote of thanks is due to Mrs. M. Moni and Mr. T. Rhodes for their help and assistance at all times.

Cadet band

The Cadet Band was rather disappointing this year, both in enthusiasm shown and the results achieved. In preparation for the Inter-School Band Competition, however, frequent practices were held during the last two weeks of the second term. This left us with only one week in the third term, in which to brush up the music and iron out the weaknesses.

On the morning of the 6th August, twelve bands assembled at Athlone Boys High for the annual competition. St. David's came 6th, J. Moni achieving 3rd position as drum major and R. Milne being judged 5th best bugler.

We take this opportunity of thanking Mesdames M. Moni and B. Meyer for their untiring and ceaseless devotion. They are to be congratulated on the smart turn-out of the cadets, not only at the Inter-School Cadet and Band Competitions, but also at any public function where the band paraded.

We would also like to extend a vote of thanks to Mr. Rhodes, who assisted with the marching and music.

art exhibition

Our Annual Art Exhibition was held on Prize-giving Day. The Boarders' Dining Room, with its austere, monastic appearance, became (as in a dream) a 'Louvre' in miniature. The walls were filled to capacity with the works of budding Van Goghs, Da Vincis and Rembrandts. The standard of work achieved by the Junior School was very high and all deserve to be praised.

The Senior Boys entered several compositions, but these were not as varied nor of as high a standard as in previous years. Their works included creations in oil, pastel and charcoal.

Mr. Cecil Skotnes, South African sculptor and artist and President of the S.A. Arts Council, honoured us with his presence. He again adjudicated the exhibits this year and awarded the prizes as follows:

Riding club

Grade A. with promotional diplomas and colours. Each boy is tested at the end of the term and a report of his progress and ability is sent to parents.

Apart from riding, the Club has lectures, outings and Film shows on Horses.

Mr. Micky Louw has given a talk on his riding experiences in England and Europe. The boys were taken to watch the International Polo Tournament, the Indoor Horse Show and the Rothman's Jumping Derby.

At the end of the third term the Club held a non-graded show at the school. This consisted of jumping and gymkhana events. Twenty-eight boys took part, and easily held their own against outside competitors.

The Riding Club boys obtained places in the following events.

THE INTEREST and enthusiasm shown in riding during the year has been most encouraging. The number of boys riding has now risen from twenty to forty seven.

During the first term the boys were taught by Mr. Rick Merrit at the Valhalla Stables. As Mr. Merrit could only take the Club on Sundays it was decided to make a change, and thus enable more boys to ride.

Since the Second Term the boys have been riding during the week at the Inanda Stables and instructed by Mr. Patrick Kaye, B.H.S.I. The boys ride in graded classes (according to their ability) from beginners to

The Gymkhana events were well supported and again the Riding Club did extremely well, taking many first, second and third places.

Due to the success of this show it has been decided that this shall become an annual event. Two cups will be awarded annually, one to the best Rider, and the other to the boy who has made the most progress.

On behalf of the Committee I should like to thank the School, parents and boys for their interest and support given during 1970.

Matric Dance

Reflected in the paintings were not only scenes of Venice, but also the hard work of the Matric Students. Three days before the dance the boarders dining-room was turned into a flurry of paint and hot, hardworking humans beings.

At 8 p.m. on Thursday, 25th June, we found ourselves dining at 'La Dolce Vita' overlooking the skyline of Venice. The 'Time-Piece' began playing and it was John Moni's privilege to open the dance with the traditional waltz. Soon after everyone was swaying rythmatically to the strains of the band.

The feature of the evening was the presentation of five Rugby Scrolls.

Spirits remained high as the evening drew to a close and everybody was more than ready to go to bed as we filed out of Venice into the cold Inanda air.

We would like to thank the Matric Mothers who worked so hard preparing the delicious food and Br. Bernard who spent much of his free time helping with the more artistic work.

ST. JOSEPH'S GUILD

The St. Joseph's Guild in the Junior School, has again proved very active in raising monies, and collecting food and clothing for Charity. At weekly meetings, ways and methods by which the boys can "lend a helping hand" are suggested and discussed.

A visit to the Moroka Mission at the beginning of June proved very interesting as well as enlightening. It did much to stir up emotions of sympathy towards those who do not enjoy the good things that are taken so much for granted.

An annual collection at the end of each year for "St. Theresa's Guild for the Blind" is undertaken by the St. Joseph's Guild to assist the African Blind.

At all times there is a spirit of willingness and enthusiasm, which makes work with the Guild pleasant and gratifying.

The story of Billy

(One of the poor boys at Orlando East helped by Mrs. Napier and her Std. II Class.)

By the Sister-in-charge
Orlando East.

I was stunned! Everything had been taken from me, even my mother. Why she had to die after such a short time with me I shall never be able to understand. I was only nine years old and many other children have their mothers until they are grown-up. But there I was, completely alone in the world, at the age of nine.

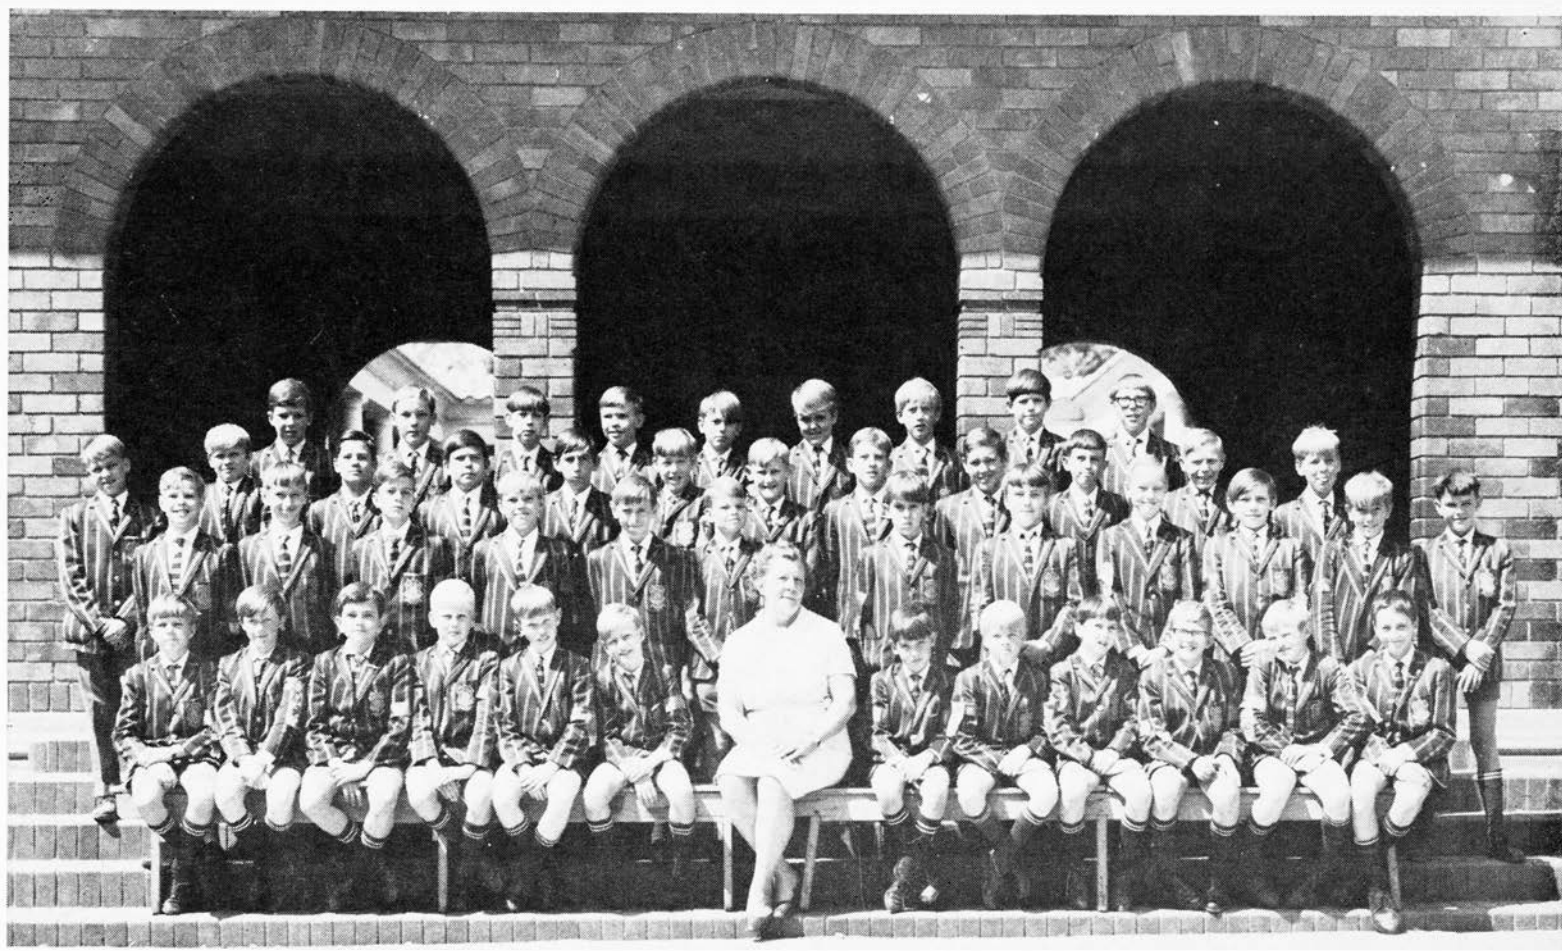

People began to refer to me as 'Billy, the orphan'. I didn't know if I really was an orphan because an orphan is one who has no parents. I had never known my father, perhaps he is still alive. My mother had never spoken about him.

I don't remember what happened during those days following my mother's death. All I know is that I was packed off to Orlando East to someone who claimed to be my aunt. We had never set eyes on one another before. She was a homely type of woman but I sensed that she was living in fear. It was only after some time that I realised that she was terrified of the man with whom she was living. To me he was a complete mystery and he never spoke to me unless he was angry. He worked in the city and seemed to earn quite a good salary judging by his clothes and the amount he drank. My aunt and I saw very little of his earnings.

A year passed and my 'uncle' decided that I should go to school and be educated so that I would be able to help him in his 'old age' which, from what I could gather, was to begin the moment I had passed Std. VI. Off I went to the St. John Berchman's School. When my mother was alive I had completed Std. I so I started in Std. II. I hated school those first few months. My 'uncle' screamed at me because I was rather dull, but sometimes I was too tired to learn after one of my 'uncle's' drinking bouts or too hungry to concentrate. Then there was the anxiety about school fees. I was too ashamed of my home life to confide in anyone. I knew that the teachers had to be paid from the school fees and still I could not persuade my 'uncle' to give me that one rand each month. In silence I accepted the scoldings and reminders at school. I tried to excuse my 'family' by saying that I had lost the money but I soon ran out of excuses.

I guess God was looking after me during those lonely months for suddenly no one asked me for the school fees any more. Months passed and there were still no enquiries. With this worry almost off my mind and the free feeding which we received at school, my studies improved.

One day curiosity got the better of me and I enquired from the Sisters as to why I was not paying school fees. I felt like crying with gratitude when I was told that a teacher and her class of boys at Inanda had adopted me and were paying for my education. Suddenly I felt like singing and telling the whole world. At last I had found some people who thought that I was important, who cared for me, who loved me and who were willing to sacrifice something of what they had so that I could be like the other boys at school. May God bless them and others like them who remember Christ's words "Whatever you do to the least of my little ones that you do unto Me."

The Cake Sale

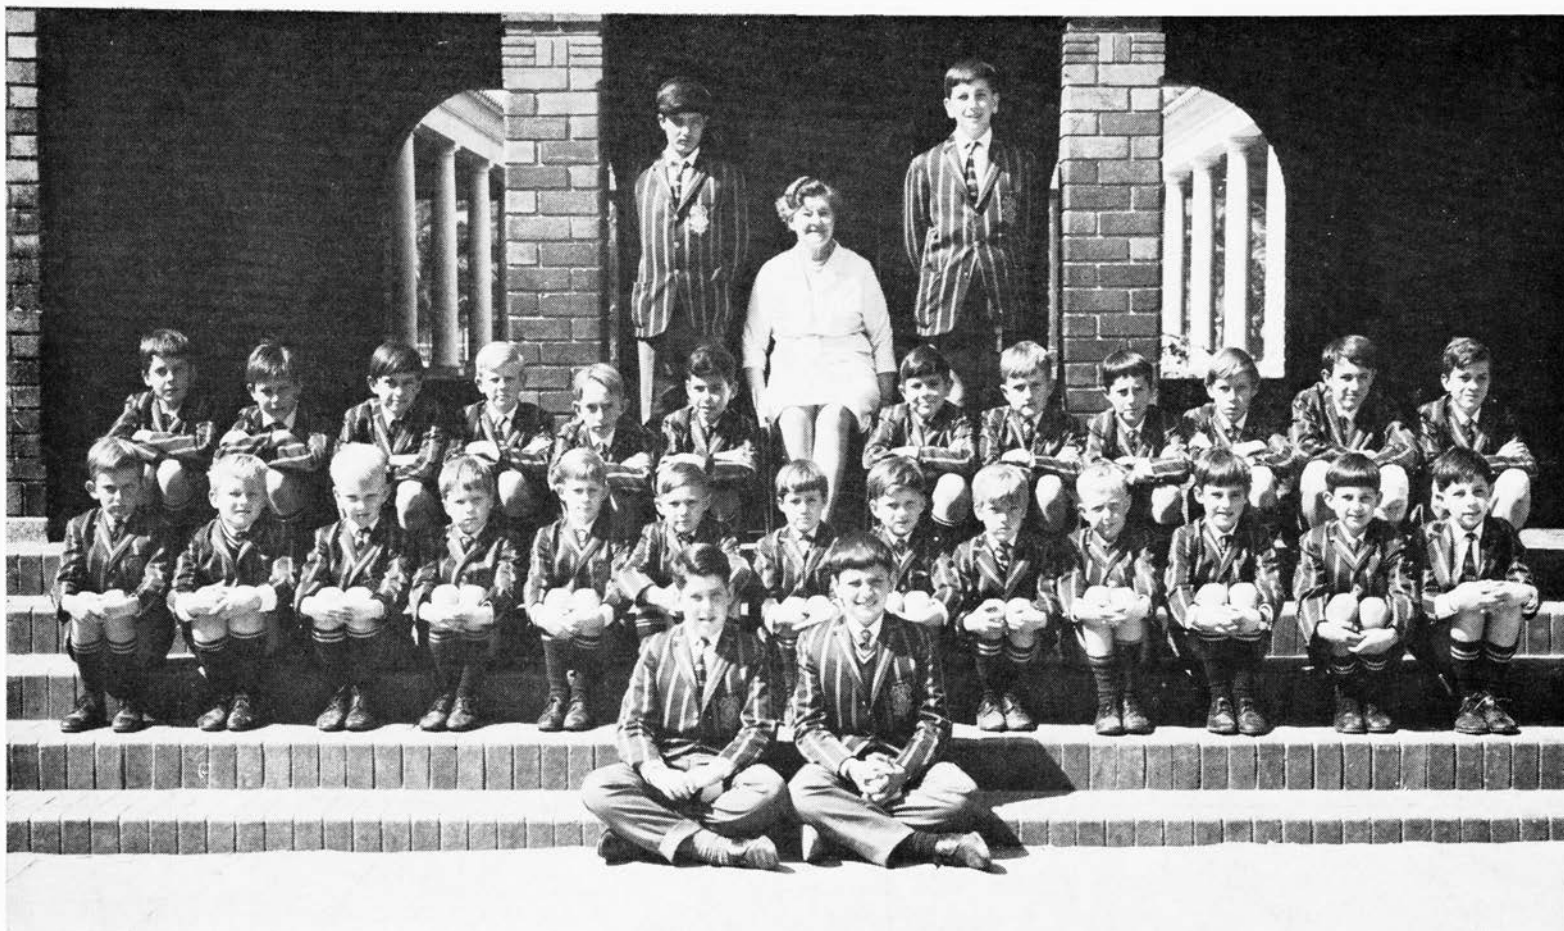

A very successful Cake Sale took place at the end of April. The purpose of the sale was to raise money for Charity. The two Standard V classes were responsible for providing the good things to eat, and the other classes of the Junior School did their share by supporting the Sale, and purchasing all that was offered.

A satisfactory amount was collected, and the effort was enjoyed both by sellers and buyers. A word of thanks is due to all parents who provided cakes etc., without whom there would have been no Sale.

Grades Outing

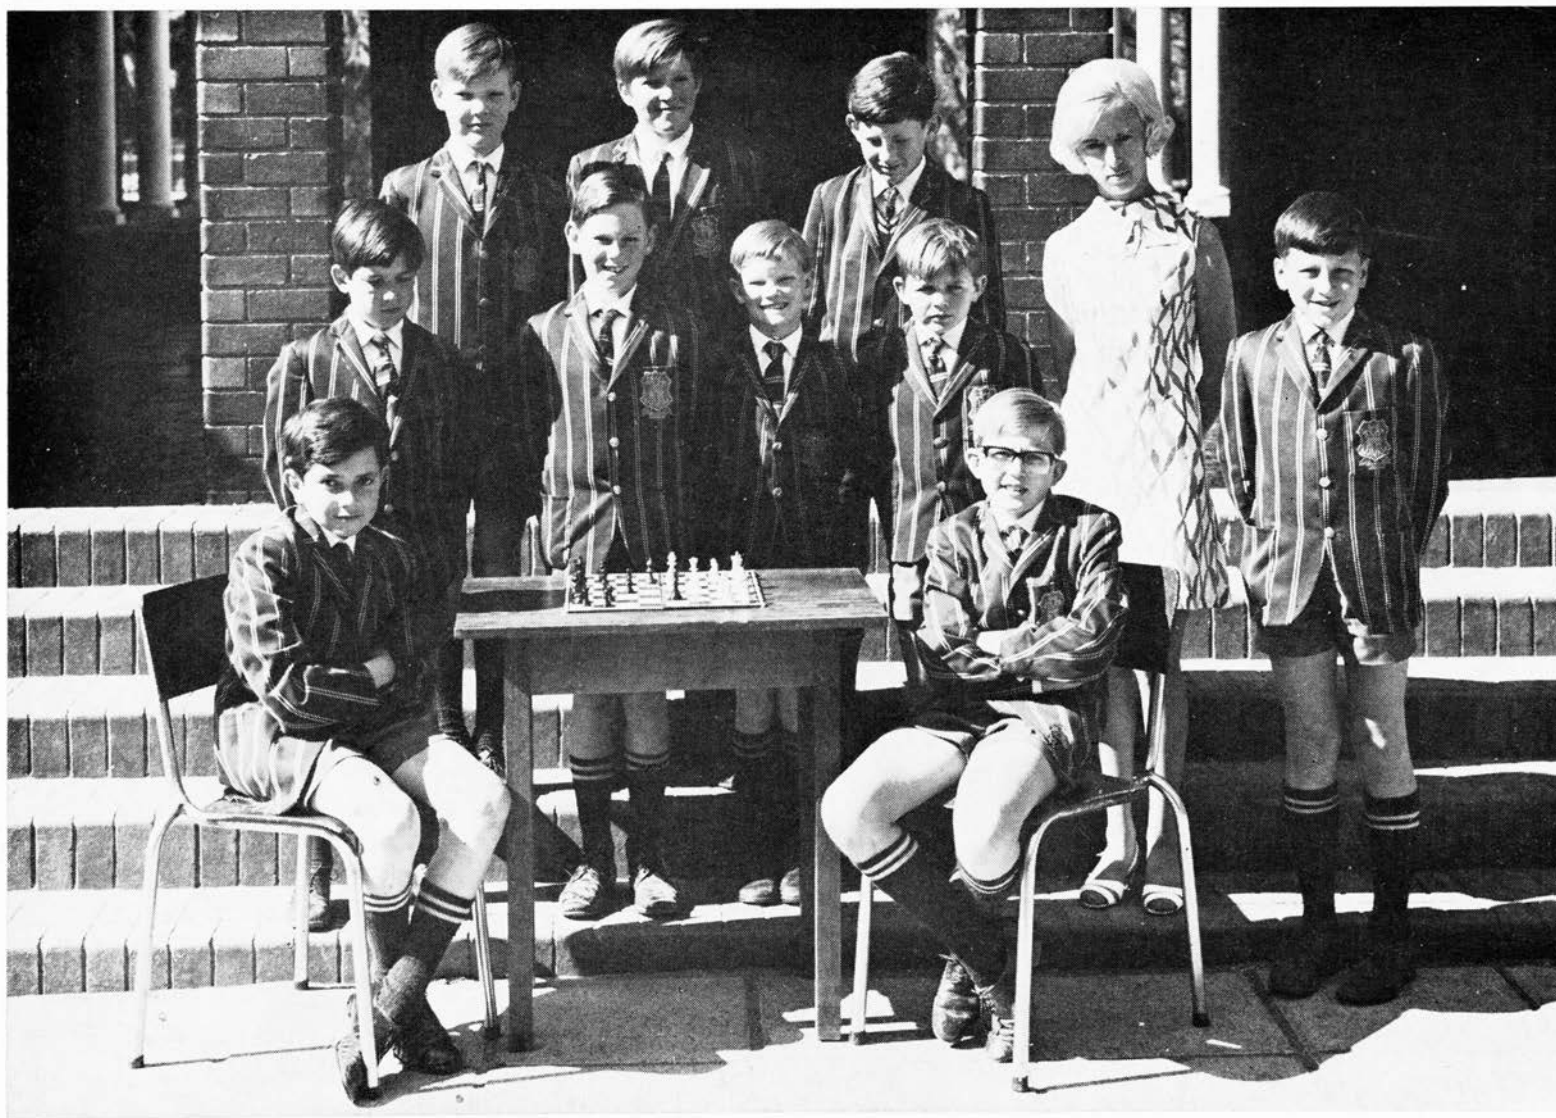

On Wednesday 29th April, 1970 Grade I and II were taken in our school bus on a delightful outing to Debbie's Wonderland, just passed Halfway House. This is really a child's paradise, bringing Nursery Rhyme characters and Enid Blyton's famous "Noddy" stories to reality.

Our little "Minis" were certainly enthralled and the outing was much enjoyed by all.

The Doll in the Pond by Leon de Gouveia Std. I

Once upon a time there was a little girl who was having a birthday. Her mother and father bought her a doll and a pram.

One day she went for a walk with her doll to the park. Suddenly her pram hit a stone and her doll fell into the pond. She started to cry. Her dog heard her crying and he jumped into the pond and got the doll out of the water. She went home and gave her dog a big bone.

The Tour of the I.B.M. Centre in South Africa

by Leslie Perlman Std. IV

At approximately 9 a.m. our school bus left St. David's for a tour of the I.B.M. Centre, South Africa. Slowly we wended our way through the heavy city traffic to our destination which was Annuity House, 18 Rissik Street, Johannesburg.

When we reached the I.B.M. Centre it was just past half-past nine. We were whisked to the eighth floor where we were met by Mr. Richmond. He then showed us into the film and lecture room. We were shown two films about computers. The first film was on how computers work and the second one dealt with computer programming. Most people think that working with a computer is a "piece of cake", but it is much harder to programme a computer than to get the answer out of it.

The two lectures were very interesting and dealt mainly about the components of computers. Mr. Richmond also talked about making them smaller and easier to transport. When he had finished his lectures he bade us goodbye.

We then made our way to the I.B.M. Data Centre which was about four blocks away from Annuity House. We were met by two gentlemen who were to show us around. They split us up into groups and took us through the Data Centre. The first group went to the lower section and the second group to the upper section. The computer in the lower section was working on a report for Caltex Garages Incorporated. Everybody enjoyed the computer that was programmed to play Noughts and Crosses, play "Anchors Away", draw Snoopy and the Virgin Mary. All of the Standard IV class agreed that it was a most enjoyable excursion.

The Visit to the Computer Centre

The visit to the I.B.M. Computer Centre proved both interesting and beneficial.

The film explanation, as an introduction, was simple and enlightening, and brought one to realize the vast potentials of the Computer System.

The practical demonstration was really something worthwhile seeing. The amount of work with which the computer copes in so little time, the maze of wires, etc. was almost unbelievable, and left one in wonder of the achievements of Science.

Although the visit may have been beyond the comprehension of some of the pupils, it nevertheless gave them an insight into the value of their Maths.

It certainly did leave them amazed at the enormous figures which were quoted to them, and amused by some of the answers which the Computer gave to their questions.

My Visit to the I.B.M. Centre

By Michael Whitbread Std. IVa

On Friday at nine o'clock we went to the computer centre in our school bus. When we arrived there we went up to the fourteenth floor and turned left into the I.B.M. Centre.

We sat down and a man spoke to us about computers and how they work and especially about features we would see. He switched off the lights and we looked at the screen. In the film we saw a sketch of how the computer worked. First it reads the information which is then stored in its 'Brain'. It then adds the result and prints the answer. This is called a programme. Computers are very useful machines which only work to Base Two.

After the film the gentleman took us to see the actual computers. We were divided into two groups and I first went to the printing section. The computer sang a song and then drew Snoopy. After this it played Noughts and Crosses.

We waited for the school bus to fetch us and went back to school. I enjoyed my tour of the I.B.M. Centre very much.

The Pirate

by R. Miller Std. III

His beard was long and he had a small black patch over one of his eyes. He had a salty, blue and white striped shirt and his enormous nails grasped the stained telescope. On his head he had a black, three-cornered hat. He had a cutlass hanging at his side and a pistol stuck into his belt. He wore a sea captain's coat and he walked with a limp. The buttons on his coat were rusty. His ragged hair looked filthy and his good eye darted back and forth watching the working sailors.

Lakeside Adventure

by Jeremy Garratt Std. Va

A business man goes to the Lake District with a few of his friends. They are Clarke Johnson, Henry Melvin and Joseph McKlarrie.

They all take the train to a small town called Window-Town where the temperature never comes above 60! They go to a small public house of the seventeenth century called the "Blue Whale". Hanging on the roof is a large skeleton of a pike, but missing from this pike are its jaws. We are taken up to a small cosy-looking room overlooking the lake.

My friends, Joseph and Henry, go down to the lake to have a look around. They meet a fisherman by the name of Taddy McColery who tells them that quite a few lives have been lost in this area. Henry becomes curious. They come back to the Inn and we ask the barman why the jaws are missing from the pike. He says, "One night a burglar stole into the pub and stole the jaws. Ever since they have gone there have been quite a few brutal murders". Joseph rushes across the road to get a newspaper and written on this paper in bold, black print is CONVICT ESCAPED by the name of TADITH MCCOLERY.

Joseph and Henry become very suspicious of the happenings in the area. They do not tell Clark because this is his vacation. The next morning Clark gets up and says that he is going for a swim and asks if anyone is coming with him. Both Henry and Joseph are too sleepy. Clark goes down to the lake and says hello to Taddy but Taddy rushes off into the woods. Clark dives into the lake and suddenly a pair of jaws without a body come towards him and brutally kill him.

When Clark does not return for dinner Joseph and Henry instantly become suspicious of Taddy McColery but, on reading the newspaper, they find that Taddy McColery has been found dead at the side of the water. They rush down to the lake and see Clark's body floating on the water. The ghost of Taddy appears out of the water with a pair of jaws in its hands.

Dear Mrs. Kempster,

I am so sorry to hear that you are sick. I really do miss you very much.

In the July holidays I went to Rhodesia. I first went to a sugar farm and then to a tobacco farm. The temperature at Kariba Lake was over 101 degrees. You can go on a boat and there are waves on Kariba Lake. There is a hotel right on the beach. It was really very pleasant.

I hope you get better soon.

My New Puppy

My father and mother bought me a new puppy for my birthday. I called him Spotty. He looks like a ball of fluff. He has a stripe down his back. He has long drooping ears and a short stumpy tail.

He sleeps in a basket on a warm blanket. I give him porridge in the morning and meat at night. He has a bowl of water. I like him very much and I like to play with him.

The Witch

by Allan Reeves Std. III

She had grey hair, green eyes, and a long, pointed nose. She was wearing a ragged, black coat with a pointed, little cap, the same colour as the black coat. Her shoes were dark brown with green stripes. Her nails were long and very pointy. Her face was thin and dirty. Her teeth stuck out like a monster's. She had a black cat on her shoulder.

There goes Walter down the hole.

Fire

by Simon Foy Std. III

Crack! Bang! Pop!
Fire on the top,
Quickly! Quickly!
Make the fire stop.
On through the day,
The fire burns away,
On through the night,
Fight! Fight! Fight!
Splash! Splash! Splash!
Flash! Flash! Flash!
Out of the hose the water flows,
Down goes the fire and out it goes.

Wildlife

by John Flanagan Std. V

We were having a holiday in the Kruger National Park. After seeing many herds of impala, giraffe and zebra we finally reached our destination, Olifants Camp. We were only going to stay there for one night but that night and the following day I shall never forget.

After sorting out our accommodation, we had a shower and freshened ourselves from our sweaty, sticky drowsiness. I felt like a new person with the ice-cold water pounding on my skin. After showering we wandered over to the observation platform where we watched great herds come to drink. Then, suddenly, through our binoculars we saw a leopard slowly and cautiously creeping up on a family of steenbuck. The steenbuck drinking the water were quite unaware of the danger they were in. With a sudden burst of speed, there was one satisfied leopard and a dead steenbuck. We did not know, but this was only the start of the sights in store for us.

After a pleasant meal we sat on the seat outside our huts and listened to the sound of the animals and insects, occasionally gazing through the binoculars to which we had fitted infra-red fittings. We sat for about half-an-hour. Suddenly we heard a terrific screaming. On investigating we found that the noise was being made by two hippos who were fighting. Most hippo fights last through the night and this was no exception. After watching for about an hour we were told to go to bed. I lay in my bed but could not get to sleep as I was listening intensely, wondering what pain they were enduring whilst lashing each other with their long, razor-sharp teeth. Early next morning I went out to see which of the two had lost the fight but all that could be seen was a mass of vultures.

The journey down to Lower Sabie was also very interesting as we saw two lion kills, a family of cheetah and, best of all, two fighting bull elephants. For hours they battled on, pounding each other with their giant tusks. It was a fight to the death. The old bull lost and the herd had a new leader.

I realize now how lucky we were to have seen so much and that is why I shall never forget those few days in the Kruger National Park.

A Lakeside Adventure

by Andrew Melton Std. Va

One stormy night as I was walking by a lake which led to my friend's house, a dark shape loomed up and I found that it was a mansion. I thought I might as well go in and stay the night as it was a long way still to go to my friend. I decided to go upstairs and make a fire in the main bedroom but the more I tried to climb the stairs some uncanny force would pull me back. I was frightened and gave up. I went into the diningroom and saw an old coat hanging on a hook. I made up a fire and went to get some more sticks and when I came back I saw that the coat had been moved and that it had a large hole as big as a penny in it. However, I did not worry.

I slowly sipped the tea I had made and settled down for the night. Just as I was dozing off I heard an evil cackle which was as eerie and uncanny as the mysterious house. Around the corner of the room came the coat. Its arms were outstretched towards my throat and, as I pressed against the wall, my hand felt something cold. It was the poker. I picked it up and threw it at the evil coat. It fell, but only for a moment. I fled out of the front door and kept running until I had reached my friend's house. I told my friend all that had happened and he told me that nobody thereabouts would go into the mansion not even for a million pounds.

A Railway Station at Midday

by Jeremy Garratt Std. Va

I have been in Birmingham with my Aunt. Now I must return to my home in London. I look at the scenery. It is very pleasant but begins to become thickly populated. Soon we are on the outskirts of London, approaching Hammersmith. The population becomes heavier, and soon we are in the heart of London. The train stops at Kings Cross Station. I get out of the train and work my way through the busy crowd of beggars, tramps, train-drivers, porters, engineers and passengers. I eventually arrive at the cafeteria where I eat my lunch of sandwiches, a bun and tea. While I eat my food I observe the station.

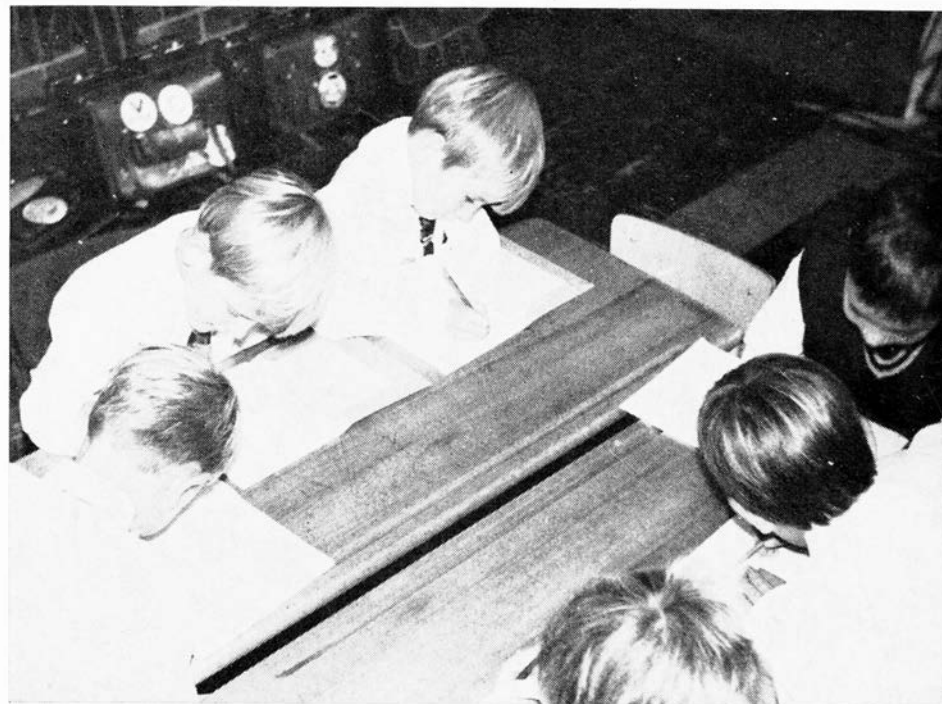

People are dashing around, some with cigarettes and cigars. Midday is the busiest time at Kings Cross. Porters dash around with their trolleys and you hear sounds of "Hey!" as they bump into ladies and "Sorry mem!" in apologetic tones. There is a smell of cigarettes and cigars, the air is stuffy, the smell of fish and chips is floating around and I hear sounds of children saying "Oh daddy! I want to eat I'm hungry!" People are rushing around in an awful hurry. London business men are dashing to and fro. The ticket collector looks depressed from adding up so many figures. A few sneaky boys rush past the collector without paying. Taxis, cars and buses are all waiting for exhausted passengers.

A big private train draws up and there is an almost perfect silence on the platform. Suddenly the big door opens, a man lays down a clean red carpet, a gangway is made and Queen Elizabeth II walks to a beautiful, shiny Rolls Royce sedan and drives off to Buckingham Palace. Soon after this my father comes to collect me.

My Life as a Tree

by D. J. Thomas Std. III

If you go down to the Knysna Forests you will see some Stinkwood trees which look just like I did twenty years ago.

I lived there as well for many, many years. Elephants used to roam about and try to push me over, but I was too strong. Creepy, crawly snakes crawled all over my lovely branches.

One day woodcutters came to cut me down and I was hauled to the saw-mills. There I was cut into logs and then they started working on me. Soon, I was a most magnificent table worth hundreds of rands. I was so beautiful that the Prime Minister bought me for his own house. That is where I stand today.

Kings and Queens and members of the Government have dined from me. Sometimes I wish to be back in the forest, but I am very proud to be where I am.

Midday at a Railway Station

by Mark Backer Std. Va

A railway station, especially a big one, is always busy, but I think that one of the busiest times is at midday when all the mothers are coming home from their shopping in town to have their lunch. The atmosphere is friendly and noisy as the midday express roars through the station. You can hear the cheery shouts of "Cheerio Bob! See you after lunch!" as the railway men knock off.

When the local train comes in there is the usual pushing and shoving to get on, but, at last, the guards shout "All doors closed!" and, with a wave of his flag, the train steams out of the station.

If the weather is sunny the atmosphere on the station is very pleasant, but if it is rainy and windy it is utterly miserable and couldn't be worse as people hurry for shelter under umbrellas and raincoats.

The Tortoise

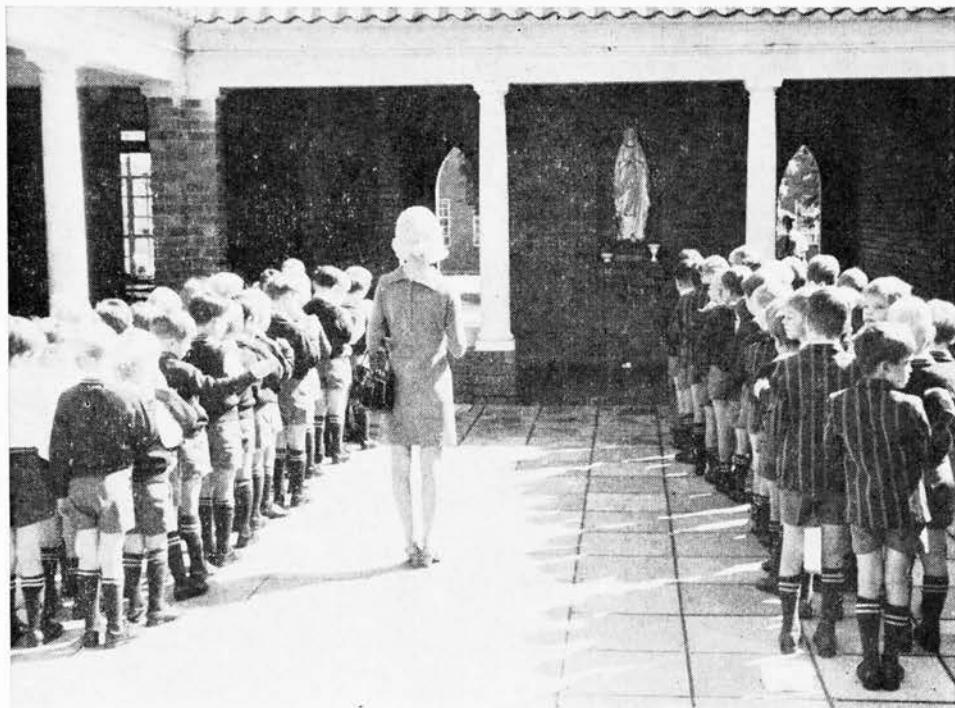

by P. Keegan Std. II

I am a reptile and am related to the turtle. I am sluggish and long-lived, found in all places except where it is cold.

I have an upper and under shell, joined at the sides. I am able to withdraw my head, tail and my legs for my own protection. I am able to go for long periods without food and will live for months after my brain.

My shell is made for making combs, rims for spectacles and many fancy things.

This side had a fairly successful season and at times played very attractive football. The main weakness of the team was the lack of goal-scoring ability on occasions when one goal would have made the difference between success and failure. J. Morrison, captain, and M. Peel covered much ground in mid-field and G. Heatley scored some delightful goals towards the end of the season.

Gymnastics

In the 5th Primary Schools Gymnastic Competition, Glen Mason, a Grade Two boy, won the Debutante Section.

This qualified him for the Southern Transvaal Gymnastic Team, which competed at Welkom, O.F.S. in the S.A. Primary Schools Championships. Glen competed in the Debutante Section against boys from all four Provinces in the Republic. There were approximately sixty competitors in each section and Glen won again. He received the highest marks in the Southern Transvaal's Team Debutante Section. Glen is trained by the Wanderers' Club.

Swimming

The Lower Primary School Gala

Sunday, 8th February, dawned bright and sunny to everyone's relief, as this was the day that the Lower Primary Gala was being held.

Hordes of excited boys arrived at school donned in swimming costumes, blazers and caps and, most important of all, their brightly coloured rosettes and streamers.

Feeling rather apprehensive, the Mini-Marists led the procession into the swimming bath enclosure to the gay strains of music over the loudspeaker.

Proud parents, particularly those of Grade I boys, rushed hither and thither to get cine and slide shots of their son's performance in tube, splash and swimming races.

As always, the organisation of the gala was superb and within two hours parents, teachers, officials and boys were soothing aching throats around the tea tables.

The Upper Primary Swimming Gala

The Upper Primary Swimming Gala had a very good turn-out. Excited schoolboys marched on to the stands around the swimming bath. All wore some colourful indication of where they had placed their loyalty — Benedict, Bishops, College or Osmond. Many parents joined their sons and wore the colour of their particular House.

Tension mounted as the swimmers were lined up in age groups for the races. The atmosphere became electric as the boys stepped on to the diving blocks. The time-keepers looked at their stopwatches in serious concentration. The starter poised his gun in the air and, with a tremendous bang and a splash, the swimmers were off.

The House cheerleaders shouted to their members and the air was rent with the yells of ecstatic schoolboys. All became calm as the swimmers climbed out of the pool.

By mid-afternoon tea was served to parents and officials by the Ladies Catering Committee and a very grand spread it was too.

The afternoon ended with the Relay Races, probably the most exciting of the events. Many boys must have gone home with sore throats. Very soon it was all over. The cups were handed out and College was announced the winning House. Brother Anthony and Mrs Kempster addressed the pupils and parents and congratulated the winners. As the sun began to set streams of tired but happy parents and schoolboys could be seen wending their way homewards.

Inter-School Junior Swimming

Mrs. V. Kempster

Two teams were entered this season to take part in the Primary Schools Swimming League. Both the 'A' and 'B' teams gave good account of themselves during the first half of the season. In the 'A' League there was strong opposition but St. David's, together with Rosebank Convent, managed to hold their own.

The Regional Gala was held at Paterson Park and, for the second year in succession, St. David's, together with Rosebank Convent, took first place.

Five of our boys and two as reserves were chosen to swim for Area 2 at the Inter-Area Gala at Ellis Park. The boys all swam well and congratulations go to Simon Kingsley-Jones for winning two Gold Certificates.

Congratulations too to Paul Napier-Jameson for winning the 10 years and Under, 100 meter Breaststroke, at the South African Age Group 'Champion of Champions' Gala held in Durban in April.

A big 'thank-you' to Mr. Kingsley-Jones who has given so much of his time to train our teams.

Tennis

1970 heralded the erection of five new tennis courts, very much needed here at Inanda. Since the beginning of the year there has been a marked improvement in the standard of tennis and on a Tuesday afternoon we have, at least, forty Standard I's and II's who are keen to learn.

Our Junior League is going very well. Two teams have been entered and our results are rewarding. Besides the teams, other boys play for enjoyment and by next year the numbers should have doubled.

The Annual School Championships were held in May and, for the first time in many years, the day was warm and sunny. Having five courts, there was a court for each age group with the result that the Prizegiving was held in the afternoon. It was a pleasure to see so many parents in attendance.

A Tennis Committee of teachers and parents has also been formed and by next year we should have a full tennis programme.

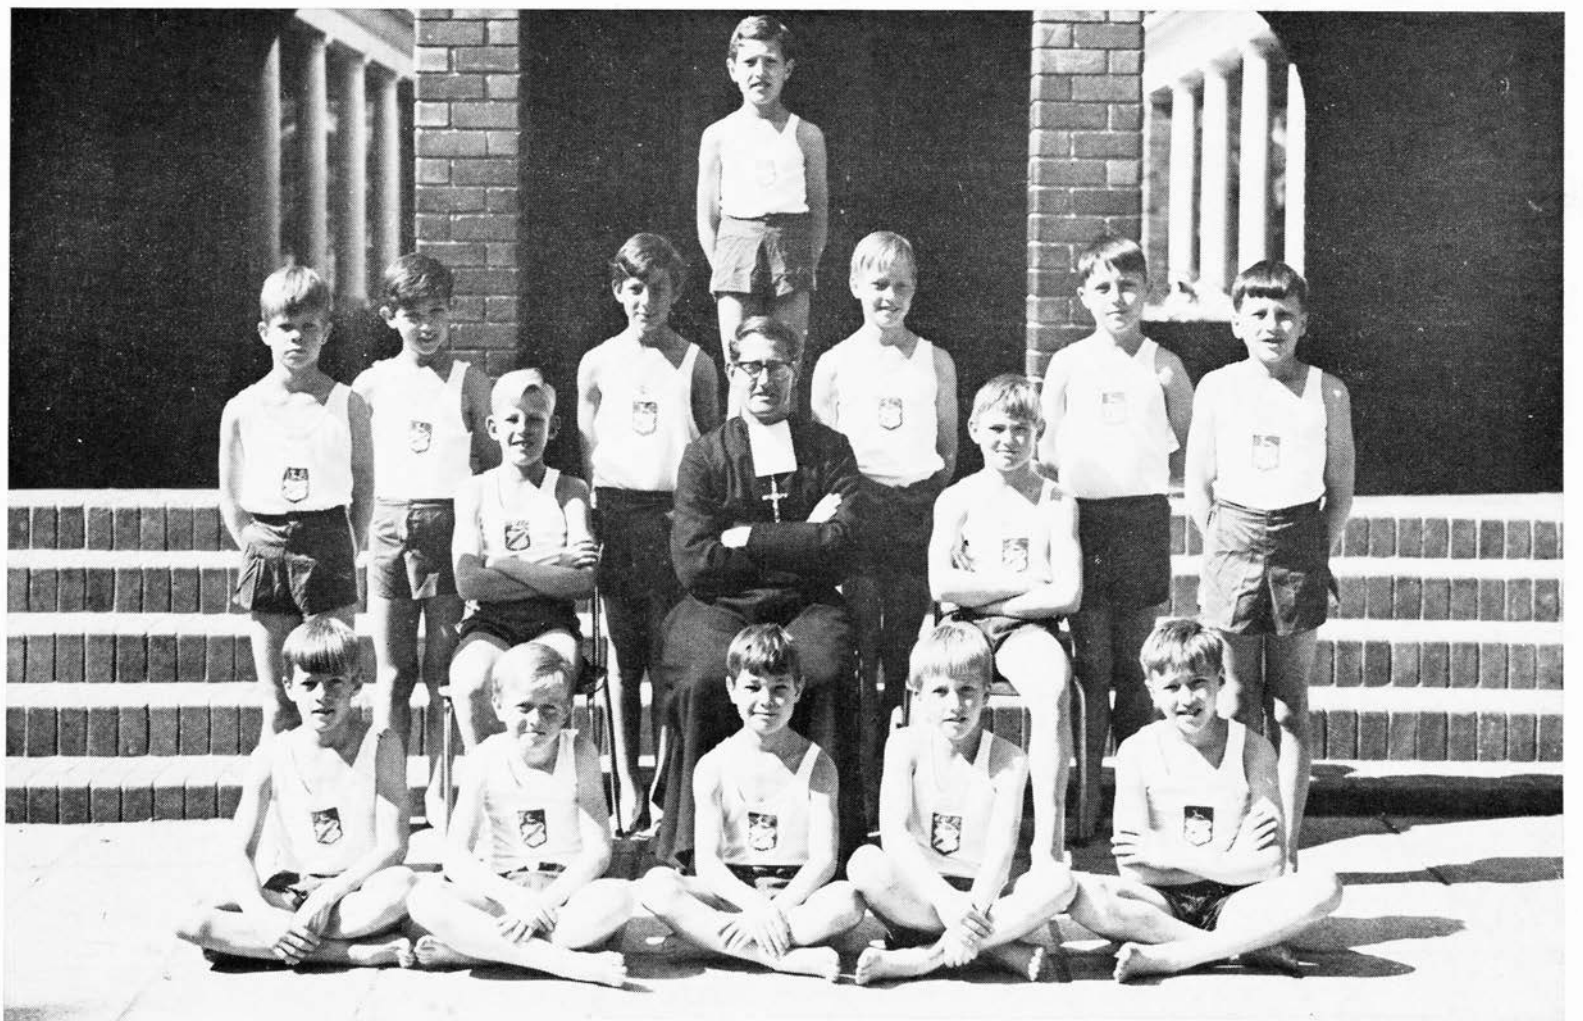

May we take this opportunity of thanking most sincerely the P.T.A., the Ladies Catering Committee, our chief 'taxi' Mrs. Betty Ross and Michael Raymond, the Senior Tennis captain, for all their help and co-operation.

R. Mason, who in the Inter-Catholic High. won the 100 and 200 metres in the U/11 Age Group. His time of 28.2" in the 200 m established a new record.

Conditions were ideal for the junior school sports on August the 1st, and taking advantage of a warm sunny day the boys established no fewer than five records and equalled three more. In a most dramatic finish in which the result was in doubt right up until the very last event, Benedict with 236 points won the House Trophy by only three points from College. Bishops, 196 points were third Osmond scored 189. College were in front throughout the day but they lost their chance of maintaining their lead when they were disqualified in the under 10 relay, which went to Benedict. College won the under 11 relay and the open in which event they set up a new record of 59.3 sec.

It is with deep regret that we learned in July of Mr. Lewis Beaumont's untimely death and a letter of condolence was sent to Mrs. Beaumont on behalf of the Committee. The late Mr. Beaumont closely identified himself with numerous school activities and at the time of his death served as Chairman of our Trust Fund. His passing has necessitated the re-appointment of Trustees and Office Bearers, Mr. E. A. Barale having been nominated recently to serve as a Trustee on behalf of the P.T.A. and in substitution of Mr. N. Simaan, now a co-opted Trustee in terms of the Trust Deed.

During the year under review, the vital issue of building development has remained prominent in our minds. The preparation of the sports-fields having reached an advanced stage of development by the end of 1969, your Committee assisted the College early this year in negotiating the construction of five tennis courts and "practice walls" sited on the eastern side of the school property.

A boundary wall has since been erected between the courts and the adjacent servants' quarters and the general appearance of the entire area has been further enhanced by the introduction of decorative landscaping so capably arranged (here and elsewhere) by Mrs. Agnes Simaan.

It is the intention that the proposed swimming pool be located between the tennis courts and the terrace below the school buildings. Expert opinion has been solicited in the preparation of a specification for a pool measuring 50 metres by 25 metres and a schedule reflecting estimated costs with supporting sketch plans relative to the pool, plant room, change-rooms, control office and canteen are presently receiving consideration.

It is indeed gratifying to be able to report that our proposed science block, after seemingly interminable delays, has finally been subjected to tender process and the contract award at this stage will enable foundation and preliminary work to be commenced before the year-end with final completion expected by March 1972.

The extent to which the school grounds will be effected by expropriation remains largely a matter for conjecture. However, in anticipation of the main road being brought into closer proximity with the primary classrooms, the service of sound technicians is to be retained in order that the introduction of any increased sound intensity may be accurately recorded and assessed.

The provision of housing accommodation now assumes an important feature in private school planning and in July your chairman visited St. Alban's college near Pretoria in order to inspect staff living-quarters there. Other matters of common interest were discussed on that occasion and our appreciation of the courtesy and hospitality extended by that college are once again recorded here. Arising from this visit investigations are now being carried out with a view to determining the feasibility of providing residential quarters at St. David's in the future.

Items of equipment purchased during the year having included a "Bomag" mechanical roller, a grass-cutter, a portable sound amplifier and a dish-washing machine.

Under the heading of entertainment, three more Sunday evening film shows have been held so far and once again we are indebted to Mr. Monty Ross for having organised these shows. This year, our Annual Dance is to be held on the 31st October and again at the Inanda Club. Last year's dance proved to be an outstanding success and we are confident that this forthcoming event will offer parents another memorable evening.

The publication of our newsletter remains the responsibility of Mrs. Daphne Sagar and we are most appreciative of her fine efforts in collecting items of news and interest for dissemination through this medium.

Ladies Catering Committee

This year we have had the privilege of attending to the catering needs of the school from both the main school kitchen and at the cricket pavilion where washing-up facilities have been improved recently by the installation of an extremely efficient dish-washer.

Yet again, her small "Book Sales" committee has worked extremely hard in producing the considerable profit figure of R1,509 in performing this service for the convenience of parents and boys.

January the 25th witnessed the official opening of our main cricket oval — undoubtedly one of the finest grounds in this country — when an international "Invitation Team" met our "First Eleven" in a highly entertaining match. Named after Mr. McGregor who became so intimately involved in its construction, the McGregor Oval was opened and blessed by His Lordship Bishop Boyle. Despite inclement weather experienced early in the day, conditions were to improve shortly after mid-day, and eventually, the occasion was to become a most enjoyable one from the point of view both of players and spectators alike. An ad-hoc committee convened by Mr. J. Boyes-Varley assisted in the organisation of this event and this year's "Fathers Cricket Day" was again arranged under his direction and control.

In August, our Riding Club held its first show-jumping competition and gymkhana — an occasion which turned out to be a resounding success. Membership of the club now exceeds forty and Mr. B. Hewitt and his committee are to be congratulated upon the large measure of enterprise and enthusiasm which they have so forcibly displayed during the past twelve months. A special word of appreciation is due to Mrs. Jehan Blades for all the time and effort she has expended in the interest of "her boys".

The Ladies Committees have been extremely active during the past year and we must thank the convenors of these committees, viz., Mesdames D. Sagar, M. Moni, M. Rae, L. van Deventer, H. Scanes and J. Denham, and we offer too, a special word of welcome to our recently established Tennis Committee.

In conclusion, we wish to record our sincere appreciation of the voluntary help given by so many parents working either in committees or as individuals. At no time have we been directed or requested to expand upon or to highlight the activities and work of the various committees or of any individual parent yet so much has been achieved during the last year only by the purposeful effort of these volunteers.

Finally, we, on behalf of the entire P.T.A. wish to thank Brother Anthony and his staff for their interest, guidance and ready co-operation.

1970 has been a fairly easy year for 'catering' to contend with. The Gymkhana organised by the Riding Club, and the Nuffield Cricket Trials which took place at the school during the Michaelmas holidays, being the only additional items to those listed on the School Calendar.

Many new Mothers joined the Committee this year and I sincerely hope they will carry on the 'good work' again next year with many more helpers to aid them.

In conclusion, may I say a big 'thank you' to all the members of my committee for their loyalty and help throughout this year, and I wish a very happy, successful 1971 to my successor and her Committee.

Tuck Shop

We, this year, have endeavoured to introduce more variety into the food served at Tuck. I feel that we have succeeded as the amount sold soared particularly during the winter terms. My thanks to all you Tuck Ladies for your legion service and especially for your hard work over the toaster. Also my thanks to those of you who helped so willingly at the weekend functions. I was also most grateful to Brother Timothy and his band of boarders who ran the Tuck shop each afternoon and over weekends.

Certain monies from the previous year were paid into an Equipment Account and we did a very necessary re-wiring job, bought a new toaster and fitted a roll shutter into the main window. All a vast improvement to the Tuckshop.

To Marlene Kenneagh — who will take over Tuckshop — a very happy and profitable year and I do hope she has as much pleasure and enjoyment from this office as I have had.

Thank you all,
JILL DENHAM

Swop Shop

The Swop Shop has again had a busy and successful year, we hope we have been of service to the parents, boys and school. Once again we take this opportunity to remind parents and boys how we operate: We accept any article of school uniform, provided it is in good condition and newly cleaned or laundered, and sell it on behalf of the owner, who then receives ninety per cent of the selling price — the remainder going to P.T.A. funds.

Articles which are often in great demand, but in short supply, are blazers, rugby jerseys, school pull-overs, long grey trousers and caps. Do bring these along — as well as other outgrown articles of school wear.

We also deal in second-hand textbooks, selling them at half price. Our busiest time is prior to the beginning of each new school year, but there usually remains a stock of books useful for new boys and for those who may lose a book during the year.

My sincere thanks to the Committee: Mesdames Powell, Seed, Kelly, Curnow, Waterkeyn, Patterson, Seymour and Wasserzug; also to: Mesdames Convery and Riley, who unfortunately had to resign at mid-year, owing to other commitments. Katherine Convery was a most efficient vice-chair, and her place has been ably filled by Aliette Powell, who will be in the chair for 1971. I wish her and all her committee a very happy and successful year.

At the seventh A.G.M. held at the College in February, 1970 a new committee was elected as follows:

Chairman: Vito Rugani (1954). Studied agriculture at Cedara when he left school and is now engaged in scientific vegetable farming near Honeydew. Married — four children, two of his sons attend the college.

Vice-Chairman: Pat Noble (1966). Now in his final year B.Com. at Wits. Hopes to study for his LL.B. during 1971. Won the University's Accounting II Prize in 1969.

Secretary: Dr. Don Swanson (1956). Since matriculating has attained outstanding success, both academically and sports-wise. He has represented Southern Transvaal in hockey and Transvaal (cricket) in addition to which Don has collected four Bachelors degrees and is regarded as one of South Africa's leading young specialists in his field.

Treasurer: Pat Cronin (1965). Graduated at Wits in 1969 with a B.Com. and is presently doing his first year LL.B. at the University's School of Law.

Entertainments: Mike von Guillaume (1953) and Trevor Elliot (1966). Mike von Guillaume studied television in California after matriculating and then acquired an M.B.A. at the University of California, Los Angeles. Mike is now an executive with a retail clothing chain. Married — four children.

Trevor Elliott succeeded in winning his wings in the 1st S.A. Paratrooper Battalion and is now actively engaged in the motor business.

Publications: Gerard Canning (1964) and Ian Mac Ritchie (1964). Gerard is in his final year accountancy at Wits and Ian is in final year B.Com. also at Wits.

College Representative: The committee was indeed fortunate to have as its liaison officer, Rev. Brother Aquinas, who has been actively engaged in Old Boy's Committees work.

Marist Speakers

This group was the innovation of the 1968 Committee and has grown tremendously since its inception. Its concepts are in fact similar to a Toastmasters' Club, yet it retains an individual and entirely original approach.

To be able to communicate persuasively and positively is not only desirable, but is an invaluable asset in any man's career. Marist Speakers runs a course, which is open to any past pupil of a Marist College. The chief objects of the course are to teach the individual:

- (i) to think on his feet;
- (ii) confidence and fluency;
- (iii) conviction and persuasiveness;
- (iv) humour;
- (v) adaptability.

To achieve this there are 12 speech levels; six at basic level and six at the advanced level, each speech concentrating on a particular aspect, for example:

Speech No. 1. Ice Breaker — This speech calls on the speaker to introduce himself, which he may do in a variety of ways — either in the form of an autobiography or by setting out his impressions and opinions.

Speech No. 2. Chief object of this speech is that it be logical.

Speech No. 3. Chief object of this speech is that the speaker incorporates voice modulation in addition to which it must be logical.

Speech No. 4. Calls on the speaker to use meaningful gestures as well as voice modulation and logic.

Speech No. 5. Alias "Call for Action" is a rather difficult speech since the speaker must arouse his audience to action by protesting, demonstrating and pointing out the wrongs in a particular system.

These speeches are at the basic level and thereafter one graduates to the advanced level, culminating in the giving of a 15 minute "after dinner" speech.

After each speech has been made, an evaluation committee points out strengths and weaknesses in the speaker's style as well as making positive suggestions for improvements. Marist Speakers guarantees that an individual, after completing this course, will be a capable and fluent speaker who can express his ideas with confidence and assurance.

The course includes the making of impromptu speeches as well as the prepared speeches at each level. The object of these is to teach the individual to think on his feet and thus give him a chance to be more flexible and adaptable.

In March this year, this progressive group held its first banquet in the Floral Room at the Wanderers Club where both our guest speaker and Brother Anthony were highly impressed with the calibre of speaking.

A course of Speakers is a must for any Old Boy, who plans to make a career in commerce or industry.

Reunion weekend

This was held on 5th, 6th and 7th of June and was a tremendous success. The Annual Dinner Dance was held at the White Horse Inn and was attended by about 120 couples. Many Old Boys acclaimed this Ball as the finest and most enjoyable to date.

Saturday 6th June belonged to St. David's. The school's first team gave a magnificent display of attacking rugby, resulting in a 29-8 victory over Marist Observatory. This match was preceded by an Inanda-Observatory Old Crocks match, which Inanda under the captaincy of Rob Fiore (1962), won convincingly by 14-0. The Old Crocks won the floating "trophy" for the match. The team on this momentous occasion included Brother Christopher, Brother Ronald Morgan (1958), Niven Curnow (1964), David Butler (1961), Ian Hutchinson (1963), Tony Wickens (1965), Rob Fiore (1962), John Mynard (1964), Mike Curnow (1963), Srech Vidas (1964), Eddie Wilson (1963), Pat Cronin (1965), David Perotti (1964), Gordon Slabbert (1963) and Ian MacRitchie (1964).

On Sunday, 7th June, a Mass was held for the Old Boys at 11 a.m. in the College Chapel and in the afternoon at 3 p.m. St. David's and Observatory Old Boys again met at rugby, except the players in both teams are active league players drawn from Wanderers, Wits University and Pirates. Again Inanda carried the day by beating Observatory 35-0 and an enthusiastic crowd cheered as Inanda's captain, Rob Shaw, was presented with the Edwin Floating Trophy. The stars in the team included Joe Stravino (1967), Terence Lavery (1967), John Lombard (1968), Terence O'Mahony (1968), Niven Curnow (1964), Mike Smith (1966), Derek Schoombie (1967), Rob Shaw (1965), Tony Rezek (1967), Fred Joseph (1967), Peter Foaden (1965), Peter Wright (1967), Barry Wickens (1967), Brian Roberts (1959) and Keith Lintott (1964).

Federation: The St. David's Old Boys Association is affiliated to the Federation of Marist Old Boys Associations, which has its South African headquarters in Pietermaritzburg. The Federation functions to advance and protect the interests of all accredited Marist Old Boys Associations on the subcontinent of Southern Africa; and to foster friendly relations and a spirit of comradeship among its constituent members. The World Union emblem of Three Violets has been written into the constitution of the S.A. Federation as an insignia which can be worn by all Association members in the shape of lapel badge; and the emblem has been registered at the S.A. Department of Heraldry. The right to wear the Three Violets insignia (which can be bought from the S.A. Federation at P.O. Box 614, Pietermaritzburg) and the Marist badge and blazer is reserved exclusively for bona fide Marist Old Boys.

The St. David's Old Boys' Association has been given permission to have its own tie, which is available to any life member of the Association. Any Inanda past pupil can become a life member on the payment of R5 only. The St. David's Old Boys' tie is blue with a small gold College crest; one can be purchased by sending a cheque to the Treasurer c/o P.O. Box 7116, Johannesburg.

There is close liaison between the Federation Council and the Brothers' Council of S.A. Marist Province. Federation has consistently done all in its power to advance the Marist cause throughout the Republic. The Federation took the responsibility of organising the Centenary celebrations in Cape Town in 1967 and the local celebrations in each Marist centre as well as publishing the Marist Centenary Digest. The Federation has worked closely with the brothers in launching the Marist Foundation Memorial Trust on the Centenary occasion.

The Federation publishes a newsletter quarterly and it was interesting to note they mentioned the Marist Old Boys in the All Blacks team. They are E. Kirton, J. Burns, B. Furlong, I. McRae, A. Murdoch, N. Thimbleby and G. Thorne. Efforts were made by our Association to meet them. Congratulations to Syd Nomis, Observatory Old Boy, who was selected to play in all the tests for the Springboks against the All Blacks.

Springboks' corner

We are all delighted to see Lee McGregor, collect four swimming titles at the South African Championships in Pretoria. Lee was once again selected to represent South Africa against Australia in the tests. Lee is our third Springbok since 1962. Other Springboks are Ray Bishoff (1961) for swimming and Glyn Horton (1960) canoeing. During 1970 Rob Fiore (1962) represented Transvaal at baseball; Rob Shaw (1965) represented Transvaal Sub-Union at rugby and Terence Lavery (1967) represented Southern Transvaal at athletics. It should be mentioned that Lee McGregor is our first double Springbok having represented South Africa in both swimming and surfing.

Committee changes

During the year Don Swanson resigned his post as Secretary to continue his specialist studies in London and Stephen Miles (1964) was co-opted. Stephen is in sixth year medicine and is an invaluable asset to the Committee since he is hard-working, enthusiastic and full of new ideas. He has done much to further the "Marist Speakers" group. Keith Lintott (1964) was co-opted onto the Committee to get a Sunday League Rugby team going. Many old boys had expressed the desire for this. Although the Association is essentially a fraternity catering for social and cultural needs, the Committee felt that it must cater for those members who desire sporting activities. The response to the rugby league has been encouraging and a few friendlies were arranged. In the first match played at Pirates ground, an Old Boys team trounced U.B.S. by 51 points to 3.

Entertainments

In addition to the Annual Ball at the Reunion weekend, Marist Speakers held a banquet at the Wanderers Club and for our ever-popular gaming evening, Mary and Mike von Guilleaume kindly let us use their home. The gaming evening once again proved one of the most popular events and was attended by approximately 200 people.

Other functions planned include the Annual Golf Competition and a braaivleis in February 1971. An Old Boys Banquet will be held on 2nd December, 1970 at the Bryanston Country Club. This will be an all male affair. We should particularly like to see the 1970 Matric Class present, since they will be Old Boys by then.

"Lost" Old Boys

Unfortunately, we have lost touch with many Old Boys especially pre-1960 vintage. If there are any Old Boys who are not on our mailing list, would you please let us know of your presence — you can either write to the Secretary c/o P.O. Box 7116, Johannesburg, or phone one of the Committee members or Brother Aquinas at the school. If you wish to become a member, the life member fee of R5 can be sent to the Treasurer at the above address.

First Wednesday

The first Wednesday of the month get-together held at the Tap Room of the Balalaika Hotel, Sandown, continues to enjoy the support of between 30-50 Old Boys. If any out of town Old Boys are visiting Johannesburg on the first Wednesday of any month, they should drop in and have a pint or two since there is bound to be someone they know. The time honoured rule (in case one fears an expensive evening) is to pay for your "own".

THE LATE LEWIS BEAUMONT

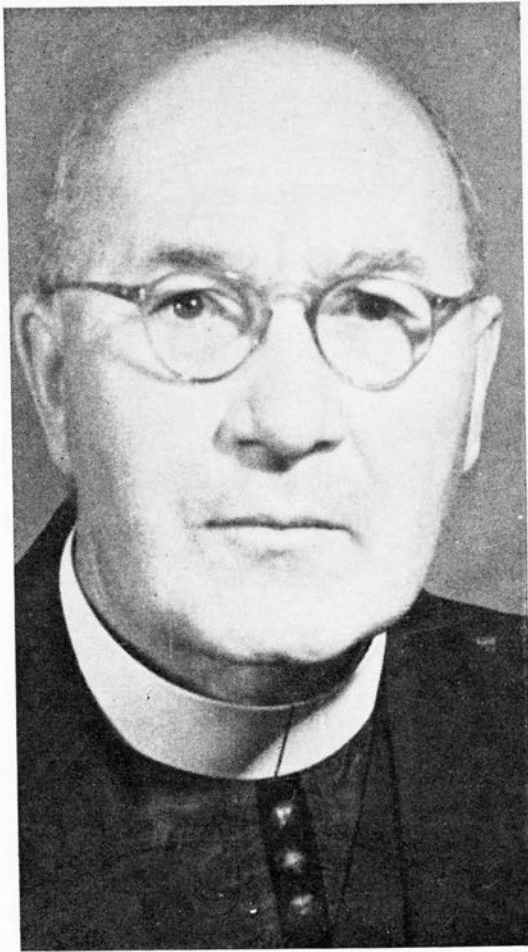

Lewis, who died in Johannesburg on June 14th 1970 had a great affection for the Marist Brothers which began when Brother Raymond accepted our two elder sons as pupils at "Obs" in 1949. In 1952 we moved to Inanda and changed schools . . . Brother Edwin and Brother Michael endeared themselves to us then for their kindness, sincerity and sense of dedication to the younger generation — qualities shared still in these days by the "Inanda Brothers", the "Rosebank Sisters" — and also by Lewis himself. Quiet, unassuming, a wonderful host, highly intelligent, difficult sometimes naturally, musical, fond of fishing, father of five and grandfather of six, he had the gift of listening to people and only giving advice when asked — but if you asked then the advice was likely to be good.

In spite of being the managing director of a large manufacturing company he found time to spare for the P.T.A. and the Marist Trust Fund and, when our youngest son Matriculated in 1966, Lewis continued his association with the latter as one of the Trustees.

Amongst the many letters we received after Lewis' death was one from an Inanda mother who wrote "I have heard several people, in these past few days, say what a wonderful man he was and wish that I had met him too". We, his family, are glad that, in 1932, I did.

DOROTHY BEAUMONT

R I P

Brother Gabriel passed away peacefully at St. Augustine's Sanatorium, Durban, on the 9th February, 1970, at the age of seventy-seven. Towards the end of December last, Brother was taken to hospital for an ulcer operation. Although the operation was successful, he lost so much blood that he never really recovered.

Brother Gabriel was born in Kent, England, on the 4th February, 1893. He came to South Africa at an early age. His school years were spent at the Marist Brothers' School in Cala. He joined the Marist Brothers in 1907 and spent the first years of his teaching career in Uitenhage. He was principal in Bloemfontein and Port Elizabeth.

As a religious, Brother Gabriel was a humble man of prayer, a wonderful community man and a great witness to religious poverty. His sense of humour endeared him to all.

May he rest in peace.

REV. BROTHER CONALL MURPHY

He was principal of various Marist Schools throughout the country and served in the Marist Provincial Council for 20 years. He worked for many years helping the Old Boys' Associations and the National and Local Trust Funds.
